However, Quincy lost twice to Newton North last week, and a win over North Quincy in between left the Presidents (9-6) needing three wins in five games to make the tournament. This will be a tough assignment with games against the three top teams in the Suburban League, Waltham (last Tuesday), Brockton (next Tuesday at Brockton) and Cambridge (next Thursday at Adams Field).

Quincy also plays Brookline Friday at Adams and will make up a rained-out non-league game with Malden.

Last Friday's 7-6 loss to Newton North was Quincy's most frustrating of the season. The Presidents had a 6-5 lead with Newton runners on second and third and two outs. However, Newton, down to its last out, scored the two winning runs on Joe Proia's single off Larry Beguerie, who had pitched a fine game.

Quincy had overcome an early 4-1 deficit with three runs in the bottom of the third. Dan Biagini, who has had a hot bat all season, led off with a single. Tom Logan, another of the league's top batters, walked and both runners scored on Steve Austin's double. T.J. Steen drove in Austin with a single to tie the score.

Newton took a 5-4 lead in the top of the sixth but Biagini led off the bottom half with a double and Logan singled him in with the tying run. Austin reached on a fielders choice and Jay Ilespasio blooped a single to right and junior pinch runner Jim Dennis beat the throw to the plate to give the Presidents a 6-5 lead.

"It just wasn't to be today," said a disappointed coach Bob Sylvia. "We just have to win three now, but we could have made things easier on ourselves. We have to take advantage of our chances. But you have to give credit to Newton. They hit the ball well, but Larry pitched his heart out."

"We lost some fine players through graduation, and we really miss Larry Taglieri," said assistant coach George Peachey. "He is a real power pitcher and he could have made the difference in several games this year." Taglieri pitched well this season for Fekard College in Florida.

Earlier in the week Quincy again won the mythical city championship by defeating North Quincy, 12-4.

The Presidents jumped off to a 6-0 lead after two innings and, after the Raiders scored three in the bottom of the third, Quincy scored in every inning to win going away, pounding out 16 hits.

Logan was tremendous as he went 5-for-5 and drove in five runs, including a two-run home to the fence in left-center in the first inning.

In the second inning Ilespasio singled and took second as pitcher Bill McDougall's pickoff attempt went over first baseman Logan's head. Brian Taylor singled, scoring Ilespasio. Ed Flavin bunted Taylor along to second. Joe Innello doubled scoring Taylor. Biagini singled to score Innello. Logan singled and Austin reached on a fielders choice.

After North scored three in the bottom of the third, Quincy added single runs in the fourth and fifth and two runs in each of the sixth and seventh.

Wayne Chambers pitched a fine game for Quincy.

The previous day Newton had scored its first win of the week over Quincy, 6-4, despite a fine pitching effort by Steen.

As usual, Logan and Biagini led the attack for the Presidents.

Babe Ruth

Granite City Bombs Bryan

Granite City Electric rolled over Bryan VFW Post, 14-0, in Babe Ruth League action as David Gamsby pitched his second straight shutout. He gave up only one hit, a line strike out by Brian O'Malley, struck out 10 and walked four.

Granite City's attack was led by Angelo Kyriakos with three hits, Erik DeBoer had a booming triple and a single, Tony Andertonis, Jim Munroe and 13-year-old Dave Jolley two singles each and Andy Colleary, who played well as third base, and Steve Wysocki one single each. George Walsh, Corey Haddad and Andy Veneziano also contributed to the victory.

The top defensive play was made by VFW centerfielder Aaron Silverman, who ran down a line drive, saving a possible home run. VFW was playing without several 15-year-old players. Shortstop Steve Waas, Chris Stennon and Kevin Mullay all played well for VFW.

VFW's two line 13-year-old players, catcher Mark Kelleher and outfielder-pitcher Mike Malvesti, also played well.

Jaehnig, Rebels Heading For Showdown

The Jaehnig Chiropactic Club of Quincy and the Running Rebels of Weymouth appear headed for a final week showdown in the South Shore Sports Center Men's Basketball League.

The teams are tied for first place with 7-0 records and have a two-game lead over Smeds and John Hancock.

Last weekend Jaehnig scored an easy win over the Putnam Capitals, while the Rebels held off the Glistening Ones to win, 61-59.

In the battle for third place Smeds stopped John Hancock, 64-57, with Steve Connolly playing a line overall floor game. Mark Dwyer had 26 points for John Hancock.

The standings: Jaehnig, 7-0; Running Rebels, 7-0; Smeds, 5-2; John Hancock, 5-2; J.B. Heating, 3-4; Squires, 3-4; Glistening Ones, 3-4; Ropesters, 1-6; Lou Brothers, 1-6; Putnam Capitals, 0-7.

North Shelled By Quincy, Brockton

After surprising Waltham, which was leading the Suburban League at the time, the North Quincy baseball team ran into hard times as it lost to Quincy, 12-4, last week and Monday was clobbered by league-leading Brockton, 24-0.

The Raiders (5-10) faced Cambridge Rindge and Latin yesterday (Wednesday), will host Newton North Tuesday at Adams Field and will play at Waltham next Thursday.

Quincy jumped off to a 6-0 lead after two innings and, after North had scored three runs in the third, the Presidents went on to score in every inning to win going away and capture the mythical city championship.

Neil Hatfield and Steve Happas walked in the third and both moved up on a passed ball. Mark DiMattio singled home Hatfield. He was caught stealing. Dan Santry was hit by a pitch and Bill Murphy walked filling the bases. Steve Rabs drove in Happas and Santry with a single.

North added a run in the fourth when Hatfield and Happas singled. Bill McDougall reached on a fielders choice as Happas was forced at second base and Hatfield scored on a wild pitch. North was held to one hit the rest of the way by Wayne Chambers.

Barrett Completes Curry Career

Centerfielder Bob Barrett of Quincy completed his career at Curry College recently when the Colonels edged Eastern Nazarene, 5-4, in their final game to finish with an 8-8 record.

The game, in which Curry rallied from a 4-0 deficit, ended the 39th season for veteran coach Jack Valley, whose record now stands at 565-208-4.

Curry had eight games canceled due to the miserable weather.

Tom Connolly of North Quincy, a 6-2 forward, recently completed the basketball season for Dean Junior College.

Connolly, a graduate of Abp Williams High, saw only limited action due to a lingering leg injury which sidelined him over the second half of the season.

He played in eight games, averaging 7.7 points and 4.7 rebounds a game. He scored 16 and 14 points in back-to-back games before being sidelined the rest of the year.

Over 150 Boats Expected For JFK Regatta

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy attended the recent press conference to kick off the second annual John F. Kennedy regatta Saturday and Sunday.

While he will be unable to attend the regatta due to a trip to Poland, Michael Kennedy, president of Citizen's Energy Corp. will attend. In addition, other family members have also been invited and are expected to be on hand.

The Memorial Day weekend regatta is sponsored by Marina Bay of North Quincy to celebrate the efforts of the Friends of the Kennedy Library. The regatta is expected to attract more than 150 boats in 11 classes. Racers will sail an 18 to 25 mile course in and around Graves Light vicinity.

The regatta weekend begins Friday night with a skippers' reception at the John F. Kennedy Library. Racing begins Saturday morning and the same schedule will be repeated Sunday. The awards ceremony will be held Sunday at Marina Bay.

Although the library is maintained by the federal government, the Friends of the Kennedy Library provide the "extras" that transcend the library's archives. The Friends refurbished and still maintain "Victoria," the 25-foot sloop President Kennedy sailed. In addition, the Friends are raising $25,000 to install floodlights at the library.

Marina Bay is a 400-acre development with a full service marina that houses more than 600 boats. Nantucket-styled shops and restaurants line the Marina Bay Village Boardwalk. The JFK Regatta is one of the many summer events sponsored by Marina Bay.

"In the near future this race will compete with the major classic sailing events in the country," said Peter O'Connell, partner of O'Connell Management Company, Inc., Marina Bay developers. The regatta is open to everyone and is a guaranteed "best bet" for Memorial Day weekend.

DAVE POWERS, curator of the John F. Kennedy Library, flanks "Victoria," the beloved sailboat of John F. Kennedy. The Victoria was recently returned to the library after undergoing extensive restoration at Marina Bay. The Victoria will grace the lawn leading to the ocean at the JFK Library in anticipation of the second annual John F. Kennedy regatta at Marina Bay Saturday and Sunday.

Red Sox Win Pair, Tie Indians In Dark

The Red Sox are off to a good start in the Junior Farm Baseball League with a 2-0-1 record, defeating the Angels and Yankees and tying the Indians in a game called by darkness.

The Sox tied the Indians, 5-5, as pitcher Patrick Ievan struck out 11 and Indian pitcher Michael Kenney struck out 16. Danny Stone had a key hit for the Red Sox and Jenna Nolan and Mark Kelly stood out in the field.

The Red Sox bats came alive in a 27-13 victory over the Angels. John Hanafin and Jason Fennelly had three hits apiece. Ievan, Anthony Bragdon and Danny Hughes two each, and John Galvin, Jamie Murphy, Geoff Meade, Greg Conway and John Manning all had doubles. Ievan and Fennelly had home runs. Hanafin gave up only one hit in his time on the mound and struck out 12.

The Sox also topped the Yankees, 9-5, with McCarthy, Fennelly and Hanafin sharing the pitching duties. They allowed only one hit and combined for 14 strikeouts. Hughes had two singles and a double, McCarthy a home run and Murphy, Ievan and Kevin Sullivan, Galvin and Fennelly a single each. Manning, Nolan, Sullivan, Meade and Kelly sparked on defense.

The Braves (3-0) scored 12 runs in the third and fourth innings and defeated the Dodgers, 17-10. Jeff Russell was the winning pitcher, going three innings and striking out eight. David Gunther had a grand slam homer. James Crowley two hits, Paul Marnikovic and Russell home runs. Scott McPherson and John Richards doubles and Joshua Maloney, Mike Adams and Jim Mastroianni singles. Marnikovic, Richards and Todd Sullivan played strong defense. For the Dodgers Kevin Nichols pitched well and had a two-run double, Jason Healy and Scott Cooper had hits and Matt Boston played fine defense.

The Braves exploded for 14 runs in the fourth inning and rolled over the Pirates, 26-5, with Marnikovic the winning pitcher. Marnikovic had two hits, McPherson pitched well in relief, played good defense and had two hits. Russell had four hits and Richards three. Adams, Sullivan, Mastroianni and Mike McLaughlin had two hits each and Maloney, Steve Carlson and James Crowley had big hits. For the Pirates David Rowell played fine defense and had two hits, Matt Logan had two hits and Matt Radzevich did well both ways.

The Braves had to go extra innings to squeeze by the Angels, 1-0, in seven innings in the season's best-played game.

Russell pitched a no-hitter, struck out 18 and walked only two in six innings and Gunther got the win pitching the seventh. A pitcher is allowed to pitch only six innings in a week in the league. Mike Martin drove in the winning run with a bases-loaded hit. McLaughlin led off the inning with a single and scored the run. Crowley and Marnikovic had the only other hits for the Braves. For the Angels Joe Biagini matched Russell, striking out 18 and allowing two hits. He also had to be relieved in the seventh.

Half Of Condo Units Sold Open House Saturday, Sunday At Ocean Cove

To celebrate the sale of half of the 56 units at Ocean Cove Condominium, 677 Quincy Shore Drive, developers Stephen and Anthony Losordo will hold open houses from noon to 3 p.m., Saturday, May 23rd and Sunday, May 24.

The special Memorial Day weekend sale is the last chance for buyers to purchase units at their current prices which range from $126,900 to $185,000 for the one and two bedroom units.

"After Memorial Day, we anticipate prices will rise to reflect the strong market demand for luxurious condominiums at affordable prices," Stephen Losordo said.

"After all, our units are being offered at far below the prevailing $170,000 to $715,000 prices at Marina Bay, yet still offer the same commanding ocean view in a quality, hotel type atmosphere," Losordo said.

"Additionally, we feel one of the primary attractions for Ocean Cove is that there are only 56 units."

"I feel we have succeeded in our goal of presenting the ultimate in luxury residential living plus the advantage of living in a maintenance free condominium community. It's like living in a first-class hotel."

So far the 28 units sold have been purchased by "an interesting mix of single professional women and 'empty nesters' -- older couples or widows whose families are grown," according to the Losordo brothers.

Quincy Savings Bank Elects New Vice Presidents

The South Shore Elder Services Nutrition Program will sponsor the "Alive and Kickin'" Fair June 6 from 10 to 2 p.m. at the Church of the Nazarene, Ralph Talbot Rd., South Weymouth.

Senior Nutrition site participants from the South Shore will be selling hand-knit items, homemade loafs, books, plants, and White Elephant items. Luncheon will also be served.

All proceeds from the fair will benefit the Nutrition Program which serves over 1000 hot meals daily at congregate sites and to home-bound elders living on the South Shore.

4 Vo-Tech Students Winners In Competition

Four Quincy Vocational School students won trophies and medals at the South Regional Competition of the Vocational Industrial Clubs of America (VICA) competition held at Dimon Regional Vocational High School in Fall River.

One of the four, Jennifer D'Attilio of 119 Phillips St., Wollaston, was the gold medal winner in the south region for culinary arts.

The other winners were Christina Rimovity of 67 Bay View Ave., Quincy, silver medal, health assistant; Julann Witham, 59 Wall St., Quincy, trophy winner, health assistant; and Charles Andrews, 11 Scotland St., Hingham, automotive.

All four will next compete at the state level against their counterparts from the North VICA region, according to Joseph A. Mazzarella, director of the vocational school. The state competition will be held in Boston from April 30 through May 2, with state winners slated to compete at the national competition at Wichita, Kan. this summer.

The state conference is the largest annual gathering of Trade, Industrial, Technical and Health Occupation students annually in Massachusetts, according to Mazzarella. He said some 1600 students will compete for prizes at the state level.

The gold medal winner, Jennifer D'Attilio was chosen one of the five most outstanding vocational school students in Massachusetts in a state-sponsored competition in February. "All four are outstanding individuals," according to Mazzarella.

QJC Magazine

Features Student Government

The biweekly program, Quincy Junior College Magazine, will feature a reception for student government association members at Quincy Junior College and interviews with current SGA President Michael Quigley and 1987-88 President Jeannine Protont (Thursday) at 9 p.m. on Ch. 3.

Additional segments include an interview with instructor Charles Flagg and information about his course in photo-journalism and part two of an interview with professor James Sheets, chairman of the government and social services department.

Thomas Burke On 'Cable Talk'

Tom Burke, assistant city clerk will be this week's guest on Quincy Community Television's "Cable Talk." Host John Noonan questions Burke on the operation of the clerk's office and city politics. Burke will also discuss his battle against polio and rights for the handicapped. "Cable Talk" can be seen Thursdays at 8 p.m. on cable Channels 3 and 9.

WEEK OF: May 21

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

You are a devoted friend and relative -- and are easily forgiven when you go off on a tangent or two or three. A long-term project is highlighted this year; you may be getting the break you've waited for. Reconciliations with old friends also are spotlighted.

AQUARIUS -- January 21 - February 19

Travel is favored, whether planned or spontaneous. Although coworkers are supportive of your plans, you shouldn't divulge ideas prematurely. New friendship may be in the offing.

PISCES -- February 20 - March 20

Be sure to use your time efficiently. Dispute with a friend should be settled before either of you stew for too long. Home improvement project may get the go-ahead.

ARIES -- March 21 - April 20

Communication is the key-word -- in personal relationships, you articulate your feelings. In career or community endeavors, a small bonus or reward may arrive by Tuesday.

TAURUS -- April 21 - May 22

Planning is accented; this a good week for preparing a blueprint of your professional goals. Be wary of people trying to coax confidential information out of you.

GEMINI -- May 23 - June 21

Your natural curiosity may work to your advantage this week. Facts you've stored up come in handy. Academic interests are expanded, but don't sign on for too many projects.

CANCER -- June 22 - July 22

Partnership ventures are generally favored, provided you don't leave details to chance. If entering into negotiations, be sure to read all the fine print. Friend may be repaying a favor.

LEO -- July 23 - August 22

Relationships with Libras and Gemini should thrive through this period. Creative ideas are sharp and may lead to profit. News of a celebration comes your way after weekend.

VIRGO -- August 23 - September 22

Sagittarians and Gemini may alter the friendship picture. Your meticulous ways may pay off during this period -- giving you the last laugh. Financial restraint is important.

LIBRA -- September 23 - October 22

Be cautious of people taking advantage of your kindness. Your time is unusually precious now -- owing to more responsibility at work and a new friendship -- so use it wisely.

SCORPIO -- October 23 - November 21

Platonic friendship is highlighted, as are reunions and unusual social happenings. A restless streak surfaces at work. New interests in contemporary art or music may be explored.

SAGITTARIUS -- November 22 - December 22

You may be changing your point of view regarding a family situation. In fact, you're changing your mind quite a bit these days. Romantic partner may be unexpectedly sensitive.

CAPRICORN -- December 23 - January 20

New interests and new directions dominate this period. Travel is highlighted, and likely combines well with business. First impressions may not be on target night now.

BORN THIS WEEK

May 21st, actor Raymond Burr, 22nd, actor Richard Benjamin, 23rd, actress Joan Collins, 24th, singer Bob Dylan, 25th, actress Leslie Uggams, 26th, singer Peggy Lee, 27th, actor Todd Bridges.

CITY OF QUINCY IN COUNCIL

ORDER NO. 18AA
ORDERED May 4, 1987

That the City Council of the City of Quincy hold a PUBLIC HEARING on Monday evening June 1, 1987 at 7:00 P.M. in the Council Chambers, City Hall on the following Order No. 18A of 1987 on the following zoning change:

That the Revised Ordinances of the City of Quincy, 1976 as amended, are further amended in Chapter 24, The Zoning Ordinance, Article I Administration, Section 14, Board of Appeals to read as follows:

Section 14 Board of Appeals

1. There shall be a Board of Appeals as provided by the General Laws, Chapter 40A, Section 12, as amended, which shall act on all matters within its jurisdiction under this chapter in the manner prescribed in such section and shall have all powers granted by such section, subject always to the rule that it shall give due consideration to the promotion of public health, safety, convenience and welfare, encouraging the most proper use of land and conserving property values, that it shall permit no building or use injurious, noxious, offensive or detrimental to a neighborhood and that it shall prescribe proper conditions and safeguards in each case.

The Board shall consist of five (5) members to be appointed by the Mayor. All members of the Board shall be residents of the City. One member shall be an attorney at law, and one shall be either an architect, engineer or master builder. The terms shall be arranged, so that one member is appointed on the first Monday of each February for a term of five years. Any vacancy in the Board shall be filled for the remainder of the unexpired term.

There shall also be three (3) associate members of the Board of Appeals who shall be appointed in like manner and have the same qualifications as the regular members of the Board, but for a term of three years. In case of an unfilled vacancy, inability to act, or interest on the part of a member of such Board, the chairman shall designate one (1) of the associate members to take the place of such member.

The Board of Appeals shall exercise the powers and perform the duties prescribed for a Board of Appeals under the provisions of the General Laws, Chapter 40A, or any amendments thereto. Any action of such Board under such sections shall be in accordance with and subject to the terms thereof.

2. The Board of Appeals may request the written comments and recommendations of the Planning Department and any other municipal office it deems proper during its review of any petition. The Board of Appeals shall forward to the Planning Department a copy of each application for a special permit at least thirty-five (35) days in advance of the public hearing held by the Zoning Board of Appeals upon such application. Any such request, however, shall not toll the periods established by Chapter 40A of the General Laws within which the Board must act.

Chretien Calls For Trash Recycling

Larry Chretien, candidate for Ward 3 City Councillor, has proposed that the city adopt a new solid waste management program, with recycling as its centerpiece.

Chretien said, "Never before has it made more sense for a community to start recycling." Chretien's proposal came on the heels of last Friday's court order halting further use of the city's landfill. In his ruling, Superior Court Judge Corland Mathers termed the landfill an "ecological disaster." According to DPW Commissioner Paul Anderson, the only immediate option is to truck the rubbish out of town at an annual cost of over $3 million.

Chretien offered his plan at a "progressive alternative," saying, "Landfills and mass-burning incinerators are out for economic, and environmental reasons. Today the key to managing solid waste is source separation. A comprehensible solution would involve recycling, composting, and resource recovery. Eventually, our trash should become a money-maker and not a tax taker."

He added, "The city should immediately hire an appropriate consultant and establish a special commission to implement this concept. Trucking all of our rubbish out of town at $70 a ton is totally unnecessary for any length of time except for the short-term."

QEA President Opposes Condoms For School Students

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The head of the Quincy teachers' union has spoken against the Massachusetts Teachers' Association resolution that condoms be made available to school children in seventh grade through high school to fight AIDS.

And John Buckley, president of the Quincy Education Association, said he hopes local school boards will take note of that opposition.

"I hope it will have an impact on the school boards around who will be influenced by this particular resolution by the MTA," Buckley said.

The MTA approved the non-binding resolution after more than an hour of debate during a two-day convention recently in Boston.

It also urged that school officials make condoms available to students at public colleges and universities.

Parental notification, but not parental consent, would be required.

"High school people have no business being involved in promiscuous sex," said Buckley.

"I think the MTA has made an unfortunate proposal.

"It's going to signal loveless, impersonal and promiscuous intimate sexual relations among our young population, our public school population.

"The fact that they encouraged the distribution of condoms between the school ages of seventh grade through high school is most unfortunate.

"As president of the QEA, I wanted to make a counter statement in opposition to it," Buckley said.

The QEA president said he was among floor leaders opposed to the resolution at the convention.

"I believe that with the declining influence of the family on our children today, and the fact that perhaps places of worship don't have the impact on children that they did when we were young, it falls on the shoulders of public educators, more than ever now, to convey a secular morality," Buckley said.

"And that morality should be encouraging young people to take the high road, and it should not signal promiscuous sex.

"I hope that my statement will curb the impact of the MTA resolution."

Buckley said that students should concern themselves with other aspects of life.

"There's a lot to be done at this time in people's life, and that's looking towards careers.

"Why don't we just enjoy the sunshine and blue sky and hiking and mountain climbing and save the joys of sexual pleasure for God's good time in the marital circumstance?"

"I think our children are becoming old too early," said Buckley. "They're into alcohol, they're into promiscuous sex.

"I think we have a cynical generation here, and they're gobbling up every experience before they are 18-years-old."

'Drug Abuse Awareness Week'

Mayor Francis McCauley has proclaimed May 18 to 22 as "Drug Abuse Awareness Week" in Quincy.

"It is the goal of all organizations that deal with the awareness of drug abuse, to motivate people to a more active participating in programs of awareness," said

McCauley.

"Increasing recognition is being given to the role of the family, schools, and community organizations for their role in creating awareness of the conditions that contribute to the abuse of drugs," he said.

Martha Donaghue: Profile In Courage

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

It takes determination, time and a lot of hard work to graduate from college with honors.

But in the case of Martha Donaghue of West Quincy, it also took something else - a quiet sense of courage.

Martha, 23, was injured five years ago in a gymnastics accident, broke her neck and is paralyzed from the chest down.

She can't hold an ordinary pen in her hand, but that hasn't stopped her from reaching for her dreams.

"I didn't see why being paralyzed should stop me from doing what I wanted to do," said the summa cum laude graduate of Boston University who majored in math and minored in physics. She had a 3.85 grade point average.

Martha said she chose Boston University because it is one of the better learning institutions in the Boston area for people with physical handicaps.

She was able to drive to the campus in a specially equipped Ford Econoline van, park in a designated space and get around the campus in an electric wheelchair.

The $10,000 van had been purchased several years ago by neighbors, friends and churches who raised funds.

"Everyone has been so good to me," said Martha, a soft spoken young woman with an easy smile, a soft spoken young woman with an easy smile.

"Without them I could never have gotten through college."

Martha was a 17-year-old North Quincy High School senior when she broke her neck after falling while moving onto the bars in gymnastics.

"It was Jan. 7, 1982," said Martha. "You never forget the date of your accident."

"I never thought it could happen to me," said Martha, who had no plans of being a gymnast after high school.

"It was more something I did for fun," she said ironically.

Her family was always there for her after the accident, according to Martha, daughter of Margaret and David Donaghue with whom she lives. "I have great parents," she said. "I couldn't have done it without them."

She also has seven brothers and sisters, Frank, 20; Harry, 26; Brian, 28; Mark, 29; Ann, 31; Kathleen, 32; and Michael, 34.

"My family saw me in the hospital all the time," said Martha, who was hospitalized until the following September. "And my friends continued to be my friends."

During her recovery, she focused ahead on attending college as she already had enough credits to graduate from high school. While she was still in the intensive care unit, she was worrying about submitting her applications.

"I didn't realize how sick I was," she said.

Martha started college part time that fall.

"If I had it to do over again, I might wait a little longer," she said.

"I was very, very tired at first. The accident was such a shock to my body and I needed a lot of sleep."

Martha started out majoring in engineering, but switched to math.

The first semester, she used a tape recorder in

Mayoral Campaign Warms Up McCauley, LaRaia Spar Over Hospital

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Mayor Francis McCauley Tuesday questioned the timing of Councillor Joseph LaRaia's contention that Quincy City Hospital's budget requires City Council approval even though it operates on an enterprise account.

But he stopped short of calling the action political by LaRaia, who is running for mayor.

"He voted for the enterprise account back in April, 1981," said McCauley, who as a city councillor at the time also voted for the account.

"It never bothered him until now when he decided to become a candidate for mayor."

Since becoming an enterprise account, QCH has operated on its own revenues.

The issue was the topic of the council's post audit committee, chaired by LaRaia, at a meeting last week at City Hall.

LaRaia noted that he had asked City Solicitor Joseph "Jay" MacRitchie for a legal opinion on whether the QCH budget required approval by the City Council.

MacRitchie responded last week that the budget is to be submitted to the mayor and city council for informational purposes but not for appropriation, by Aug. 1.

Councillor James Sheets said that the council voted for the enterprise account because "it was felt that if the hospital was to survive as an institution, it had to be separated from the normal fiscal process, segregated as far as finances."

"The budget was to be determined by the Board of Managers," said Sheets.

Councillor John Lydon, Jr., who had voted against the enterprise account along with Councillor Stephen McGrath, said that estimated receipts from the hospital had been a major figure in setting the tax rate.

"For years, they overestimated," he said.

LaRaia said there was an "obvious need" for accountability since the hospital has a budget of $44 million, nearly half that of the city.

He read an "exhaustive review" of the situation by Atty. Sanford A. Kowal, who felt that the budget should be approved by the mayor and city council.

"Since the mayor of the city of Quincy has failed to submit a budget request for approval by the Quincy City Council, there is presently no authority to spend money at that hospital," stated Kowal.

"If the mayor shall fail to submit such a budget request for action by the City Council, it shall be illegal to spend or pay money at the Quincy City Hospital in the hospital's fiscal year which begins Oct. 1."

"His opinion is very, very convincing in weight," said LaRaia.

"It is much safer for us to be acting on the budget, than not."

"We have to weigh his opinion and the consequences of not acting," he said.

MacRitchie said this week that he stood by his earlier opinion, and noted that the city auditor and treasurer still control the funds.

McCauley said that since QCH began operating on an enterprise account, its net worth has increased from $4 million to $10 million.

"It's been completely self sufficient since 1981," said McCauley. "The professional management has done an excellent job."

Sheets Seeks Sewer Permits Moratorium

Councillor James Sheets said he hopes to meet with representatives of the Department of Environmental Quality Engineering this week to request a moratorium on sewer permits in sections of West Quincy.

"I'd like to see a moratorium until a lift station is constructed to help with the problems," said Sheets.

The moratorium, which would apply to the area serviced by sewer substations feeding into the main line at Furnace Brook and Adams St. are surcharged and over capacity," stated Sheets.

In the resolve, Sheets noted that substantial development is planned for the Ricciuti Drive area, and the city plans to drain the dump into the public sewer system.

"There is indisputable evidence that both sewer subsystems feeding into the main line at Furnace Brook and Adams St. are surcharged and over capacity," stated Sheets.

"These surcharging conditions impact the health, physical and mental well-being of the people in West Quincy," he said.

The moratorium would not apply where special permits or building permits have been

No Decision Yet On Landfill

No major decision has been made yet by the city on whether or not to try and reopen the landfill in West Quincy, according to Mayor Francis McCauley.

The landfill was ordered closed recently by Superior Court Judge Cortland Mathers who criticized the way Quincy has operated the dump, and called it an "ecological disaster."

The mayor has maintained that the landfill is not causing "any great environmental problems."

Since the landfill was closed, Browning Ferris Industries has picked up residential trash and taken it to East Bridgewater or to a transfer station in Dedham.

According to McCauley, it will cost the city $69 a ton, or about $1.2 million for six months to truck the rubbish out of the city.

Both McCauley and Paul Anderson, Department of Public Works commissioner, said they received no complaints last week regarding pickup of residential trash which was reported a "shade later" in the day.

A few extra rubbish trucks were added on the bigger routes, according to Anderson.

TRAFFIC SUPERVISOR Rita Prewitt was presented flowers and a plaque for her 19 years service by Kevin O'Leary, principal of St. Mary's School, West Quincy, during a retirement ceremony. On hand were students from the school.

City Starts Selection Process For Traffic Project Engineering Firm

Mayor Francis McCauley announces that the city has begun the selection process for an engineering firm to provide design services for the Quincy Center roadway and traffic improvement project.

The Quincy Center project will include completing the design of intersection improvements, signal upgrading and replacement, street construction and realignment, and the pedestrian walkway to be constructed over the Burgin Parkway and MBTA tracks.

The area slated for improvements will begin at the Dimmock St. and Hancock St. intersection, and continue through Quincy Sq. to Granite St. and the Burgin Parkway.

The city has received a Public Works Economic Development grant from the State Department of Public Works to undertake the engineering design for the project.

It has already begun the application process to secure further state funding for the construction phase of the Quincy Center project, according to McCauley.

The mayor explained that the selection of an engineering firm will be finalized by Aug. 1. The engineering and design portion of the project will take approximately 10 months, he said.

Construction of the traffic improvements and pedestrian bridge estimated to begin in June of 1988 will take one year to complete, according to McCauley.

$50 Million Office Complex For Crown Colony Place

The Linpro Company announces plans to build three five-story, 125,000-square-foot office buildings at Crown Colony Place, a 170-acre office park in West Quincy.

The buildings, 300, 700, and 1100 Crown Colony Drive, will be developed at a cost of $50 million on 18 acres of land controlled by Linpro.

Construction is underway on the first of the three buildings, 300 Crown Colony Drive, scheduled for completion in late 1987. All three buildings are expected to be completed by 1989. The architect for the three facilities, which are identical in design, is Cannon Boston Inc.

According to George A. Higgins, New England regional partner of the Linpro Company, a Philadelphia-based development firm which opened a Boston office in 1973, Crown Colony represents one of Greater Boston's best sites for first class office development.

"The park is ideally situated," said Higgins. "It is just seven miles from downtown Boston and Logan Airport, a five minute walk to the Quincy Adams MBTA Station, and at the junction of Routes 3, 128, and the Southeast Expressway."

Each of the three buildings will feature a five-story atrium and two entryways, one fronting on Crown Colony Pond, a landscaped reflecting pond, and the other on the tree-lined entry boulevard leading to the site. Extensive landscaping will create a lush setting for the buildings.

"Crown Colony represents one of Quincy's largest and most ambitious real estate projects," said Mayor Francis X. McCauley. "And the site's convenience to major arteries will lessen its impact on our neighborhoods."

Linpro was attracted to Crown Colony Place because of the site's marketability, according to a spokesman. "There is a growing demand from large insurance and financial institutions for quality suburban space in which to locate their back office personnel," noted Higgins. "Our accessibility to downtown makes this location especially attractive for those operations."

"When our third building is complete," Higgins continued, "we'll have three of the finest office locations anywhere; each with a spectacular atrium, food service, and an exercise room. And, our rents will still be 20% to 40% less than what people are paying downtown for similar space."

Crown Colony Place is located on the site of the former Old Colony Crushed Stone Company, a granite quarry. Rock has been excavated to form an expansive plateau bordered by cliffs.

Access throughout the park will be provided by Congress St. and Crown Colony Drive, a winding, divided boulevard on which each new development will front.

Preservation of existing land areas, planning of pond areas, and landscape architecture will enhance the park's campus-like environment. A protective covenant insures that all future development will meet specified design and quality standards.

Crown Colony Drive and Congress St. are nearly complete. The park's water retention system is also nearly finished.

The landscape architect for 300, 700, and 1100 Crown Colony Drive is Schreiber Associates of Watertown. Meredith & Grew of Boston is the exclusive leasing agent. Financing is being provided by Boston-based Bank of New England.

Lydon Seeks Montclair Land As Open Space

Ward 3 Councillor John J. Lydon, Jr., recently introduced a landtaking order to the Quincy City Council requesting that land located off Harriet Ave., Montclair, be acquired by the city for use as open space.

Councillor Lydon said he is concerned with preserving the residential character of the neighborhood and stated that public convenience and necessity requires that this action be taken.

He also expressed his concern for public safety in the area, stating that any other use of this land would seriously impact the already overburdened traffic conditions in this area.

Mayor's Race In Low Gear

Although this city election year promises a lot more action than 1985, little has been seen yet.

It's pretty quiet on the political front except for occasional cross-fire between Mayor Francis McCauley and former Mayor Joseph LaRaia who wants to pass the word "former" to McCauley.

A third mayoral candidate had been rumored a few weeks ago but it appears there won't be one. The rumored candidate was not of major status but would have forced a preliminary election for mayor.

Without a preliminary run-off, the battle between McCauley and LaRaia probably won't really heat up until the end of summer.

The LaRaia camp, if it has any grenades to toss, will hold most of them until closer to the final election. You don't shoot off all your fireworks before the Fourth of July, they reason, and then have none left for the big day.

But the McCauley camp doesn't think LaRaia really has any grenades or much gun powder for that matter and is optimistic that whatever LaRaia fires at them, they will fire it back, along with some of their own ammo.

McCauley has indicated that if anyone wants to play rough this year, he knows a little political karate, too. Some observers are wondering why LaRaia is running this year. They think the odds are far in McCauley's favor because there are no real "bread and butter" issues to whip up the interest of voters.

Although there are some who disagree with McCauley's traditional cool, sometimes cold business-like approach to matters, his report card for performance the past near six years as mayor is a good one.

LaRaia, on the other hand, thinks there are enough issues out there with which to wage an effective campaign on.

For those who are wondering why he is running this year, he says now is the time for him to run -- now is the time for a change.

McCAULEY

LaRaia

And, he adds, "I didn't get in (the race) expecting to lose."

Some observers still think LaRaia should have run for re-election to the City Council this year and made his bid for mayor in 1989.

Others, however, think he made the right move. They think he could win. And even if he loses but piles up a good vote, he will have staked out the territory for 1989 as the frontrunner if McCauley calls it a career or as the No. 1 challenger if McCauley decides to run for a fifth term.

In two years, McCauley's popularity could diminish because he stayed too long and LaRaia would have a good shot at him then.

So if LaRaia wins this year, he's back in the mayor's office. If he loses but does well, he will have staked out a mayoral claim for 1989.

Time will tell.

Readers Forum Partial Commuter Rail Service Doomed

Editor, The Quincy Sun

The recent watered-down commuter rail service to the South Shore proposed by state Transportation Secretary Fred Salvucci is destined for failure.

Restoring only partial service on the Plymouth line with a total possible ridership of only 3,000 daily is not worth the $151.7 million price-tag attached to it. Without direct service to Boston's South Station and without the Greenbush line along the South Shore coastline, this Salvucci MBTA decision is nothing more than a pie in the hopes of additional pieces later at a stale pie.

The last thing South Shore commuters need is a postage solution to a serious transportation problem designed by middle-of-the-railroad consensus politicians and bureaucrats.

I am, also, far from convinced that rail service to and from Downtown Boston is even mandated for the Old Colony lines in the first place but pie-meal approaches, however, never work well and are often doomed to eventual derailment.

Do we really need a partial restoration of rail service costing $151.7 million, or fully-restored service costing $387 million? Are these really the only transportation options opened to communities south of Boston?

U.S. Beacon For All To See Former Legion Chaplain Says

"Our beloved nation stands as a beacon for all to see," said the Rev. James C. Tuxbury of St. John's Church, Quincy in his keynote address Monday at a Memorial Day ceremony in Mount Wollaston Cemetery.

Fr. Tuxbury's speech concluded the traditional Memorial Day exercises in Quincy. Other activities commemorating the holiday were the Memorial Day parade and the laying of wreaths on the tombs of John Adams and John Quincy Adams at United First Church.

The parade and ceremonies were sponsored by the Quincy Veterans' Council.

In addition to touching upon several patriotic themes, Fr. Tuxbury, a past national Chaplain for the American Legion, said Memorial Day should be thought of as a holy day.

"We pause in our busy schedule and recall to mind the sacred memories of the man, men and women who have gone to meet their Supreme Commander in Chief, God Almighty," he said.

"Likewise, we especially recall to mind with pride and with profound respect those fellow Americans who made the supreme sacrifice of their lives for the principles which our beloved nation - the United States - stand for," he said.

Fr. Tuxbury quoted Thomas Jefferson, saying "The Tree of Liberty must be constantly watered by the blood of patriots." He added the United States "stands as a beacon to the rest of the world for all to see - that liberty and freedom can and is able to exist."

Fr. Tuxbury referred to the 200th birthday of the U.S. Constitution saying, "Because our Founding Fathers called upon the guidance of God Almighty, and did so even before they undertook the writing of the famous Declaration of Independence, they also made sure of God's

MEMBERS OF THE American Ex-Prisoners of War Massachusetts Chapter No. 1, participate in Memorial Day ceremonies at Mount Wollaston Cemetery.

He added, "Their mortal remains may be at rest but their spirit lives on in the bright hues of our nation's flag, in the halls of Congress, the State House, town meetings, school committees and other national, state and urban meetings. They are our heroes, many known only to God."

Fr. Tuxbury recalled the words of Navy Captain Jeremiah Danton, a POW for many years during the Vietnam War, who spoke for himself and many other prisoners saying, "We are honored to have had the opportunity to serve our country under difficult circumstances."

Fr. Tuxbury concluded with a request for all Americans to be united and by reminding everyone the United States is "the land of the free and the home of the brave."

A native of Lynn and a Navy veteran, Fr. Tuxbury attended St. John's University School of Theology and was ordained a Catholic Priest in 1963 for the Diocese of Bismark, North Dakota.

ALICE SCRIBNER, commander of the Quincy Veterans' Council, speaks at Memorial Day services in Mount Wollaston Cemetery.

help and assistance when they selected as their motto "One Nation Under God."

Fr. Tuxbury, who is currently serving as the Mass. Dept. Chaplain of the American Legion, also told those present to forever remember the supreme sacrifice of those who died in their efforts to preserve the political integrity and freedom of the United States.

KEYNOTE SPEAKER for Monday's Memorial Day ceremonies was the Rev. James C. Tuxbury, past national Chaplain for the American Legion.

"God has blessed our country throughout its history with brave and loyal men and women - many of them in their prime of life - who left home and loved ones to defend causes which our country considers right. They have given precious years of their lives to our country, their native land," Fr. Tuxbury said.

granted, he said. "The problems have always been bad," said Sheets. "Development has made them worse."

He said there have been 125 cases of sewer surcharging over the last month.

"One family lost a burner, equipment and family room," said Sheets.

"A widow received a $4,000 bill for cleaning up her cellar."

Sheets noted that there had been a sewer ban in South Quincy before a lift station was constructed.

It would take a bout $300,000 to construct another lift station, according to Sheets, and the money could come from a recently established sewer account, which he proposed, with money contributed by developers.

The design work has already been done, he said.

"I think we have a good chance of getting the moratorium," Sheets said. He said it would affect such projects as two hotels and an office building in West Quincy recently announced by the Ricciardi Co.

"I support first-class development in West

Quincy," said Sheets. "But I can't support anything which will increase problems people are having in West Quincy."

Bus Drivers, Mechanics On Strike

A two-hour labor-management conference with State Labor Commissioner John J. DelMonte failed to reach a settlement in the 81-day strike of 220 drivers and mechanics against the eastern Mass Street Railway Co.

A last minute hitch developed in the plan for the Quincy School Department to rent five buses from a Vermont company at $21 a day to transport some 650 Quincy school children to classes during the strike.

It was reported that the $15 a week allowance being paid to the striking drivers and mechanics was being reduced to $13 weekly as the treasury of Quincy Local 253 was depleted by the long walkout.

Mayor David S. McIntosh blasted the International Union for what he called its failure to step aside and permit the Quincy Local to handle its own affairs.

"The International very likely is trying to win a point: while the men are more interested in going back to regular pay checks than winning some technical point," he said.

Meanwhile, the New Haven Railroad reported that the strike had added 25,000 riders a week to its trains, enabling the company to show an $884,158 profit for the first quarter of 1952. It lost $432,661 in the first quarter of 1951.

A Chicken Entree All In One Baking Pan

The weather had been nice and I went out and bought a new rack for the outside grille and then some chicken breasts. However as is the case around these parts, the weather changed fast. Because it had gotten later in the day, I then decided since cooking outside was "out!" I'd make it easy on myself. Here is one of those chicken entrees that can be done all in one baking pan.

CHICKEN AND RICE TOGETHER

2-3 large chicken breasts
1 cup rice (uncooked)
2 large carrots (cut in pieces)
1 large onion (also cut)
1 cup chicken stock (which I happened to have, but water can be substituted - mix a little wine if you like.)

Preheat oven to 100 degrees. Season the chicken with salt and pepper and any of your favorite seasonings. Place chicken on bottom of the baking pan, side by side. Put one cup of rice surrounding the chicken. Add the carrots and onions, stock or water. Cover tightly and bake for 20-25 minutes. Remove pan and stir the rice around adding more liquid if needed. Turn oven down to 350 degrees and bake covered for about another half hour or so. Presto! Everything is done to perfection and only one pan to clean. (I skinned the chicken, but it is a matter of taste (and diet!).

(Marie D'Olimpio is the author of "Simply Italian-And Then Some," a collection of her own recipes. Copies of the book are available at That's Italian, Franklin St., South Quincy; Previe's Market, Sumner St., Quincy Point and Samoset Pharmacy, Samoset Ave., Merrymount.)

Foster Care Fair At Woodward School

The second annual spring fair for Foster Care will be held Wednesday, May 27 at 7:30 p.m. at Woodward School for Girls, 1102 Hancock St., Quincy Center.

The free informational meeting invites the public to learn more about the role professional parents are playing in the lives of hundreds of children displaced from their own homes. The event is sponsored by a coalition of private and public agencies whose focus is to educate the public about the needs of children in their communities.

There are approximately 8,000 children living outside their own homes in Massachusetts. Some are in group homes, but most reside in foster homes. Foster parents are carefully studied, trained, and assisted in their work with children by professional social workers.

The four sponsoring agencies of the spring fair for Foster Care are Boston Children's Service Association, DARE Family Services, the Massachusetts Department of Social Services, and Family Dimensions, Foster Home Program. Working together as advocates for children, these agencies are seeking to expand family resources to help children who are at risk in their own homes.

Foster parents currently working with these agencies will be present to speak and answer questions.

Refreshments will be served. For more information call Erica Norton at 773-8920.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Did you know that you can accomplish about anything you want to do just by spending 15 minutes a day working at it? This is a fact that is astonishingly true! For example, in just one year or less you could: 1. Read the entire Bible, 2. Become physically fit, 3.

Paint a house, 4. Learn a foreign language, 5. Write a book...

The beauty of taking these 15 minutes each day is that it helps one stop postponing things one really wants to do or needs to do. If things started, it halts procrastination. It banishes discouragement and there is something discouraging about seeing and knowing something has to be done and never "getting around to it." By taking these 15 minutes a day and working at one particular goal or task one is showing purpose. Habits of industry are being established.

Interesting! Ideal! We think so... Why not try it for a week. You might be surprised at what you accomplish in just those few minutes!

Special Prayer For USS Stark Victims At Squantum Church

In both morning worship services last Sunday, Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, pastor, led the congregation of the First Church of Squantum in a special prayer for the 37 American sailors killed and the others injured in the attack last week on the USS Stark and for their families and loved ones.

As part of his prayer, Dr. Langevin said:

"Let that pain that we taste when we think of these men guide us when we are tempted to supply weapons for war anywhere in the world; let that pain that we feel inhibit us as a country when we are tempted to give aid to one side or the other in any of these seemingly never-ending conflicts. May our heartfelt anguish at this tragic loss give us a sense of the brutality and stupidity of what we call warfare and may we, as Christians, be mobilized to think and to act now so that other young men and women will not have to die as well."

The church had planned to observe Memorial Sunday on May 31 so the rest of the service was given over to an observance of Children's Day. Marci Hurd gave the call to worship, Lori Ogilvie led the opening prayer, and Kim Olson gave the offering prayer.

Two choirs participated in the service. The Cherub Choir members include Molly Crane, Kristen Fluhr, Amy Harper, Erin Johnson, Katie Johnson, Adam MacMillan, Ian McRitchie, James Potter, Mark Potter, Matthew Potter, Michael Thornton, Gwen Williamson, and Emily Zaehring. Mindi Hurd directs the choir, assisted by Marci Hurd.

The flowers on the worship center were given in memory of Mildred N. Boland by her great-grandchildren: Bonnie, Krystin, Ian, Joey, and Kathryn Sarah MacRitchie.

Stewart Scott, chairman of the board of deacons, spoke on the many different activities for young people sponsored as part of the youth ministry of the church.

Rev. Langevin announced that Andy Ogilvie, who has been the church's representative to the Youth Leader Core this year, had been given a $100 scholarship to help him cover the costs of that training. The Youth Leader

Core meets at different places throughout the state on six weekends, during the school year for a program designed to develop Christian leadership.

Rev. Langevin told the children the story of Samuel's call as a child. Later, he preached on the subject, "Turn and Become Like Children."

Dick and June Hendry were the greeters. Harry

4 Quincy Students On Laboure Dean's List

Four Quincy residents have been named to the Dean's List at Laboure College for the winter term.

Donna Cannon-Alvord,

Holmes and Tore Wallin were the ushers, and Joan Hansen and Dorothy Abbe hosted the Fellowship Hour after the service.

There will be two services again this Sunday: the guitar service at 8:30 a.m. and the traditional service at 10:30 a.m. It will be observed as Memorial Sunday, a day to remember loved ones who have died.

Patricia S. O'Brien and Michael J. Smeglin are students in the nursing program. Judith A. DiTunno is a medical record technology student.

IGNORING A MEDICAL PROBLEM?

The good news is this; any medical problem that can be tracked early has an excellent chance of being treated successfully. Many of us are at a loss when it comes to knowing a personal Doctor...one to call for a quick check-up, or an in-depth physical...a family doctor.

DeCristofaro To Seek Re-Election In Ward 2

Ted DeCristofaro, Ward 2 councillor, will announce his plans to run for re-election at an 8 p.m. to midnight fundraiser Saturday at the Fore River Clubhouse, from 8 to 12 p.m.

DeCristofaro, who has represented Ward 2 for six years, said one of his major accomplishments was the establishment of the Ward 2 Community Center "which has become a vital part of the community."

Working closely with area residents, DeCristofaro said he has made significant improvements in his area, including - the refurbishing of the Pollard Playground, Fore River Field, Pond Street Playground and the Elm Street Playground - to serve the youth of the area. He added that $25,000 has been allocated for work to be done in the Faxon Park area.

Growth, traffic and

sewerage have been matters of prime concern throughout the city, DeCristofaro said. He noted he has worked closely with his community on these issues and will continue to work in the best interest of the community.

DeCristofaro said he was successful in obtaining much-needed security protection for a senior citizen complex, has worked with the administration to secure funding to upgrade the Quincy Point Pumping Station, and has worked with the parents and children of the Quincy Point area to keep the Quincy Point Middle School intact.

DeCristofaro said he will "continue to exert every effort and explore every avenue - with the help of the administration and my fellow councillors - to ensure the proper use and or final disposition of the General Dynamics Shipyard."

DeCristofaro said he looks forward to the continued support of the residents of Ward 2 so that he can continue his work in their behalf in maintaining and improving the quality of life for the community.

Caroline Ryan To Head Burke's Ward 5 Election Campaign

The Committee to Elect Kevin M. Burke filed its committee papers at the City Clerk's office Tuesday.

Atty. Kevin Burke announced his candidacy April 21 for the Ward 5 Council seat vacated by Stephen J. McGrath, who is running for councillor at large.

Caroline F. Ryan has been named as chairwoman of the campaign. She is the wife of the former clerk of court the late Dennis F. Ryan. Dennis Ryan was popularly known in the city as "Mr. Democrat." The Ryan family has been active in politics and the community for many years.

Jeffrey C. LaPointe, a Quincy attorney, was named treasurer.

Burke said he expects his campaign committee will be instrumental in helping him work with the people of Ward 5.

A Happy Vacation

It's that time of year again. You can make your summer vacation more enjoyable and carefree if you will take a few simple steps to reduce the possibility that your home will be burglarized or vandalized while you are gone. A vacant house - or one that appears to be vacant - is an appealing target to a burglar. Returning to a home that has been broken into is an unpleasant finish to any trip. NEVER GIVE A BURGLAR AN EASY BREAK.

Here are some simple suggestions that you can do for a few days before you leave.

- Notify the post office to hold your mail or arrange with a neighbor to pick up and hold your mail. On extended trips, you may wish to have the post office forward your mail.

- Notify your news carrier to discontinue delivery.
- Make arrangements to have grass cut and watered. Have someone check daily to remove throwaway papers and circulars.

- Arrange with a neighbor or relative to watch your home and give them a key. Let them know where and how you can be reached in case of emergency. Write their telephone number down so you can check with them during your trip. Also give them your car description and license plate number in case you have to be notified of an emergency.

- Notify your local police department about your departure and return dates so a special watch may be kept on your home. Also give a name and telephone number of a neighbor or relative to notify in case of an emergency, fire burglary, water leak, etc.

- Check possible fire hazards such as oily rags, open containers of combustibles, questionable wiring.

- Make sure any broken windows, door locks, window locks are repaired.

- Move all ladders, tools, law implements, garbage cans, and yard furniture to your garage, basement, shed.

- If you have valuables in the house, take them to your bank for storage in a safe deposit vault. Deposit extra cash in your bank account.

- Purchase Travelers Checks. They are safer than carrying large amounts of money around.

- Ask your neighbors not to inform inquiring strangers that you are away.

If a burglary has occurred during your absence:

- Do NOT enter the house - the burglar might still be there. Use a neighbor's phone and call the police immediately.

- Do NOT touch anything. Just wait until the police arrive.

- DO have a record of the serial numbers of the missing items, and also your Operation Identification Number. This is your best chance to get your property back.

During the month of June, the Quincy Police Crime Prevention Office will be offering free home security surveys. If you are interested call 479-1212 ext. 368 for an appointment.

SPECIALY EQUIPPED VAN allowed Martha Donaghue of West Quincy the freedom to travel to and from classes at Boston University by herself. Paralyzed from the chest down, she was recently graduated summa cum laude.

class. Then she obtained a special pen so she could take notes herself.

"The more you can do yourself, the better it is," she said.

For exams, she asked for extra time, and most teachers obliged.

"I can write pretty well now," she said.

At first, someone had to drive her to school. But once her van was specially equipped, she was able to drive by herself.

The van has such things as levers to open the door, lifts to raise her into the car and position her behind the sensitized steering wheel and hand controls. A CB radio is available in case she needs assistance.

"I was so excited the first time I drove, I can't tell you," she smiled. "I was really happy."

Martha said she used to be shy about asking for help with such things as holding doors open, but soon overcame that in college.

"I've changed a lot because of the accident," she said. "I was always a strong-willed person.

"But I'm more patient than I used to be because you have to wait for people to help you.

"There are a lot of things I can't do."

She pursues the things she can do, such as reading, shopping for her own clothes, going to movies and to clubs with her friends.

"I love to dance," said Martha. "I just move with the music in my wheelchair."

Like other college graduates, she has started looking for a job and would like to be an actuary who works with statistics tables.

Then she might look for an apartment.

This summer, she hopes to attend the Spinal Cord Society convention in Seattle, Wash.

"They're making progress, some day there will be a cure," said Martha who spoke about regeneration of the spinal cord.

"When I was in the hospital, people said that I had to accept the fact that I would never walk again.

"But my father told me about articles to the contrary, and I believe there is a chance for a cure.

"I don't really have a philosophy, I just live one day at a time.

"People with handicaps can do almost anything they want to, and shouldn't put limits on themselves.

"You can't be a truck driver, and there are physical limits.

"But there is so much you can do."

Retired Teachers Assn.

Announces Scholarship Recipients

The Quincy Retired Teachers Association announces its scholarship winners for 1987.

Each scholarship is for $500.

The recipients:

Kevin Steen and Marcy DiStefano from Quincy High School, Caroline A. Morash and Noreen K. Graton from North Quincy High School, John Higgins and Joseph Higgins, twin brothers, from Quincy Vocational-Technical High School.

Scholarship winners of previous years include David Meenan (1981), Raymond Mallory (1982), Mary Martha Gannon (1983), Ann Carroll, Louis Perez, Michelle Dunn, Kim Peter Yo, Teresa Miller (1984), Tracy Coleman, Eric Anderson, Scott Henderson, Colleen Dunn, Stephen McGee (1985), Michelle Bevilacqua, Kathleen Vitelli, Christopher Veneto, Keli Mahoney, Susan Anne Scott, Stephanie Frances, and Christopher Ricciuti (1986).

The Quincy Retired Teachers Association scholarship program was initiated as the result of a bequest from Warren Findlay in 1978. A scholarship committee was formed in 1979 and set about raising funds.

To date, a total of $17,300 has been awarded as a result of the relatively new scholarship program.

This is indicative of the fact that retired teachers, most of whom live on rather small pensions, continue their interest in education and support for young students, according to the association.

Quincy Cooperative Bank Presents Annual Scholarships

The Quincy Co-operative Bank announces this year's Quincy Co-operative Bank Scholarship recipients.

Each year the bank presents a scholarship to one student from each of the 10 area high schools. The scholarship is awarded on the basis of scholarship excellence and outstanding citizenship through school and community activities.

This year, five Quincy residents received scholarships. Kevin Steen is the Quincy High School recipient. He is the co-editor of the Quincy High School Yearbook. And has also participated in the New England and Continental Math Leagues. He will be attending Boston University in the fall.

Jennifer D'Attilio is the Quincy Vocational-Technical School recipient. She has participated in many school groups, including the yearbook committee, Student Advisory Council, National Honor Society and the Blood Drive Committee. She will be attending the Culinary Institute of New Hampshire College.

Lisa Ramsden is the North Quincy High School recipient. She is a member of the National Honor Society, Foreign Language Honor Society and is involved with Junior Achievement. She has also been a member of the swim team. She plans to attend Colby college.

Sarah Mildram received the scholarship for Thayer Academy. Sarah is the sports editor of the school's newspaper, Tigers Eye. She

'The Anger Of Christ' Sermon Topic At Bethany

There will be two worship services Sunday at Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center, at 9 a.m. in the chapel and at 10 a.m. in the sanctuary.

The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will preach at both hours. His sermon topic will be, "The Anger of Christ."

Lay scripture readers will be Barbi Jones at the early service, and Elaine M. Calvi at the late service. The Rev. Joel F. Huntington, associate minister, will be liturgist at both services.

The chancel choir, under the direction of Peter E. Krasinski, organist, will sing as the offertory "With a Voice of Singing" by Martin Shaw. Baritone Paul David Johnson will sing the solo "Pieta Signore" by Alessandro Stradella.

During the 10 a.m. service four persons will be received as new members: Richard W. Howland, Kathleen S. Howland, Fairlie A. Kinnecom, and Linda A. Swan.

At 10 a.m. the worship service will be broadcast "live" direct from the sanctuary over radio station WJDA.

Sunday church school will be held from 10 to 11 a.m. with classes for pupils from pre-school through eighth grade. Nursery care is also provided for babies and toddlers, under the professional supervision of Denise Fleming. Bethany's early childhood coordinator.

Following the late service, a coffee and fellowship time will be held in the Allen Parlor to which everyone is invited. During the fellowship hour, Edward A. Bohlken, will be honored for his service to Bethany Church. He is retiring as the administrative assistant after ten and a half years in that position.

The young people of the confirmation class will be on retreat this Friday evening and Saturday at the home of Robert R. Peoples, Jr., in Easton. Those young people who decide to do so, after eight months of study, will be confirmed in the church on Pentecost Sunday, June 7.

For additional information concerning the ministries and programs of Bethany Church, contact the church office at 479-7300.

'Knowing The Unknown God' Wollaston Congregational Topic

Rev. Elden Zuern will preach on the topic "Knowing The Unknown God" Sunday at Wollaston Congregational Church.

Lay scripture reader will be Gus Oster. Greeters will be Alice and John Zinkus, ushers Ellis Laycock and Chris Holler, and the acolyte Harry Towle.

The opening hymn will be

"Rejoice The Lord Is King," the sermon hymn, "How Great Thou Art" and the closing hymn, "Crown Him With Many Crowns."

There will be no church school classes until they resume again in the fall but nursery child care is provided during the morning service.

At 11 a.m. a fellowship hour will be held in the social hall to which all members and friends are invited.

Christian Scientist To Speak On Healing Of Family Stress

Since 1916, when the congregation at First Church of Christ, Scientist, sponsored its first public lecture on Christian Science, lectures have been held in the Quincy community each year.

Guest lecturer, Georgina Yolande Mansergh, of Capetown, South Africa, will speak on "Family under Stress: Spiritual Strength and Freedom through God" here Thursday, June 4.

In the late 1800s, Christian Science lectures were introduced at a time of great public interest in the new denomination which had been founded in Boston in 1879. Newspaper reports regarding adherents' practice of Christian healing were widespread.

The lectures offered the public the opportunity to hear firsthand accounts of what Christian Science teaches and to learn something about their Christian Science neighbors' beliefs.

GEORGINA MANSERGH

The settings were public, and the event was informational rather than proselytic.

Over the years, the lectures have retained the same basic purpose -- providing the public an opportunity to learn something about a church with a long history on the local religious scene. This year, the lecturers are focusing on three growing areas of concern: violence, the breakdown of the family, and health.

The local congregation has scheduled Mrs. Mansergh's lecture to begin at 8 p.m. June 4, at the church, 20 Greenleaf St., Quincy Center. It will last an hour.

Mrs. Mansergh is active in the denomination's ministry of Christian healing as a Christian Science practitioner. (A Christian Science practitioner gives his or her full time to the public practice of Christian Science healing through prayer.) Her lecture will include accounts of physical healing that have come about as the result of prayer and a spiritual understanding of God.

The public is invited to attend the lecture. There is no charge. Free parking and child care will be available.

Fr. William McCarthy Elected President Of Quincy Teen Mothers Program

The Rev. William J. McCarthy, pastor of St. John the Baptist Church, was elected president of the board of directors of the Quincy Teen Mothers Program at the recent annual meeting.

Kathryn Beers, social worker at Family Service of Greater Boston, was re-elected clerk and Stephen Moynihan, business manager for the Quincy Public Schools, was re-elected treasurer.

The Quincy Teen Mothers Program, a school for pregnant girls and young mothers, is run under the auspices of the Quincy public schools and meets at Bethany Congregational Church. The program enables girls to receive vocational-business training, child care, counseling, parenting classes and to complete their high school education.

Outgoing president Dr. Carroll Lee Griffin reviewed the events of the year and announced that the graduation ceremony will be held Thursday, May 28, at 7 p.m. at Bethany Church.

The board of directors commended Linda Stice, the program's coordinator, for her excellent work during the year.

Frustration For North

Quincy Romps To Keep Tourney Hopes Alive

Quincy's baseball team kept its Eastern Mass. tournament hopes flickering with a 15-0 romp over Brookline last Friday.

The Presidents (10-7) need two wins in three remaining games to qualify. They played Suburban League-leading Brockton Tuesday and host Cambridge Rindge and Latin today (Thursday) at Adams field. A rained-out non-league game with Malden will be made up if either team needs the win to make the tournament.

Wayne Chambers, who has pitched well over the second half of the season, went all the way in blanketing Brookline.

He was backed up by the Presidents' most explosive attack of the year. Dan Biagini, whose bat has been red hot, went 5-for-5 and Tom Logan and sophomore Brian Taylor also hit well.

Rightfielder Jim Dennis came up with a rare feat as he threw out two batters at first base on sharp hits.

Earlier in the week Quincy lost to Waltham, 6-2, making its tournament hopes dimmer. T.J. Steen had a home run for the Presidents.

Meanwhile, things continue to go badly for North Quincy.

Following an upset win over Waltham, which led the league at the time, the Raiders were shut out three games in a row, 24-0 by Brockton, 4-0 by Medford and 10-0 by Cambridge. Last week they dropped a 4-3 squeaker to Brookline.

North (5-13) played Newton North Tuesday and winds up the season today at Waltham.

Girls Softball

Raiderettes' Bats Come To Life

The North Quincy girls' softball team, which had earlier qualified for the Eastern Mass. Tournament, bounced back from a tough 2-1 loss to Brockton to win two games last week and improve to 13-2.

Barbara Webster's Raiderettes were scheduled to play Newton North Tuesday and the last regularly scheduled game is today (Thursday) at Cambridge against Waltham at Mitchell-McCoy Field.

The North girls bombed Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 15-0, as Anne Anderlionis who had rejoined the team only a few games earlier after being sidelined since the season opened, pitched the shutout and became the first North girl besides Kristin Drake to pitch a game.

Anne McGuigan led the attack with a double and two singles and three RBI. Anderlionis had two RBI singles, Nancy Flukes a single and three RBI and Colleen Hannon a two-run single.

Earlier in the week The Raiderettes topped Arlington, 11-7, in the makeup of a rained-out non-League game. Drake went all the way for her 12th win, allowing three hits and striking out three.

Drake went 2-for-4. McGuigan was 3-for-4 with three RBI. Anderlionis 2-for-3 with an RBI double and Nancy Leonard had a hit and scored twice.

The Raiderettes, ranked sixth in Eastern Mass., will be one of the top-seeded teams in the tournament which gets under way next week.

TOM BENSON of Quincy has completed his senior year as captain of the Norwich University hockey team. A left wing, he was the team's second highest scorer with 22 goals and 27 assists. He scored four goals against Westfield State and finished his career as the Cadets' number 10 all-time scorer with 124 points. He was awarded the Bob Priestley Award for dedication to the hockey program.

Sun Sports

18 Receive

Don Bosco Awards

Eighteen Quincy, Wollaston and North Quincy residents were awarded certificates, plaques and varsity letters at the annual sports award night of Don Bosco Technical High School in Boston.

Varsity letters went to Edward Nabstedt, Joseph Hennessey and Michael Danick, all in football; Daniel McClusky, William McArdle, Patrick Green, Kevin Duffy and Richard Bryan, all soccer; Ekman Tsang, soccer, indoor track and spring track; Harry Wareham, indoor and spring track; John McMillen, hockey; Timothy Brillo, football and baseball;

Richard Nabstedt, football and baseball; Michael Leonard, hockey and spring track; Jeffrey Clifford, football; Daniel Flaherty, swimming; Kevin Flaherty, football, and Kevin Burke, soccer.

Burke and Duffy were named to the Catholic Conference all-star team in soccer. Tsang was named outstanding athlete. Wareham was named outstanding track and field performer and Richard Nabstedt received the Brother Charles Bryson Memorial Trophy for the unsung hero.

First Ladies Win Pair

It has been a long, frustrating season for the Quincy girls' softball team, but the First Ladies last week won two games in a row for the first time and improved to improve to 3-11.

The Quincy girls were scheduled to play Brockton Tuesday and the last regularly scheduled game is today (Thursday) at Cambridge Rindge and Latin.

Last Thursday the First Ladies defeated Brookline, 8-6, led by the hitting of Terry Duggan, the Suburban League's number two batter, who had an RBI double and two RBI singles.

Chris Curtin's home run in the third gave Quincy a 3-0 lead before Brookline battled back.

Sue Cullen had an RBI double, Christine Menz was 2-for-4 and Tracy Chaupetta had a triple and an RBI single.

Dianne Heeny pitched all the way, allowing eight hits, striking out one and walking five.

Earlier in the week Quincy upset Waltham, 7-6, with Camie LeVangie driving in the winning run in the seventh inning.

Heeny, who went all the way with a six-hitter, had a two-run double in the fifth to cut Waltham's lead to 6-5. In the seventh Nancy Svizzera (2-for-3) drove in Heeny to tie the score at 6-6, then LeVangie came through with her game-winning hit. Curtin had two hits and Duggan scored twice.

Jaehnig, Rebels Upset

It was a topsy-turvy weekend in the South Shore Sports Center Men's Basketball League as both undefeated teams, the Jaehnig Chiropractic Club of Quincy and the Running Rebels of Weymouth being upset.

They remain in a first place tie and the stage is set for a final-week meeting of the teams, with the winner capturing the regular season title.

Jaehnig, the Rebels, the SMEIDS and John Hancock have qualified for the playoffs, which start in two weeks.

John Hancock, led by Bob O'Shea's 25 points and Mark Dwyer's overall leadership, upset Jaehnig, 66-53. Mark and Chuck Jaehnig combined for 45 points in a losing effort. Mike and Dan Jaehnig had four points each.

The SMEIDS topped the Running Rebels, 61-58, led by the two-way efforts of Steve Connolly and Terry Hogan.

The standings: Jaehnig, 7-1; Running Rebels, 7-1; SMEIDS, 6-2; John Hancock, 6-2; J.B. Heating, 4-4; Glistening Ones, 4-4; Squires, 3-5; Ropesters, 2-6; Lou Brothers, 1-7; Putnam Capitals, 0-8.

5 NQHS Girls On Softball All-Star Team

Five members of the North Quincy girls' softball team, which has qualified for the Eastern Mass. tournament, were named to the Suburban League all-star first team.

Selected were Ann Anderlionis, Nancy Leonard, Colleen Hannon, Kristin Drake and Lisa Mitton. Nancy Flukes and Ann McGuigan were named to the second team.

Quincy's Terry Duggan, Kris Curtin and Sue Cullen were also selected.

3 Quincy Women Score 100 Points For YMCA In National Swim Meet

Three Quincy women scored 100 points for the South Shore YMCA in the masters division at the national swim championships recently in Wisconsin.

Mary Wentworth, 71 years of age, who has 58 gold medals plus several silver and bronze has collected since she first entered YMCA competitions in 1978, won six golds and broke three of her own records set last year.

She won the 100 and 200-yard butterfly, 100 and 200 breaststroke, 400 individual medley and 1650 freestyle.

Her performance coupled with earlier achievements places her among the top 10 women in her class nationally.

Hazel Rambo, 83, picked up three gold medals (50-yard freestyle and 50 and 100 backstroke).

Jean Jones, 61, won five bronze medals for third places in the 200 and 500 freestyle and 50, 100 and 200 backstroke.

Although Quincy had only the three entries, while many YMCAs brought 25 or more, the 100 points put South Shore Y in the top third of the nation.

It is hoped that more women will join the team in order to compete in the relays.

150 Boats Compete

Pocharski Class A Winner In JFK Regatta

Nearly 150 boats, many more than a year ago, took part over the weekend in the second annual John F. Kennedy Regatta out of Marina Bay in Squantum.

The event is sponsored by the marina Bay in cooperation with the friends of the Kennedy Library.

The overall Class A winner was Lou Pocharski of Marblehead, followed by Steve Garland of Hingham and Todd Johnson of Hingham.

John Dieselman of Scituate put his three sons on the rail as he took Class B honors, followed by Fred Baker of Scituate and Bob McElmore of Beverly.

The Class C winner was Charles Moore of Rockland, followed by Bob Shephard of Winthrop and Ernie Hardie of Winthrop.

In Class D Paul Nicholls out of Cottage Park was the winner, followed by Paul Murphy of Salem and Rex Atwood of Hull.

In Class E-B Pete McKenzie of Danvers was the winner, followed by Dave Cleverly of Hingham and Dom McGilvray of Quincy.

While the powerboats were doing their stuff, the one-designs were slogging along through the powerboat wake and sloppy conditions.

The results:
Star-1, Joe Zambelli.

Cottage Park; 2, Peter Costa, Cottage Park; 3, Bob Campbell, Squantum.

1. ASERS-1, Viadon DeSica, 2, Randy Komich; 3, Garrard Cody.

HUSTIERS-1, Cindy Olsen, Squantum; 2, Harry Carleton, Squantum; 3, Norman Stanley, Squantum.

MERCURY-1, Zof Hancef, UMass Boston; 2, Hatty Kelly, Community Boating, Boston; 3, Leo Manning, Community Boating.

THUNDERBIRDS-1, Don Kavanaugh, Savin Hill; 2, Dave Houston, Savin Hill; 3, Peter Gilson, Savin Hill.

SNIPES-1, Ron Sandstrom, Winchester; 2, Art

Rousmaniere, Winchester; 3, John Lally, Cottage Park.

The regatta has quickly become a major Massachusetts Bay yacht race.

The regatta kicked off Friday night with a dinner at the JFK Library where skippers and crews met each other, talked about past races, looked forward to upcoming races and generally enjoyed themselves.

"In the near future this race will compete with the major classic sailing events in the country," said Peter O'Connell, partner of O'Connell Management Company, Inc., developers of Marina Bay.

Toland Elected Dartmouth Hockey Captain

NANCY TOLAND

Junior Nancy Toland of Quincy has been elected captain of next season's Dartmouth College women's ice hockey team.

Toland was selected honorable mention All-Ivy League and the team's Most Valuable Defensive Player during the past season.

"She certainly deserves it," said first-year coach George Crowe. "Nancy works extremely hard on her skills and I know she will be a good leader and set a good example for next year's team."

In 19 games Toland scored five goals and 11 assists for the Big Green while earning a reputation as an aggressive penalty killer.

Under the direction of Crowe, who led the Dartmouth men's hockey team to the 1979 and 1980 NCAA playoffs, the women skated to an 11-10 record (5-5 in the Ivy League) and for the first time in three years, made it to the Ivy League tournament.

Toland is a graduate of Fontbonne Academy.

Manet Men's Basketball League Underway

Mayor Francis McCauley tossed up the first ball to get the newly-formed Quincy Manet Men's Basketball League started last week.

In the opening game Jimmies Contracting proved too quick and defeated the Quincy Nets, 78-53.

Kevin Bregoli and Steve Millane combined for 48 points, while Bill Murphy and John Jimmies lead 15 and 11 respectively. Bob Lenzola led the Nets with 12 points.

In the second game Jay Osgood was virtually unstoppable inside as he scored 21 points to lead Elm Street University to a 61-56 victory over the Jachning Chiropractic Club.

Chuck Marshall hit four straight foul shots with time winding down to seal the victory. P.J. Fay and Gary DiNardo had nine points each for Elm Street. Mark Jachning netted 20 points for the losers, while Jim Jimmies had 12 and Mike Granahan 10.

Hurley Receives Hockey Letter At Colby

Christopher Hurley of Quincy, a junior administrative science and economics major at Colby College, Waterville, Me., recently received a varsity letter for his contribution to the men's ice hockey team.

He played 14 games of the 1986-87 season.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Hurley of Quincy, he is a 1984 graduate of Boston College High School.

The Mount topped the Clean Machine, 68-49, in the final game as its relentless defensive pressure and aggressive rebounding proved unbeatable.

Mark Millane led the Mount with 22 points and Matt Donahue and Jim Phelan had 10 apiece. For Clean Machine Kevin McGrath scored 17 and Brian Donaghue had 14.

Games are played on Tuesday nights at 6:45, 8 and 9:15 at the old Quincy High gym. They are open to the public at no charge.

149 Degrees Awarded At ENC Commencement

Eastern Nazarene College awarded 149 degrees at its 65th annual commencement ceremonies held on the front lawn of the campus Monday morning.

Eighty-seven received the A.B. degree, 23 received the B.S. degree and there were three graduates with the A.A. degree.

In addition, the M.A. degree was presented to 11 and the M.F.d. degree was bestowed on 23. President Stephen W. Nease also recognized two who had graduated from ENC's cooperative program with the Boston University School of Nursing.

The honorary degree Doctor of Divinity was presented to Dr. Russell Metcalfe, pastor of Wollaston Church of the Nazarene and to Dr. Dallas Mucci, District Superintendent of the New York District Church of the Nazarene, both of whom are alumni of the college.

The commencement address was delivered by Dr. Leslie Parrott, president of Olivet Nazarene University in Kankakee, Ill. Dr. Parrott, who served as president of ENC from 1970 to 1975 spoke on the theme "Holiness and the Educated Person."

He said that the five marks of the truly educated person are (1) the ability to enjoy reading at an advanced level, (2) the ability to enjoy reading at an advanced level, (2) the ability to communicate well, (3) a concern for clear thinking, (4) a grasp of the history of ideas, and (5) a mature encounter with religion. He noted that a Christian college is faced with three challenges: Resolving the tension between Christian theology and secular attitudes, resisting the pressure to Christianize the curriculum, and teaching from a perspective of liberal creativity in a system accustomed to authoritarian instruction.

In a break with tradition, the Baccalaureate Service was held Sunday afternoon in the Wollaston Church of the Nazarene. In his sermon, based on the Biblical account of the resurrection of Jesus Christ, President Nease referred to the political, social, and spiritual aspects of life that cause mankind to be fearful. He told the graduates that they could have a joy that overcomes fear if they would (1) have a personal relationship with God that is real and commit themselves to God's will completely, (2) accept a life's mission that is all-consuming, and (3) spread their concern widely and focus their efforts wisely. The service was followed by a reception on the campus lawn.

Commencement weekend was also highlighted by special activities on Alumni Day, Saturday. Ten class reunions were held on campus and in the surrounding community. The Alumni Praise Hour, held in Angell Chapel, was conducted by Rev. Gary Jones, vice president of the Alumni Association and pastor of the Quincy Bethel Church of the Nazarene.

The annual alumni banquet featured the donation of the traditional class gift by the senior class. An aerial photograph of the campus was presented by class president Steve Thomas to President Nease. Alumnus of the Year awards were presented to Dr. Charles Gailey, Professor at Nazarene Theological Seminary and missionary to Swaziland and to Miss Audrey Ward, longtime resident of Quincy and for many years the bookkeeper at the college. Voting for the Outstanding Senior Award resulted in a tie for the first time in the history of the award. Presentations went to H. David Stewart a double major in history and chemistry from Rockville, MD and Steve Thomas a double major in Psychology and Religion from Union City, PA.

The alumni event was also the occasion for the announcement that Dr. Ruth Cameron of Quincy, MA would be the first holder of the Munro Chair of Literature which recently became the first endowed academic chair in the history of the college. Dr. Cameron is a graduate of ENC and received the M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from Boston University. She has served on the faculty of Eastern Nazarene College with brief interruptions since 1950. A portrait of former Dean Bertha Munro was unveiled during the ceremonies. The artist, Dr. Vernon J. Groves, former professor at ENC and later at Olivet Nazarene University, was present for the unveiling.

Squantum Doughnut Shop Owner Has New Solutions For Traffic Problem

The City License Board Tuesday granted a request from Squantum Donuts, Inc., 388 East Squantum St., for a new hearing concerning the traffic conditions at the site.

The board recommended last week that the East Squantum St. entrance to the shop be eliminated by use of barriers in an effort to monitor the traffic flow.

The shop's owner, Paul P. Givostes, told the board that this is hurting his business and feels that he has a better solution to the problem.

The board scheduled a new hearing for next week, June 2 to discuss the new solution. The hearing could not take place on Tuesday because Building Inspector Kenneth Johnson and Police Chief Francis Finn were absent from the board.

Historical Society Crafts, Collectibles Fair June 6

The Quincy Historical Society is sponsoring its 10th annual Crafts and Collectibles Fair Saturday, June 6, 1987 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Society's Adams Academy Building, 8 Adams St., Quincy Center.

In case of rain the fair will be held in the Masonic Temple on Hancock St.

The society's fairs have presented a wide selection of quality crafts and collectibles attracting a large and enthusiastic crowd. Approximately 100 crafts people were represented at the 1986 fair, and a similar number are expected again this year.

There will be entertainment throughout the day; a snack bar will be available. There is ample parking in the rear of the Adams Academy. No admission fee is charged.

Self Defense Topic On 'Senior Spotlight'

Monday, June 1 on American Channel 9 "Senior Spotlight" will take a look at self defense techniques for senior citizens.

Host Maida Moakley had a chance recently to speak with Kathy Hoffman from the Sunchin Women's Karate School, at a program sponsored by the Mayor's Commission on the Status of Women. The program was part of the Women's Week series and was held at the Granite St. senior citizen complex.

This "Senior Spotlight" program gives senior citizens some good advice on how to protect themselves on city streets and includes a demonstration of some of the simple tricks anyone can do to better protect themselves.

"Senior Spotlight" can be seen on June 1 at 7:30 p.m.

Spring Fair At Parker School Saturday

The Parker Elementary School's Spring Fair will be held Saturday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the schoolyard, 148 Billings Rd., North Quincy.

Tickets will be sold for a chance to win a scooter or an AM-FM boombox with a built in TV and cassette player.

There will also be games, rides, refreshments, balloons, face-painting, crafts, white elephant items, plants, a pet show, baked goods and more.

Cablesystems Advertising Three Time Winner

Cablesystems Advertising, American Cablesystems' Quincy based regional advertising operation, has been named a three time finalist in the Cable Advertising Bureau's national Mission Accomplished V 1987 commercial competition.

The competition recognizes outstanding creative achievement in commercial video production. Cablesystems

Advertising competed against six hundred entries in seven categories.

Named in the competition were Cablesystems Advertising's production manager, Donna Robertson of Milton, senior producer-writer, James Ladass of Quincy, and producer-writer, Michael Herbs of Newton.

Robertson was recognized for her creative commercial producing writing efforts on behalf of the Gazelle Restaurant.

Ladass was named a finalist for his creative directing-visual efforts on the Gazelle restaurant spot and once again for his producing-directing-writing achievement on a commercial production for Harplace One in Quincy. The Harplace One commercial featured performers from the Spirit of Boston harbor ship in a music video style production promoting the full service hair-beauty salon.

Herbs was acknowledged for his producing-directing-writing efforts on behalf of the Wayside One Stop Cleaners in Arlington.

Cablesystems Advertising produces commercial and industrial videos for Massachusetts businesses in communities north, south and west of Boston.

Lifesaving-CPR Course At YMCA

The South Shore YMCA will offer an Advanced Life Saving CPR Course beginning June 6-Aug. 8.

The class will be held

Saturdays from 10-1 p.m.

Participants must be at least 15 years old and be able to pass the initial water skills test June 6.

Fee is $25 for members and $50 for non members. The fee does not include books. For more information call 479-8500.

Children's Day At Town Brook

Grandchildren and guests of residents at Town Brook House, 45 Brackett St., Quincy, recently celebrated their annual Grandchildren's Day.

The afternoon consisted of entertainment by Jerry Coyle and his Fun Time Show, a surprise visit by "big bird" and refreshments.

WEEK OF: May 28

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

You are extremely creative and possess a vivid imagination. Your bright and sometimes offbeat ideas can help you realize a dream this year -- but a greater ability to focus on one task at a time is a must. Friendships -- especially old ones -- thrive over the next 12 months.

AQUARIUS -- January 21 - February 19

You can operate at top efficiency -- but remember the short way is often the long way. This week sees you performing the role of adviser to the lovelorn.

PISCES -- February 20 - March 20

Despite your good intentions, this is not the week for playing matchmaker. New interests, possibly related to sports and fitness, are highlighted. Truce is declared in a friendship.

ARIES -- March 21 - April 20

Communications improve noticeably, this is a fine week for making your pitch to people in high places. Community service is highlighted. Negotiations demand a methodical approach.

TAURUS -- April 21 - May 22

Surprises coming your way are generally pleasant, however, be cautious if thinking about surprising others. Design sense is sharp -- just the excuse you need for expanding your wardrobe.

GEMINI -- May 23 - June 21

Intellectual contests are spotlighted now. Developing friendships should not be rushed. News from abroad is encouraging but may require some follow-ups on your part.

CANCER -- June 22 - July 22

It may be necessary to pin down someone who's been avoiding important issues for some time. Meanwhile, you too may find yourself pushed to make a friendship-related commitment.

LEO -- July 23 - August 22

You excel in the role of leader through this period -- family members respond positively to your forthright approach. Travel is highlighted, particularly trips to new destinations.

VIRGO -- August 23 - September 22

Coincidences are sprinkled through the week, and intuition is unusually strong now. Powers of concentration are impressive, too -- despite some very delightful romantic distractions.

LIBRA -- September 23 - October 22

Behind-the-scenes activities are spotlighted, meaning that influential people are taking note of your skills. Time may be right for a diplomatic chat about a friend's irresponsibility.

SCORPIO -- October 23 - November 21

Artistic slick surfaces, you may find yourself creating a work of art or two. Unfortunately, an artistic temperament accompanies it. Make an added effort to be patient.

SAGITTARIUS -- November 22 - December 22

Relationships with coworkers are more amicable thanks to your more honest approach. Compromise is important in settling a family dispute. Uptbeat financial news may arrive now.

CAPRICORN -- December 23 - January 20

A gift that comes your way may be more valuable than you first believe. Expressions of friendship that you hear may require special interpretation. Unexpected guest may arrive on weekend.

BORN THIS WEEK

May 28th, singer Gladys Knight, 29th, actor Bob Hope, 30th, actor Michael Pollard, 31st, actor Clint Eastwood, June 1st, actor Clavon Little, 2nd, actor Stacy Keach, 3rd, actress Colleen Dewhurst.

Quincy Point Congregational Launches $70,000 Campaign To Restore Steeple

Members and friends of the Quincy Point Congregational Church in Quincy have embarked upon an estimated $70,000 fundraising campaign to straighten and restore the church's steeple.

Trustees of the congregation are serving as the Restoration and Fundraising Committee. They include Mr. Carl Soderstrom, Chairman of the Board of Trustees and General Campaign Chairman; Henry Parker; William Smith; Mrs. Susan Egan; Alex Mitchelson; Mrs. Iaino

Ash; Robert Gohl; James Chandler; Wayne Parlee II; Marcia Scrino; Mrs. Louise McRae; and Chris Meyers.

The Rev. Bedros Baharian, pastor emeritus, is now completing his work as Special gifts chairman with a financial goal of $35,000 to be raised from a select group of church members and friends of the congregation.

William Neil, church moderator and chairman of the Executive Board, is serving as chairman of the Parish Campaign.

This second phase of the fundraising program seeks to raise another $35,000 during the next several weeks. A special letter with response card has been mailed to all members and friends of the local church, inviting all families to participate in the restoration work. Weekly progress reports will be made to the congregation during the 10 a.m. services each Sunday by the Rev. Frederick and Carol Atwood-Lyon, pastors of the Quincy Point Congregational Church.

The Board of Trustees has secured the services of Walter A. McKinnon Associates of Weymouth as consulting engineer and Lester R. Fulton & Son Incorporated, also of Weymouth, to be the general contractor. The task of restoring the church's steeple is expected to begin before mid-June with completion planned for early August. The work of restoration will include correcting a 10 inch tilt of the steeple at the pinnacle of the spire by resetting the base upon which the steeple rests. The original and decorative spikes and urns will be replaced, and the weathervane will be regilded. The entire steeple will be scraped, sealed and repainted.

and plans are being made to have the steeple lighted at night as an invitation to one and all to worship at the Quincy Point Congregational Church.

The church was first gathered in 1838 when 13 families formed the Methodist Episcopal Society and soon after built a church building at the corner of Washington and South Sts. in Quincy Point. In 1884, the church joined the Congregational Association and, in 1957, the United Church of Christ for its worldwide affiliation with more than 6,400 other local churches.

Starting in September with the Rededication of the Steeple and Congregation, the church will celebrate its 150th anniversary as a church and congregation in Quincy and the South Shore Church members and friends travel from more than 10 communities on the South Shore to participate in the worship and mission of the church.

In 1966, the church sponsored and secured funding for the first of three apartment dwellings at 1000 Southern Artery in Quincy under the leadership of the Rev. Mr. Baharian, now Pastor Emeritus, who served as its Director. Today, approximately 750 senior citizens reside in 643 apartments where they also enjoy a wide variety of activities and programs sponsored by facility today, the Director is Mr. Paul Baharian.

Residents and business men and women of the South Shore who would like to contribute to the "Steeple Restoration Fund" may do so by sending their gift marked for that purpose to the Quincy Point Congregational Church, 444 Washington Street, Quincy, Mass. 02169.

Today, Quincy Point Congregational Church is located at Southern Artery and Washington Sts. to which location the main sanctuary was moved in 1950. The building was faced with colonial brick and several additions were built over the years. The current pastors consist of a husband-wife team, who began their ministries at the church in October of 1985. Sunday worship is at 10 a.m., with summer services in July and August at 9 a.m. There are parking facilities and a Church School and Crib Room for infants.

'Keep Doing What We're Doing' In Quincy The Word Is 'No' To QJC Merger

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

"NO" is the message in Quincy regarding the proposed merger of Quincy Junior College and Massasoit Community College.

That is the feeling of Quincy Junior College administrators.

And it was the message painted on a large green sign hung anonymously at Veteran's Memorial Stadium at the college's commencement ceremony Sunday afternoon.

"We want an institution serving people of this community with reasonable tuition rates so that we can maintain an enrollment of 1,400 students," Dr. Clayton Johnson, president of Quincy Junior College said.

Johnson said the college does not want to expand into a state-wide institution.

"We want to keep doing what we're doing," Johnson said.

Under a plan advanced by regents chancellor Franklin G. Jenifer, QJC would merge into the state system as a subcampus of Massasoit Community College in Brockton. Massasoit would be renamed South Shore Community College and would include three campuses: in Brockton, on the present site of Massasoit; in Canton, where Massasoit earlier took over Blue Hills Regional Technical Community College and in Quincy. The QJC facilities would be expanded.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley, in his address to QJC graduates Sunday, said "I just want to assure you as new graduates of the school that your elected officials, both at the state and local level, are working with the officials of the college to be sure Quincy Junior College continues to be a viable institution in the future."

Sometime before the graduation ceremony, a three foot by four foot green sign with white letters spelling "NO" was hung on a fence near the visitor bleachers in unobstructed view of the graduation procession into the stadium.

Paul A.M. Hunt, chairman of the Community College Association, referred to the sign in his greeting to the graduates.

"Upon entering the stadium, I saw a large sign saying no. If the sign that says no indicates your unwillingness that this college become subordinate to Massasoit, we also say no," Hunt said as the crowd reacted warmly with applause and cheers.

Hunt then alluded to Massasoit's takeover of Blue Hills.

"If the sign which I read saying no means no there will not be another success to the power grabbers who are now rife in public education. We also say no."

Under the plan, tuition rates for QJC students would be reduced from $3,600 for nursing students and $1,550 for liberal arts students to a flat $780 a year, the standard rate for state community colleges.

According to Arthur Keogh, dean of faculty, QJC tuition rates could be slashed with more state assistance and grants from the private sector.

Jody Hamilton-Davis, assistant to President Johnson, said a number of bills to increase financial aid have been submitted for

Operation Problems

Mayor To Meet On Kinney Complaints

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Mayor Francis McCauley said he will meet within the next week with representatives of Kinney Systems to discuss complaints regarding operation and maintenance of the city owned parking lots and garage.

The complaints were made by residents who called the mayor's office and by City Council President Stephen McGrath and other councilors at Monday night's meeting.

"The validated system works well," said McCauley, referring to the system whereby those who park in the lots or garage receive a ticket which can be validated by merchants.

"But there are problems such as graffiti on the walls of the garage, lack of continuity maintaining the grass."

"We want to see things kept clean on a continuing basis."

"We're going to insist that they keep the place right."

McGrath also called for a meeting with representatives of Kinney Systems and the mayor's office.

"I have personally observed instances where no attendants have been present at the ticket booth in the Hancock Parking Area, preventing cars from entering and leaving the lot," said McGrath.

"Also, at times, only one booth is open causing backup of vehicles attempting to exit the lot."

"The condition of the Ross Parking Garage, particularly in the stairwell areas, is deplorable with graffiti and trash strewn about."

"Performance by Kinney Systems must improve or shoppers will be driven from downtown Quincy."

Councillor Joseph LaRaia said the garage has looked like a "bombed-out city" for the past six years.

"The top floor of the garage is filled with graffiti that looks like it was done by a distorted art class," LaRaia said.

Councillor James Sheets said that when he uses the garage, he is embarrassed to meet anyone who might recognize him as a city councillor because the facility is "so deplorable."

"There is graffiti on the walls, the stairway area reeks of urine," he said. "The facility should be taken care of or we shouldn't have it."

Councillor Patricia Toland, chairman of the Downtown and Economic and Beautification Committees, said the physical appearance is "repulsive."

She also said she does not feel safe going down the stairs alone.

Tax Bills Must Be Paid By June 22

A total of $1,163,655 has been collected by the city since second half real estate tax bills

Francis McCauley.

The bills are due June 22, he said.

"We would appreciate it if taxpayers would pay their bills as soon as possible," said McCauley.

Late payments after June 22 will be assessed 14 per cent interest from May 23.

Hours for the collector's offices are 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday to Friday.

AWARDS WERE PRESENTED to members of Troops 5 and 19 who placed first and second in a recent camporee. Attending the ceremonies at St. Boniface Church hall, Germantown, were, from left, Billy Griffith, Mike Sullivan, Michael Norton, Stephen Hallahan, Jason Currie, Wayne Sit, Chris Peck, Brian Toland and William Sit. The Houghs Neck troop also participated and placed fourth.

$150,000 Blaze Damages 5 Boats At Marina

Five boats at the Boston Harbor Marina, North Quincy, sustained an estimated $150,000 damage Sunday morning when a fire erupted in one of the vessels whose gas tank had apparently been overfilled.

According to Fire Chief Carl Valenti, the fire apparently began in a 19-foot boat owned by a man who identified himself as Herbert Silverman of Canton.

When Silverman realized that he had overfilled the tank and gas had leaked to the bottom of the boat, he attempted to retrieve the fuel with a Water Vac, Valenti said.

A spark from the electric machine ignited the fumes, according to the chief.

"He was very fortunate that he didn't get hurt," said Valenti, who explained that the fire extended to four other boats which were alongside.

Valenti said the other boats and their owners are Michael Kelly, an 18-foot MMG 1975 boat; Stephen Wallace, 18-foot Bayliner 1986; Michael Sorkin, 22-foot Hunter 1983; and Lee Laws, 24-foot Thompson 1973.

No addresses were available from the Fire Department or marina.

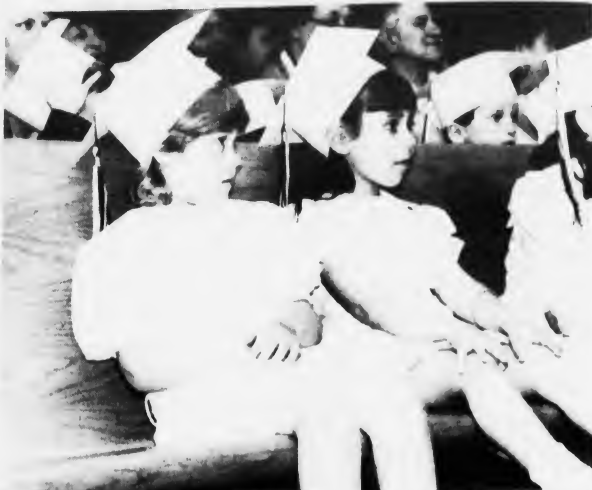

Valenti said that James Frye, a director at the marina, estimated the damage to the boats.

Silverman's boat was burned to the water line, Valenti said.

He praised the firefighters who worked in 90-degree temperatures to contain the blaze before it spread to the dock and other areas.

No injuries were reported according to Valenti, who said there were four pieces of apparatus at the scene from 9:36 a.m. to 10:52 a.m.

Acting Dep. Chief was Charles Sacchetti.

Council Briefs

The City Council took the following action at its meeting Monday night at City Hall:

- Held a joint public hearing with the Planning Board on increasing the number of members on the Zoning Board of Appeals from three to five.

Three people spoke in favor; no one was in opposition.

- Held a joint public hearing with the Planning Board on rezoning a portion of Newport Ave. Newport Terrace from Business C to Residence B.

Thirteen, including two city councilors, spoke in favor; no one was in opposition.

The City Council will await a recommendation by the Planning Board before it acts.

- Appropriated $41,000 to refinish the running track at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

- Appropriated $41,105 to repair, resurface and seal coat the five outdoor tennis courts adjacent to Quincy Vocational Technical School.

- Referred to the finance and ordinance committees a $3,000 increase for the position of assistant wire inspector.

Homeless Shelter May Not Be Ready Until Winter

A shelter for the homeless at the Broad St. site of the Registry of Motor Vehicles may take a little longer than anticipated.

According to city Personnel director David Smith, chairman of the Mayor's Committee to Find a Permanent Location for the Homeless, the registry is not expected to move before late fall due to a funding problem.

It plans to move from the city-owned building into Quincy Fair, Quincy Sq., which will offer more parking and office space.

The city had anticipated that the registry would move no later than September, and the Quincy Interfaith Sheltering Coalition would then begin renovating the building for a shelter.

"We can't control the registry," said Mayor Francis McCauley. "But we can be prepared for when they do move out."

"We'd all like to get this wrapped up as soon as possible."

"But these things always take time, especially in government."

McCauley said the city will aim to have the lease with the Interfaith Sheltering Coalition drawn up and approved by the City Council, and a renovation plan for the Broad St. building in place.

He noted that the later time frame will mean that the winter will be approaching when renovations to the building begin.

A temporary shelter for women has been housed at Quincy Point Congregational Church, and for men at Wollaston Lutheran Church.

Nancy Powers, executive director of the sheltering coalition, has said that she is not sure how long it might take to renovate the building.

But she has said that a shelter at the Faxon House at Quincy City Hospital was ready after a month's extensive remodeling.

The coalition would like the new shelter to house 40 men and women.

Smith said he hopes that an initial draft of the lease will be available to the mayor's committee before the end of June.

"The mayor and myself would really like to see this concluded," he said.

Fate Of Auxiliary Police Major Problem

"I hope the auxiliary police can be restored to serving the various organizations in the City of Quincy," said City Councillor Michael Cheney who has scheduled a meeting of his public safety committee on the issue Monday, June 15.

Police Chief Francis Finn, Auxiliary Police Chief Tony Siciliano, Asst. City Solicitor Paul Barbadoro and City Solicitor Joseph (Jay) MacRitchie have been invited to the City Hall meeting which begins at 6 p.m., Cheney said.

Auxiliary police patrols were halted by Finn late last year because he said the volunteer officers could leave the city open to a lawsuit. They had performed duties such as patrolling city buildings and crowd control.

"I hope we can come up with a resolution to the problem and specifically define the duties of the auxiliary police as to reduce the level of liability of the city," said Cheney.

"Ultimately, it is the decision of Chief Finn," he said.

Cheney noted that many charitable organizations cannot afford to pay a police detail as much as $600 for an event at which the auxiliary police can no longer perform its duties.

"Organizations are being severely hampered, and they may not be able to hold as many events," he said.

Cheney said that at a recent road race, citizens put on vests and directed traffic, a job the auxiliary police used to perform.

"What would be the liability on that?" he asked.

Mayor Francis McCauley noted that the auxiliary can be used only when there is a disaster or an emergency situation as deemed by Chief Finn.

"It's not something we're happy with, but we have to be cautious."

"Lawsuits are all too common, particularly against municipalities."

"We've been very pleased with the performance of the auxiliary police over the years," McCauley said. "But we have to be extremely careful not to be in a liability situation."

According to McCauley, the role of auxiliary police is a statewide problem which doesn't just affect Quincy.

"There should be statewide legislation to define the duties of the auxiliary police," McCauley said.

Meanwhile, 30 new auxiliary police officers were recently graduated from a program run by the Mass. Criminal Justice Training Council which cost the city $5,000.

Siciliano said that comparing the new, 60-hour program with the old training program was "like black and white."

"This is the best program in the state for that kind of training," he said.

Its subjects range from criminal law to apprehension and arrest, and prevention of suicide, according to Siciliano.

"We were told that we had to get proper police training to get back on the street," said Siciliano. "I'm more than satisfied with our program."

Siciliano said that he has already lost 30 auxiliary police and may lose more because of the diminished duties.

"It's frustrating. You want to give your time for free, and you are coming up against a stone wall," he said.

"I hope at the June 15 meeting that someone will say 'we're satisfied,' the council will get liability insurance for us, and we'll be back on the streets."

MAYOR FRANCIS MCCAULEY and his campaign manager, Eleanor Reidy, greeted those who were on hand at the Quincy Neighborhood Club for his announcement that he will seek a fourth term. Mrs. Reidy was his former personal secretary.

2-Day Liquor License Suspension

The city License Board Tuesday voted to suspend the all alcoholic beverage license of PCH Inc., doing business as The Hat Rack II, 709 Copeland St., for a period of two days, June 5-6, for violations of after hours sale of alcohol on the morning of January 8.

On the morning of Jan. 8, at approximately 2:15 a.m., Quincy police officers said they entered the bar and observed a total of eight persons, at least three of whom were drinking alcoholic beverages. The bar's closing hour is at 1 a.m.

The board made the decision to suspend the license in a hearing on March 13, at which time the licensee appealed the action to the Alcoholic Beverages Control Commission.

The ABCC recently approved the board's decision which allowed the board to suspend the bar's license for a period of two days.

Report Expected On Police Dept. Study

Mayor Francis McCauley said he expects to receive early next week a written report on the results of recently completed meetings on recommendations in a study of the Quincy Police Department.

"I want a report of what was accomplished," said McCauley.

According to the mayor, the last of four meetings was held Monday. It was attended by representatives of the Massachusetts Municipal Association, under whose direction the report was done, the consulting group which wrote the report, City Council, Mayor's Office and Police Department.

Late last year, the City Council voted unanimously to appropriate $8,900 towards implementation of recommendations in the largely critical police report.

The appropriation was to hire some of the authors of the report as consultants.

by the Police Department. The money was appropriated with the stipulation that any implementation be done

Bingo, Charity Games Net $854,601 Here

Bingo and charity games conducted in Quincy last year netted nearly $900,000 for church and civic organizations, Sen. Paul D. Harold reports.

Harold said an analysis of the state Lottery's 1986 Charitable Gaming Report showed that the 16 Lottery licensees in Quincy had gross receipts of $3.6 million, and made a profit of $894,601.94.

Sacred Heart Church led Quincy licensees, with revenues of $213,769, and profits of more than $178,000.

Bingo and charity games in Quincy generated more than $96,000 in city and town distributions and over $182,000 in proceeds to the state, Senator Harold said.

Statewide, bingo and charity games raised net revenues of $44.6 million on gross receipts of $242.9 million.

The 16 Quincy licensees included:

- Sons of Italy Lodge 1295, which made $48,068;
- Most Blessed Sacrament Church, which had revenues of $4,212, but showed no profit;

-- Congregation Adas Shalom Brotherhood, which made $18,281;

- Knights of Columbus 2259, which made $17,642;

- Montclair Mens Club, which had revenues of $3,335, but showed no profit;

- Senior Citizens Center, Inc., which made $835;

- Sacred Heart Church, which made $178,313;

- St. Boniface Church, which made $57,451;

- St. Joseph's School, which made $31,417;

Mayoral TV Debate Off

THE BIG MAYORAL debate scheduled for Quincy Cable TV Thursday, June 15 is off.

Both Mayor Francis McCauley and challenger Joseph LaRaia had originally agreed to appear. But LaRaia says he wants to wait.

"I think it is a little too early," he says. And there could be another candidate."

McCauley is willing to do a solo.

"Maybe we could still have the debate," he says. "An empty chair could be substituted for LaRaia."

A fall date is now under discussion.

IT'S BEGINNING TO look like there will be no City Council at-large preliminary election this year.

Seven candidates are needed to set the stage for a preliminary run-off in September.

But at the moment there are still only five sure contenders for the three at-large seats: incumbent Patricia Toland, (who hasn't officially announced but will seek re-election), Ward 5 and Council President Steve McGrath, Tim Cahill, Ron Iacobucci and Tom Koch.

Michael Condon, son of former Ward 6 Councillor Joanne Condon, has said he will run but as yet has made no official announcement.

There had been speculation he might have changed his mind but in April he said: "I'm definitely going to run."

He said he would make it official by the end of that month but another month has zipped by and he hasn't done so.

He said in April that he had been busy with personal and business matters -- buying a house on Elm St. and tending to his growing taxi and limousine service.

But even if he does make it official, that would only be six candidates -- still one shy for a preliminary election.

School Committeewoman Mary Gibbons at last report was still "thinking it over". So is Deputy Civil Defense Director Tony Siciliano.

But with the clock ticking away time is running out on making a decision.

Especially if that decision would create a preliminary election. Some campaigning time would be necessary.

Siciliano might be more apt to get in than Collins. He isn't too happy about the threatened curtailing of auxiliary police services. He is chief of the auxiliary police.

SICILIANO

Mayor Francis McCauley and Police Chief Francis Finn are concerned over potential liability suits that could be brought against auxiliary police members.

Siciliano feels this problem could be resolved through state legislation to protect auxiliary police from lawsuits or by a city ordinance establishing the category of special police officers.

The matter goes before the City Council's Public Safety Committee June 15 and Siciliano seems to have some support there.

But if the auxiliary police get shot down, it might push Siciliano into the City Council at-large race.

He says he has been told there would be no conflict on his part to run for the City Council.

FINN

MEANWHILE, School Committee Vice Chairman

Steve Durkin, who has been mentioned as a possible City Council at-large candidate, says no, thank you.

He will soon announce his candidacy for re-election to the School Committee.

"If I were going to run for the City Council, I would have gotten in early," he says. "But I would rather continue serving on the School Committee."

This election year, anyway.

HAROLD

SENATOR Paul Harold has strong backing in the business community on his Senate Bill 1868, also known as the "bad checks bill."

Anyone who bounces a bad check and fails to pay the amount to the payee in cash within 30 days would be liable for the amount of the check plus a fine up to $500, under the bill.

The legislation has the unanimous support of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce which notes that fraudulent checks cost Massachusetts business hundreds of thousands of dollars each year.

Fifteen states have bad check laws and they have found an up to 20 per cent drop in the number of bad checks issued, according to the Chamber.

We'd like to suggest an amendment to Harold's bill. How about making the person who bounces the check also liable for the fee the bank charges on checks that bounce?

Hospital Budget Issue Before Council Post Audit Committee

The City Council's Post Audit Committee, chaired by Councillor Joseph LaRaia, will meet tonight (Thursday) at 7 p.m. to again take up the question of asking the mayor to submit the hospital budget to the council for action.

"The mayor has not submitted the hospital budget to the council, since he first became mayor, in the last five and a half years," said

LaRaia.

"He has interpreted the legislation setting up the enterprise account as not requiring the mayor council to approve the budget."

"His interpretation is now being questioned -- not the home rule law that was passed by the City Council in 1981 of which I was a member, voting for this measure."

Mayor Francis McCauley

last week questioned the timing of the contention by LaRaia who is running for mayor, and noted that LaRaia had voted for the account.

"My insistence on council approval of this budget comes as a result of thorough legal research by an experienced attorney in municipal law who has worked previously for the late James R. McIntyre and myself when I served as mayor in 1976-1977," LaRaia said.

"I am very confident that this legal opinion is correct and is in the best interest of the public in requiring a budget approval by the City Council. The City Council would simply review the budget and approve the amounts under each category of planned expenditure. The City Council can only cut the budget; they cannot increase it, and I see no reason why the Mayor would deny the Council its right under law to approve funds as they do for all other City departments."

"The 1981 Act for the Hospital, Chapter 312, Section 4, reads: 'The Director of the Hospital is required annually, not later than 60 days prior to the expiration of each fiscal year, to submit to the Mayor and City Council a budget.' The new fiscal year for the Hospital begins Oct. 1. The budget is due us by July 31, 1987."

Durkin Says:

New School Superintendent Should Have Classroom, Administrative Experience

Quincy School Committee vice chairman Stephen J. Durkin thinks the new school superintendent should ideally be "an individual who is capable of exciting the community about education."

"It's a challenging task in a city with such a proportionately small number of parents of school-age children," said Durkin, as he addressed a group of parents at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Nickerson, 74 Pratt Rd., Squantum.

"We ought to look for a superintendent who recognizes the importance of meaningful parent involvement, and who is willing to encourage and able to inspire parents to become involved."

Durkin also stressed the importance of a superintendent with classroom teaching experience and successful administrative experience.

"(We need) someone who will be able to work well with, and motivate, our staff, with little tolerance for incompetence or mediocrity."

"Whether the School

STEVE DURKIN

Committee hires a person from within or without the school system, our next superintendent must have the ability and the desire to be the educational leader of our city, with the ultimate goal of making Quincy's school system second to none.

"At the outset, let me say that I'm sorry to see Quincy's current school superintendent,

John Osterman, leaving the system. Mr. Osterman lent to the school system a much needed stability during a very difficult period, and I am grateful to him for his contributions to the school system, and for the important progress that has been made under his leadership during the last three years.

"The hiring of the next superintendent of schools in Quincy is the most critical decision facing the school committee in many years. The school system is at a crossroads in terms of the educational path it will follow in many areas, and the next superintendent will, of course, play an important role in determining those paths and, hopefully, in steering the school system along the road to excellence.

"We ought to be looking for a superintendent who is progressive and visionary, but who has a proven track record of achieving results...someone who is innovative, but not just for the sake of innovation...an individual who will not be afraid to make sweeping changes, if that's what it takes to improve the school system.

"Quincy's next superintendent must recognize that the schools have to continue to respond to the changing needs of the consumers of education, our children, by exploring the possibility of expanded pre-school programs and expanded after-school recreational and educational enrichment programs.

"Clearly, the future of Quincy's school system depends upon the willingness of the city to make a greater financial commitment to education, to help our schools restore and develop programs, and to maintain our school facilities. Quincy's next superintendent must be willing to aggressively advocate for and pursue needed funding for our schools."

Durkin also spoke on the subject at a recent meeting of the Quincy League of Women Voters at the home of Atty. and Mrs. Robert Quinn, 20 Dixwell Ave.

The Word Is 'No' To QJC Merger

review in the state legislature. Richard Pessin, director of admissions, said QJC's liberal arts tuition, although higher than other state community colleges, is still far below tuition rates at private colleges.

According to Pessin, 75 percent of QJC day students receive aid, more than any other community college. Pessin said this is true primarily because many students reside in low income areas.

"We want a fair and equitable tuition structure for the students we serve," Keogh said. "We don't want multi-million dollar campuses. We don't want to give up the uniqueness of this college."

According to Pessin, the proposed merger is not the same situation as Massasoit's take-over of Blue Hills Regional Technical Community College.

"Quincy Junior College is not losing money. In fact, we have a small surplus of funds," Pessin said.

Hamilton-Davis said QJC offers "quality education and a very good faculty."

As examples of the college's academic excellence, she said one recent nursing student scored a perfect score on her license practicing exam and the percentage of nursing students passing the registered nurse test is higher at QJC than at four year colleges.

Both exams are administered by the state, Hamilton-Davis said.

Pessin said the area that QJC serves "has nothing in common with Brockton." He said Quincy, unlike Brockton, has an extensive public transportation system to help those without automobile access. Also, Pessin said the commute from the South Shore to Brockton is "inconvenient" since there is no direct highway serving that route.

Steve Durkin, vice chairman of the Quincy School Committee, said a merger would result in Quincy administrators relinquishing control over the city-owned school.

As proposed, Gerard Burke, president of Massasoit, would become the new president of the three-campus system and have a strong supervisory role, Jennifer said. The other campuses would also have a person to make the daily operational decisions but they would not be "Quasi-president," according to Jennifer.

Durkin, who did not rule out the possibility of a merger said an administrator such as a chancellor would be needed to run QJC.

In addition to being concerned about competition among area community colleges, Durkin said QJC must continue to be a viable junior college in Quincy.

"If Quincy Junior College is to compete with other community colleges and remain affordable we may have to consider a merger under appropriate conditions," Durkin said.

Eleanor Villard Receives Degree

Eleanor O. Villard of Quincy has received a master of business administration degree from Anna Maria College in Paxton. She is a money market officer at South Shore Bank.

According to enrollment figures, about 75 per cent of QJC students live in Quincy, Braintree, Weymouth and Boston. Students from those four communities plus those from Milton, Randolph, Hingham and Hull make up 90 per cent of QJC's enrollment.

There were 1055 day students and 288 evening students for a 1987 fall enrollment of 1343. There were 971 students enrolled during the 1985-86 school year.

"They are coming to Quincy Junior College because of the program," Pessin said.

"If the students in this area wanted, could or should go to Brockton, then they would go to Brockton," Keogh said.

Quincy's Yesterdays

Seek Alternate Site For Vo-Tech School

The City Council was seeking an alternate site for the proposed Quincy Vocational Technical School, the estimated cost of which had soared from $3.6 million to $5 million.

June 3-9,

23 Years Ago

One of the reasons for the rising cost estimates was the expense of site preparation and development at the chosen location, the Faxon family property across Coddington St. from the YMCA.

One site that was attracting considerable attention from members of the City Council was the old Coddington School, occupied by the Quincy Junior College. It could save up to $3.4 million.

School Committeeman Francis Anselmo, however, defended the Faxon site in a panel discussion at the Quincy Health Center and urged the Council to "follow through" with a vote to avoid the expense of delay.

LARAIA VS. PLANNERS

City Council President Joseph J. LaRaia recommended elimination of the post of City Planning Director, charging that the current director, James E. Lee, was "rich in theory but lacking in production."

Lee was asked to appear before the Council "to explain and justify the action of his department."

Lee, in turn, charged that LaRaia's "thirst for political power is becoming well known. Nothing else would explain his unwarranted attack on a dedicated public servant."

Frying Fish The Easy Way

No matter where I go, the subject of food and recipes follows me. Now you wouldn't think that I would pick up a recipe at a men's bowling banquet, but I did, last week.

We were seated with other couples and awaiting our dinners and wondering what kind of Chinese food we would get, since it was ordered by the teams. A man and his wife were sitting opposite my husband and me. His name, "Whitey" was printed on his bright red jacket. We began talking about fried clams, fish and seafood in general. A longtime fisherman, Whitey told me about the easiest way to fry fish. His wife agreed that it was simple and especially tasty. Although I have used many coatings for fish, I have to admit that this was easy and in using a teflon type frying pan, I didn't use much oil.

Here it is:
To fry 2 pounds of fish (any kind) I used cod this time. Mix 4 cups of bisquick and one cup seasoned breadcrumbs. Put in a bag. Place fish filets in the bag and move around until all fish is coated. I used about a quarter of cup of vegetable oil. You can use any kind you like. Let the oil get real hot, and then fry each piece until brown. None of the coatings fell off the fish and it was very delicious. I served it with fresh lemon wedges.

Thanks Whitey, you were right!

Quincy Hospital Offers Free Blood Sugar Screenings

The Diabetes Education Hospital will sponsor a free Department at Quincy City diabetic blood sugar screening at Granite Place, 125 Granite St., Quincy, Thursday, June 18, from 10 a.m. to noon.

During the afternoon hours, a screening will be held at the Hancock Court Apartments (above 21 School St.) in Quincy from 1 until 3 p.m.

The screening consists of a blood test by simple finger stick. Fasting before the test is not required, and blood sugar results are provided in two minutes.

Recent screenings throughout the community have been successful in identifying persons with elevations in blood sugar for referral to their physicians.

The program is under the direction of Arleen Feretti, R.N., C.D.E., Certified Diabetes Educator and Kathleen Zagrodny, R.D., Registered Dietitian at the hospital, who will be available to perform the test and answer questions.

Children's Sunday At United First Parish

United First Parish Unitarian Church, Quincy Center, will hold a Children's Sunday service June 7 at 10:30 a.m.

The service will open with a reading from Marjorie Leaming, "What is Religious about Our Religious Education?"

Carol Pickel will lead the Union Affirmation, "We Believe," and third graders Alyssa Costello, Angela Bohl, and Gisele Edwards will light the flaming chalice.

Rev. Sheldon Bennett will read Matthew 5:14, Jesus' words on the importance of each person sharing his/her own light with others, then lead the congregational response to the chalice lighting, which is derived from that Biblical story.

Barbara Wignin will read Rev. Scott Meek's story, "A Church Without Lights," and lead the song "This Little Light of Mine."

Each class in the church school will do a brief presentation from the year's program.

Level I, with teachers Cindy Adams and Joyce Sullivan, will exhibit pictures from "Teaching Children to Care" and teach the congregation to say "I love you" in sign language.

Level II, with teachers Bernadette Davidson and Brenda Chin, will tell some of the Old Testament myths read during the year and lead the congregation in singing "One More River to Cross."

Level III, with teachers Celia Blight and Linda Williams, will present some of their thoughts on the curriculum "How Can I Know What to Believe?" and lead into the meditation with a poem they composed.

Ruth Keating will present the attendance certificates and ribbons. Youth Choir Director Sally Bohl will present pins to members of the Youth Choir.

Mary Vallier will give each child a tomato plant from her garden, a favorite Children's Sunday tradition at United First Parish.

Past chairman of the Religious Education Committee, Celia Blight and 8-year old Marc Adams will extinguish the chalice, while Ross Edwards closes the service with "Let Our's Be a Religion" from Theodore Parker.

Church school children will greet, usher, and serve refreshments during the social hour that follows the service at 11:30 a.m.

This service concludes the church school program for the summer. Classes and Child Care will resume in September.

Confirmation Sunday At Bethany Church

The Rite of Confirmation will be administered during the 10 a.m. worship service Sunday, June 7, in Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center.

The following five young people will be confirmed into full membership by the "laying on of hands" and prayers: Elyshia E. Goddard, Barbara A. Jones, Linda J. Massey, Elizabeth K. Roberts, and Heather J. Stuart.

Rev. Joel F. Huntington, associate minister, will give the meditation on "Finding Your Niche," based on scripture readings from Acts 2:1-4 and the Gospel of Luke 5:12-16.

Rev. J. William Arnold, will serve as the liturgist. Both pastors will share in the Confirmation ceremony. The class will be presented by Deacon James W. Ross, chairman of the Church Committee.

All five confirmands will participate in the worship service by leading the call to worship, invitational prayer, reading the scriptures, leading the statement of faith, and the closing prayer of thanksgiving.

The congregation will join in a special "Confirmants' Statement of Faith," which is a composite of belief statements prepared by the young people of the class.

Each of the confirmands will receive a gift an Oxford RSV Bible, which contains references and notes designed as an aid to serious Bible study.

The chancel choir, under the direction of Bethany's organist, Peter I. Kraminski, will sing the anthem, "Lauda Anima" by Andrews.

The sacrament of Holy Communion will also be celebrated and the confirmands will receive their first Communion.

The deacons and deaconesses serving the Communion will be Edith Arslan, Irene Belcher, Lena Foster, Corinne Mikami, and Kinya Mikami.

The service will also be broadcast "live" direct from Bethany's sanctuary at 10 a.m. over South Shore radio WJDA, 130.4c. The Communion commentary during the broadcast will be given by Sandra Jones.

Sunday School will be in session beginning at 10 a.m. with classes for pre-school through 8th grade. Nursery care will be provided for babies and toddlers during the worship service.

At 11 a.m. there will be a fellowship hour in the Allen Parlor, during which time the newly confirmed young people may be greeted personally.

For additional information concerning Bethany ministries and programs, contact the church office at 479-7300.

Confirmation, Communion At Wollaston Congregational

Confirmation and the sacrament of Holy Communion will be celebrated Sunday, June 7, Pentecost Sunday, at the 10 a.m. service at Wollaston Congregational Church.

Rev. Elden D.J. Zuern will preach the sermon titled, "Filled with the Spirit." Reading the scriptures will be Tammy Paulson and Jamie Tapper.

Greeters will be Reney and Karl Olson.

Ushers will be Sue Grenough and Steve Gutro. Acolytes will be Erik Schwendenman and Jamie Tapper.

At 11 a.m., immediately following the worship service, a fellowship hour will be held in the social hall to which all members and friends are invited.

On Saturday, June 6 the Singles and Doubles group will host a Progressive Supper. Reservations must be made through the church office.

At 11:15 a.m. a meeting of the Retreat Committee will be held. The annual retreat will be held at the Craigville Conference Center Sept. 25-26. It will be led by the Rev. Owen Channon, a minister of the Presbyterian Church of Canada.

Memorial Sunday Observed At Squantum Church

Memorial Sunday was observed at the First Church of Squantum, a day on which to honor the memory of loved ones who have died.

Highlight of the service was a memorial prayer by the pastor, the Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin.

The Chancel Choir sang "Hymn of Thanksgiving" as arranged by E. Kremer. The congregation sang "For All the Saints," "Strong Son of God, Immortal Love," and "Onward, Christian Soldiers." Janet Williamson accompanied the hymns on the piano while Mary Ruth Scott played the organ.

Dr. Langevin preached on the subject, "What Is the Christian's Warfare?"

Kate MacRitchie and Evan Martin were the greeters. Stewart Scott and Lore Wallin the ushers. Barbara Chapman and Pat Olson hosted the Fellowship Hour after the service.

This Sunday the young people of the church will sponsor a Pentecost breakfast at 9:15 a.m. before the Pentecost service for the whole church at 10:30 a.m. Reservations can be made by calling Hazel Mayne at 325-4367.

Blood Pressure Screenings At Quincy Hospital

conduct a free blood pressure screening for the public Tuesday, June 16, in the Ambulatory Care Department from 1:30 to 3 p.m.

The screenings, performed by nursing staff, will enable individuals to keep track of their blood pressure, and be aware of dangerous elevations in the pressure. Persons in need of referral to a physician, will be advised to do so.

The screenings, which will take place on the first and third Tuesday of each month, are free of charge.

Howard MacKay Announces For Ward 3 Seat

Howard A. MacKay, 48, of 19 Ardell St., Montclair, announces he will again be a candidate for the City Council seat from Ward 3.

A 17-year-resident of the city, MacKay said:

"My excellent showing two years ago has prompted my decision. In the two years since the last election, I have been in constant attendance at City Council meetings; I have walked through the neighborhoods of Ward 3 and have sought out the opinions and feelings of the residents. We all agree that this is the year for a change. We are tired of unfulfilled promises and problems which are the same today as they were two years ago."

HOWARD MACKAY

MacKay, a chemist who has recently been promoted to applications manager for Shipley Company, Newton, said incumbent John J. Lydon has not come to grips with the major problems facing the residents of Ward 3.

Two years ago, he said Lydon promised the problem of traffic at Montclair, State Street South, Brook St., Beal St. and Newport Ave. would be a major priority of his coming term.

"Two years later, the problem remains, if anything, made worse by the rapid increase in the number of motorists in these areas," he said.

Recently, MacKay submitted to the mayor a petition with over 300 signatures of Ward 3 residents who requested that a school zone light be installed at the Montclair School and traffic lights be installed at the intersection of Harvard and Evan Sts. These, according to residents, are two of the major traffic trouble spots in the area.

"If I am elected as councillor for Ward 3, I will make the resolution of these problems, one of my top priorities," said MacKay.

MacKay said he is also concerned with the many other problems which face not only the ward but also the city at large, such as over development, density, air pollution, sewage and trash disposal, education and the lack of a master plan for Quincy's future.

All of these problems, and more, demand the attention of a councillor concerned with the welfare of his ward and his city, according to MacKay.

He cites the recent introduction of a plan to rezone Wollaston and North Quincy as Business D, as an indication of the lack of concern manifested by the incumbent councillor and others for the residents of the city. "Fortunately, for us, the opposition to this proposal has been overwhelming," said

MacKay.

"I see that many of these problems can be resolved in the near future," MacKay said. "However, a solution is possible only if the mayor and the City Council work closely together for the welfare of our city."

"We must all work together," he states, "to maintain this city as a great place to live, not only for longtime residents but also for those new residents who come seeking a good place to live and raise a family."

As the father of three sons who have all attended the Quincy Public Schools, MacKay said he is deeply concerned with the welfare of the youth of the city. He has been an active member of Boy Scout Troops 19 and 27, as well as, a member of the Quincy Citizen's Association, the Montclair Men's Club and the North Quincy Swim Team Booster's Club.

"If I am elected as your councillor from Ward 3," says MacKay, "I promise that I will be available for consultation at your convenience. I will be here when you need me."

Golden Discusses Harbor Cleanup At QCA

Sen William Golden of Weymouth was scheduled to give the Quincy Citizens Association an update on the Boston Harbor cleanup at a meeting last night (Wednesday) at 8 p.m. at the Montclair Men's Club, Holbrook Rd.

Golden, a former Squantum resident and Quincy city solicitor, was to report on progress as seen by his Save the Harbor - Save the Bay citizens group monitoring the activities of the Water Resources Commission.

He was also to discuss the possibility of reactivating train service to the South Shore and Cape Cod.

An update on the City Council's pending decision on the QCA CAPP six-story height limit reduced density petition was also scheduled.

MANY PEOPLE HAVE PREARRANGED THEIR OWN FUNERAL

In fact 31% of Americans have prearranged funerals. Another 31% think it is very important. These people want their wishes known. They are aware that a funeral guarantees their family and friends a meaningful way to express their grief. They also know that placing funds aside in an irrevocable trust will guard against inflation.

We are members of the NEW ENGLAND TRUST. We can help you with all aspects of funeral preplanning. Please write for our free brochure No Greater Kindness For Those You Love.

D. Scott Deware

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

How many times have you heard someone say: "I did it alone," or "He did it without any help"? Oftentimes when someone has reached the top - people tend to think he did it completely alone. Most of the time this is not true. Many times the "other person" doesn't get deserved credit for helping ... Sometimes, however, he does ...

For example - did you know that when Edmund Hillary conquered Mount Everest, the world's tallest mountain, he almost didn't make it back? On the descent from the peak he slipped and fell downward into a crevasse. He called out to his guide, a little man named Tenzing Norkey, who was a Sherpa tribesman from Nepal. Upon seeing Hillary's predicament he dug his ax into the ice and held the rope tight. He was able to stop Hillary's fall 15 feet below. Inch by inch, he pulled the fallen climber to safety.

Later, in camp, Hillary told the rest of the party about his guide's heroism. Norkey shrugged it off saying, "Climbers always help each other."

Isn't a good lesson to be learned from this? Throughout life, whether climbing upward, ourselves, or if someone else is ascending, we need each other's help. Is this not true? ...

Chretien Calls For Ward 3 Community Center

Larry Chretien, candidate for Ward 3 City Councillor, has written a letter to the City Department of Planning and Community Development calling for the establishment of a community center in that ward.

Chretien's letter commented on the city's proposed allocation of funds from the Federal Community Development Block Grant program. The city is proposing $165,625 to support the operation of its seven existing community centers, none of which are in Ward 3.

Chretien wrote: "As we all know, community centers have been extremely successful in the other five wards in terms of providing basic human services and in terms of providing a place where citizens can meet as neighbors. Given the needs for preventive health care, child care, recreational opportunities, and the like, the quality of life for people in Ward 3 would be greatly enhanced by the establishment of a community center."

Chretien also called for increasing from $150,000 to $500,000 CDBG funds allocated to the city's new Affordable Housing Corporation. He said, "In my opinion, the lack of affordable housing is, by far, Quincy's most pressing economic problem. Given the extent and depth of the housing crisis, $500,000 is an amount that could be well spent."

By JANE ARENA

The city License Board Tuesday continued for one month a hearing concerning dangerous traffic conditions at Squantum Donuts Inc., 388 East Squantum St.

Two weeks ago the board recommended that the East Squantum St. entrance to the shop be eliminated by use of barriers and that the traffic flow be monitored for improvement.

Last week the shop's owner, Paul P. Govostes, told the board that this solution would hurt his business and asked for a new hearing to discuss a different proposal.

Govostes and his attorney proposed that the curb on Quincy Shore Dr. be extended in order to narrow the curb-cut and prevent cars from turning illegally off Quincy Shore Dr. to enter the shop.

Govostes told the board that he had met with Rona Goodman, president of the Squantum Community Association, and that she was not in opposition to the new proposal. Goodman, who was present at the hearing, indicated however that something must be done soon to improve the traffic conditions at the site.

The board told Govostes that each proposal should be tried by use of temporary barriers over a trial period of one month. After the trial period both solutions will be evaluated by the MDC police to determine a permanent solution to the problem.

Kids Fair, Human Services Day June 9

Water Conservation Week

Mayor Francis X. McCauley has proclaimed the week of June 7 through 13 as "Water Conservation Week."

"Water is a precious resource which is vital to both the environment and economic well-being of the people of the City of Quincy," McCauley said.

"Water conservation is a proven and successful way to extend existing water supplies."

Children's Program Registration At Crane Library June 9

Registration for summer programs for children will be held Tuesday, June 9, from 2:30 until 3:30 p.m. at the Thomas Crane Public Library, Quincy Sq.

A variety of activities will be held simultaneously and repeated during the hour long registration period.

Since the library is computerizing many of its functions, the summer program theme is "Join Our Summer Circuit." Toddlers, ages two and three, will decorate a robot name tag when their parents register them for Toddler Time which will be held at the Adams

Shore Branch Library.

Pre schoolers, ages three, four and five, who register for film programs planned for the North Quincy Branch Library will make a bookmark with a computer design.

A computer disk throw will challenge six, seven and eight year olds who register for the Wollaston Branch Library's story hour. Youngsters eight through 12 will register by computer for "Tales through Time" scheduled for central children's at the Quincy Sq. library.

A special series of family programs will be held at the Quincy Sq. library on Tuesday evenings during July and August.

"Tell Us a Tale" will feature four evenings of storytelling featuring prominent Massachusetts story tellers Ellen Block and Laura Pershin of West of the Moon, Sumer McClain, Lee Min Mo, and George Capaccio. These programs are funded by the Quincy Arts Council and will alternate with film showings. They are offered to families with children age five and older.

Summer program schedules will be available on registration day, June 9, and subsequently at all library units.

A FASHION SHOW and dinner will be held by Carebral Palsy of the South Shore Tuesday evening, the Quincy Sons of Italy Social Center, Quincy. Tickets are available by calling 479-7443. From left, are Thomas Zukauskas, associate director; Bob Dreyfus, chairman; Janice Matyke, teacher, with Jonathan Amaral; Joyce Burrows, secretary, with Niya Proctor; Sabina Kavanaugh, president; and Arthur Ciampa, executive director.

The Quincy Historical Society will sponsor a trip to Windsor Locks and Woodstock, Conn. Monday, June 15.

The group will travel to Connecticut by air conditioned bus, leaving the Adams Academy at 8 a.m. and returning at approximately 6 p.m.

A visit to the New England Air Museum, formerly Bradley Air Museum—which has a display of over 75 aircraft with the guided tour including a 1909 Bleriot XI to a modern 1,000 mph Thunderchief is planned.

Lunch at the Villa Rosa Restaurant includes a choice of fillet of sole or veal cutlet Parmagian (with spaghetti or shells), potatoes, vegetable, tea, coffee and dessert.

The group will then proceed to Woodstock, to visit "Roseland Cottage" an 1846 Gothic Revival house built by Henry C. Bowen. Guests entertained in the Pink House included Presidents Grant, Hayes, Harrison and McKinley.

The last stop on the trip will be Woodstock Pottery where reproductions of old-time redware can be found.

Cost of the trip, including transportation, lunch, and admissions fees is $40 for Society members and $42 for non-members. Make reservations by calling the Quincy Historical Society office, 773-1144 by June 10.

Correction

It was reported in the May 21 edition of the Quincy Sun that John Malvesti won 10 medals in the Senior Olympics and that Dot Gavin was the top medal winner with

Crime Watch

By ROBERT HANNA
Crime Prevention Officer
Quincy Police Department

How Secure Is Your Home?

Have you ever thought about the security of your home?

Are the locks of good quality? Can you secure your windows to prevent a break in?

How is the lighting around your home during the evening? Are the shrubs around your home overgrown to the point that someone could hide undetected behind them?

These are some of the questions that will be answered if you had a home security survey done.

During the month of June, the Quincy Police Crime Prevention Unit will provide free home security surveys to Quincy residents.

If you are interested in a free survey, please call 479-1212, ext. 368 to make an appointment.

The Quincy Police Drug Information line is working our well. Two arrests were made this past week as a result of information called in on this line and several other investigations are well under way as a result of information received. Remember "Drugs are ruining the health of a generation of young Americans." You can help stop this by reporting drug abuse to the Quincy Police Drug Information Line. You will not be required to identify yourself.

QJC Graduates Told: 'Tremendous Economic Opportunity Available'

Commencement speaker Mrs. Isabel Dole, president of the Northern Mortgage Company told the graduates there is a "tremendous economic opportunity" available to them on the South Shore.

She encouraged them to seek careers that they enjoy, rather than looking for the job that would pay the most money.

Mrs. Dole also spoke of her ability to overcome the discrimination of others against a woman president. She encouraged the graduates to rise above any discrimination they might encounter and to do the best they can at their future jobs.

Dr. Clayton Johnson, president of QJC, told the graduates to be proud of their success. He emphasized that the college and the School Committee had been "true to their educational philosophy in providing a public community college education for our citizens."

Mayor Francis McCauley and School Supt. John Osterman brought greetings to the graduates.

Paul A.M. Hunt, chairman of the Community Association of Quincy and the South Shore received applause when he indicated that the association would say "No" to a subordinate merger with Massachusetts Community College.

The invocation and benediction were delivered by Rabbi Jacob Mann of Beth Israel Synagogue.

Music was by the Massachusetts National Guard of which a number of the graduating students are members.

Quincy Junior College offers courses to receive Associates in Science for Business Administration at National Guard sites.

The graduates:
Associate in Arts: Deborah J. Buckley, Tracy J. Campbell, George I. Cavanaugh, Stephen DeLuca, Virginia I. Doyle, Carol P. Godfrey, Ian M. Heusch, Raymond F. Hunt, Jr., Laura J. Lacey, Gael M. Leary, Karen F. Lofton, Michelle M. Marr, Carole D. McDonough, Judith M. Nittinger, Darren J. O'Neil,

PAUL A.M. HUNT, chairman of the Community Association of Quincy and the South Shore, got a round of applause when he said the association would say "no" to a subordinate merger with another community college.

COMMENCEMENT speaker Mrs. Isabel Dole, president of Northern Mortgage Co., tells Quincy Junior College students of "the tremendous economic opportunity available on the South Shore."

Judith A. Phillips, Linda J. Robinson, Miguelina Santiago, John Skovera, Robert J. Thorne, Leslie J. Townsend, Cheryl J. Verney.

Associate in Science: Kathleen A. Abbott, Ann M. Aiello, Fileen M. Allen, Beverly Armstrong, Catherine A. Arsenault, Sharon A.

Bailey, Albert L. Baj, Jonathan W. Ballage, Annemarie Beckira, Karen Beckwith, Douglas M. Beek, Maureen T. Bent, Joseph Berlinguet, Pasquale J. Bianchi, Jr., Christine M. Blount, Lettie E. Bouldoukian, Joseph P. Brandi, Michael R. Paula E. Clark-Volpe, Harry

Over 200 Honor Rickson At Retirement Dinner

By TOM SULLIVAN

More than 200 friends, teaching colleagues, former students and former college classmates gathered at the Neighborhood Club to pay tribute to Ken Rickson, who recently retired after 35 years in the Quincy public schools in a variety of positions.

Words of praise flowed freely as several speakers paid tribute and made several presentations.

Supt. of Schools John Osterman pointed out how the physical education program grew and grew under Rickson's leadership after he succeeded LaRoy "Curly" Rogers as physical education instructor and later became physical education coordinator.

"Ken did a wonderful job as physical education director and was truly dedicated," Osterman said. "When Proposition 2 came along and we had to cut several jobs, including his, he took it calmly and told me he would go wherever I wanted. He taught in the various elementary schools and the kids loved him."

Steve Durkin, vice-chairman of the school committee, expressed the best wishes of the committee.

Jack Buckley, president of the Quincy Education Association, presented the guest of honor with a Paul Revere Bowl and Carl Leone, former coordinator of athletics, presented a gift.

Richard Eriksen, one of Rickson's former students, presented a sweater and a humorous T-shirt.

William Powers of the New England Lawn Tennis Association, also spoke, citing Rickson's prowess as one of the top tennis players in New England. (In 1983 the N.E.T.A. named the Ricksons the number one tennis family in New England).

Marv Lydon, who was associated with Rickson for several years in physical education and who was toastmistress for the evening, presented a certificate of appreciation from the Mass. Association for Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Dance.

Ralph Frazier, another former student and a physical education teacher at North described Rickson as "tough but compassionate." Frazier, who later led Duxbury High to several wrestling championships and is now athletic director at Silver Lake Regional High School, thanked Rickson for playing a large part in him going to Boston University. "I know Ken had a lot to do with many others going on to college," he said.

Also paying tribute were Henry McQuillite, a longtime friend and tennis partner, and John Pierce, a former student of Rickson and now principal of Sandwich High School.

Rickson's son, Ken, who flew up from Florida where he is a teacher, spoke briefly and Bill Dempsey, director of athletics in the Weymouth schools, presented Ken with the major gift of the night, a set of golf clubs from everyone present.

Rickson thanked those present for coming and distributed one of several educational games he developed to each table. Those present played the game along with him.

The evening ended with a sing-along led by entertainer Charles Ross.

Rickson began his Quincy career in 1953 when he became physical education instructor. He succeeded John Mullarkey as boys' basketball coach in 1960 and his final team made the Tech Tourney, defeating Lawrence but losing to Duxbury.

He became assistant to the late Munroe MacLean, director of athletics, physical education and health, in 1965 and in 1967 succeeded Mac as coordinator of physical education. Carl Leone became director of athletics.

In 1980 he returned to Boston University, from where he graduated, and earned his doctorate in motor learning and motor behavior. During his three years he taught reading and math in the elementary schools.

It was while in the elementary schools that he developed several educational games.

Road Race Sunday To Help Clean Up Wollaston Beach

Tony's Clam Shop is organizing a 10k (6.2-mile) road race in order to help clean up Wollaston Beach.

All proceeds will be placed in a special account until a

North Girls Seeded 4th In Tourney

By TOM SULLIVAN

The North Quincy girls' softball team refused to rest on its laurels after clinching an Eastern Mass. Tournament berth and finished up strong with three wins last week to wind up with a fine 16-2 record.

Barbara Webster's Raiderettes are seeded fourth in the tournament and opened tournament play Tuesday against 13th seeded Norwood. If they won they play the Barnstable-Somerset winner today (Thursday).

"The girls did a wonderful job all season and I think we should do all right in the tournament," said Webster. "We had fine pitching from Kristin Drake and Ann Anderlionis and received good hitting from several girls."

Drake pitched the first 14 games of the season and was 12-2. Anderlionis, who was sidelined until the final two weeks, pitched the final four games and was 4-0. Anne McGuiggan was the Suburban League's top batter and Nancy Leonard and Nancy Flukes were also among the top batters.

In its final game last Thursday North squeezed by Waltham, 2-1, in one of the best games of the year.

Waltham took a 1-0 lead in the fourth and the lead stood until the last inning. Anderlionis tied the score with a home run, Flukes singled, Lisa Mitton and McGuiggan walked and freshman Crystal Moffet singled the winning runs home.

In their previous game the Raiderettes rolled over Brookline, 16-2, with Anderlionis pitching a three-hitter and striking out seven.

Flukes had three hits and four RBI and Mitton also drove in four runs with a double and single.

Earlier in the week North edged Newton North, 4-3, with Moffet saving the bacon with an outstanding defensive play in the seventh with the bases loaded and two outs.

Anderlionis pitched shutout ball until the seventh when Newton scored its three runs but was foiled by Moffet's outstanding play.

North scored all four runs in the third. Colleen Hannon had a two-run single and Tricia Grant drove in a run with a single.

THE NORTH QUINCY girls softball team, which finished with an outstanding 16-2 record, is the fourth-seeded team in the Eastern Mass. Tournament. Front, left to right, Ane McGuiggan, Colleen Hannon, Nancy Leonard, Tricia Grant and Ann Anderlionis. Back, Kristin Drake, Lisa Mitton, Nancy Flukes and Sarah Harrington. Missing from photo are Crystal Moffet, Karin Reister and Karrie Pistorino.

Zone 6 Legion Season Opens June 9

The Zone 6 American Legion baseball season will get under way next Tuesday with Morrisette, Quincy and Wollaston again competing.

There is a different playoff format this season with the top four teams meeting in the best of three series to determine who will represent the zone in the state playoffs.

Quincy will get under way Tuesday night at 8:30 at Adams against Holbrook. Wednesday Wollaston will host Randolph at 8:30 at Adams and Morrisette will meet Carter Post at Dorchester High Field at 6. On Friday, June 12, it will be Wollaston and Morrisette at 8:30 at Adams Field and Quincy at Randolph at 6.

Ed Spring and Dick Laracy are back as Quincy's coaches and they are pleased with the team's prospects. The team looked good in five exhibition games and most of the players will return next year.

Quincy's 18-player roster is set but the starting outfield is still uncertain.

The pitchers are Robbie Higgins of B.C. High, Jim Dennis, Joe Taylor and Bob Laracy of Quincy High and Steve Happas of North Quincy.

Last year's starting infield is back intact with Bill Mulken of Abp. Williams at first base, Happas at second, Higgins at shortstop and Sean Gately of B.C. High at third. Joe Gately of B.C. High will back up Mulken at first.

Sun Sports

The catching is handled by returning Kyle Robertson and backup Mike Toland, both of B.C. High. Toland, an outstanding hitter, will also see action at other spots.

The outfield has three returnees, Kevin Duffy of Don Bosco, Peter Tufts of North Quincy and Bill Roche of B.C. High. Others trying out for outfield spots are Nick Dragone of Quincy, Jim Kerns of Abp. Williams, speedster Paul McLellan of Abp. Williams and Dennis.

Dragone and Kerns also will play in the infield along with Tim Baker of North Quincy and Richie Bryant of Don Bosco.

Frustrating Season For First Ladies

The Quincy girls' softball team completed its season in frustrating fashion, losing four games last week to finish with a 3-15 record.

The First Ladies ended their season last Friday, losing to Medford, 10-3.

The day before Quincy lost a 15-12 slugfest to Cambridge Rindge and Latin as it lost leads of 5-0 and 11-6.

Suburban League all-star Terry Duggan, one of the top five batters in the league, went 2-for-4, including a home run and drove in three runs.

In their previous game the First Ladies bowed to Weymouth South, 9-4, after taking a 4-2 lead. Duggan had a single and scored a run for Quincy.

Earlier in the week Quincy lost to league champion Brockton, 12-3, as it was held to six hits by Chris Kent, one of the league's top pitchers, who won her ninth game.

Killion Wins Title

Julie Killion of North Quincy won the state Class B javelin championship last Saturday with a throw of 121-2. She had previously won the Suburban League crown and was named to the league all-star team.

Tricia Barrett finished fourth in the mile at 5:25.4

Karen Cashman was injured and didn't fare well in the state meet but she also made the league all-star team.

In the boys' events Matt McNamara won the shot put at 49-7. He also won the league title and was named an all-star.

Mount Leads Manet League

After three weeks of Manet Basketball League action; the Mount, led by Mark Millane's league-leading 28 points a game average, is in first place with a 3-0 record.

Elm Street University, sparked by the strong play of Jay Osgood, is in second place at 2-1, while the other four teams are tied with 1-2 marks.

The Mount edged Timmins Contracting, 63-30, as Millane, former North Quincy High and Eastern Nazarene College scoring leader, had a season's high 35 points. Kevin Bregioli, John Timmins and Steve Millane kept the losers close combining for 46 points.

The Mount also topped the Quincy Nets, 58-47, as Millane scored 29 points and Ged Phelan played a fine floor game to overshadow the Nets and Steve Belcastro's 26 points.

Belcastro had 29 points and Ed Carroll 11 as the Nets came back to defeat Elm Street, 74-65. P.J. Fay had 17 points for Elm Street.

Elm Street got 19 points from Osgood and 10 from Pat Bradley as it defeated Clean Machine, 56-48. Brian Driscoll had 13 points and Pat Casey 11 for Clean Machine.

Clean Machine scored a 79-71 victory over Jaehning Chiropractic Club behind Brian Donahue's 30 points. Mark Jaehning had 29 points and Chuck Jaehning 20 for the losers.

Jaehning toppled an undermanned Timmins team, 63-47, with Chuck Jaehning scoring 22 points and Marty Connolly 14, 12 of them in the second half. Glen Ryerson aided the winners with 12 and John Timmins scored 16 in a losing effort.

Appel Wins Tourney

The Ponkapoag Golf course Ladies' Inner Club recently held a nine-hole medal play tournament with Hilda Appel placing first with a net 39.

Marion Dale was second at net 42 and Laura Lynch and Edna Tenney tied for third place at net 44.

A best 12 of 18 holes tourney was also played with Bonnie Thompson the winner with a net 39. Mary Michaels was second at net 43 and Ruth Zalenski was third at net 45.

Eleanor Verdlin was the winner of a best six of nine holes tournament with a net 21. Florence Koffman and Bert Sicilman tied for second at net 23.

Granite City Defeats Morrisette, N.E. Bank

Granite City Electric improved its record to 5-1 in the Quincy Babe Ruth League by handing Morrisette (also 5-1) its first loss of the year, 2-1, and edging Bank of New England, 4-3.

The Granite City-Morrisette game was one of the best games in years as Angelo Kyranis (six hits, eight strikeouts) gained the decision over Matt Smith (five hits, 11 strikeouts).

Morrisette took the lead in the first inning as Peter Lyons walked and Smith drove him in with a long double to right field. Kyranis then bore down and struck out the next two batters.

The lead lasted until the fourth when Granite City scored its two runs. Tony Anderlionis singled, stole second and third and scored on Erik DeBoer's line single to center. DeBoer stole second and scored the winning run on an error. Smith then struck out the next two batters.

Dave Gamsby had a double and Steve Wysocki a single for Granite City. For Morrisette Dave Hutchings, who has shared the pitching with Smith, Steve Keddy and Jeff Currie had singles. Smith had a double and single and Rob Keddy had a double and was outstanding in centerfield.

Versatile Jim Munroe moved behind the plate and anchored Granite City's win, while third baseman Wayne Sit played well defensively.

In the Granite City-Bank of New England game the score was 3-3 going into the bottom of the seventh and last inning. Wysocki lined a single over third base, stole second, moved to third on a wild pitch and scored the winning run on Anderlionis' line drive to left center which officially went as a single, although Anderlionis easily circled the bases.

Gamsby won his third game, giving up six hits and striking out five.

Anderlionis had two hits and Wysocki, DeBoer and Andy Colleary had the only other hits off Kevin Daly and Chris Abate. Munroe played a strong left field for Granite City.

For Bank of N.E. Kevin MacDougall had two singles and George Rosenitis, Daly, Abate and John McGowan one each. Shortstop Rich McDonald played a fine game.

Bryan VFW post edged the Firemen, 4-3, behind Pat McDonough's two-hit pitching. He struck out five and walked two in a fine duel with Firemen's Michael Bayliss.

Bryan Post's defense was led by catcher Mark Kelleher and outfielders Sean Mulkern and Jamie Greene.

Aaron Silverman and Greene had doubles. Brian O'Malley two hits and Kevin Mulla and Steven Loud one each. Bayliss tripled and Jim Mahoney had two hits for the Firemen, while Billy Monteith started at shortstop.

Barry's Deli edged Bryan Post, 3-2, as Jim Glynn held Bryan batters in check. Glynn was aided by an excellent defensive performance by his mates. Bryan's Mulkern and Michael Malvesti combined for a one-hitter. Mike Doherty had the only hit for Barry's. For Bryan Silverman, O'Malley and Steven was singled and Kevin Mulla had a booming triple.

Bryan came back to defeat Golden Print, 9-2, as McDonough turned in another stellar effort and his battermate, Kelleher, had another outstanding game. Infielders O'Malley, Silverman, Waas, Chris Stenmon and Mulla played flawless ball. Mulkern also had a fine day in centerfield. It was leftfielder Malvesti, however, who turned the game around by twice robbing Golden Print's Pat O'Donoghue with spectacular catches.

O'Malley paced Bryan's attack with a towering base-clearing triple. Stenmon had two hits and two RBI. Donnie Anderson had two hits, including a sharply-hit double, and Waas singled twice. McDonough, Mulkern, Loud, Mulla and Malvesti each singled. Joe Marnikovic and Paul Murphy contributed to the win with fine base running. For Golden Print Derrick Adams, Joe Crespi and Brian Zimmerman singled and Richie Burns had a double. Crespi and Burns anchored the defense.

• Junior League

VFW Off To Good Start

The VFW, seeking its third straight Quincy Junior Baseball League championship, is off to another fast start with a 6-1 record, paced by the pitching of Sean Donovan (4-0, 47 strikeouts), and Keith Driscoll (2-1, 21 strikeouts).

The VFW outlasted Houghs Neck, 8-7, with Mark Cahill, Donovan, Driscoll, Dave Bogan and Dave Cooper having a hit apiece. For Houghs Neck Steve Bartkus had a double and single, Robbie Kane two singles, Costa Rosentis a double and Mike Kenny, Mike Connors and Mike Santoro a single each.

VFW rolled over Colonial Federal, 11-0, as Cahill had two singles, Driscoll a double and Donovan, A.J. Kalibian, Adam DeBoer and Cooper a single apiece. For Colonial Federal Joe Manton and Matt McGowan had two hits apiece and Joe Dorsey, Jeff Craig, Jason Simon and Billy Dunn one each.

Next came an 8-2 decision over Boston Gear as Cahill and Driscoll each had two doubles and a triple, Kalibian and Cooper two singles each. Bogan a triple and Donovan and DeBoer a single each. For Gear Eric Kreuz, Dan Duncan, Mike Riley, Steve DesRoche and Ken Ledwalk had a single each.

VFW blanked State Street, 3-0, with Walsh and Driscoll having two singles each and Cahill and Donovan a double apiece. Scott Wysocki had a double and single and Paul King and Derek Mooter a single each for State Street.

Next came the only defeat, 8-3, at the hands of Quincy Cable. Bogan had two singles, Walsh a triple and Cahill, Donovan and Driscoll a single each. For Cable Aidan O'Donoghue had a home run and single, James Schatzl and Terry Sheehan a double and single apiece. Mike Kavanaugh and Justin Ackerman home runs and Joe Check a double.

VFW rebounded and walloped Kiwanis, 8-1, with Cahill having a triple and single, Walsh a double and single, Donovan two singles and Bogan, Brian Oliver and Steve Barrett a single each. Tom Nutley had a double and single and Mark Karlson a double for Kiwanis.

VFW followed up with an 8-6 decision over the Elks. Steve Manning had a double and two singles, Bogan and Donovan a double and single each, Driscoll a double and Barrett and Cooper a single each. For the Elks Matt O'Toole had a double and single, Tim Kunz and Paul Tangney two singles each, Brian Jennette a double, Jason Curry a home run and Matt McSweeney and Chris McCurley a single each.

Also playing fine ball for VFW are J.R. Reppucci, Dave Pacino and Pat Donovan.

The league standings: American League-VFW, 6-1; Foley Chrysler, 6-1; State Street, 5-2; Quincy Cable, 3-4; Burgin Platner, 3-4; Kiwanis, 3-4 National League-Houghs Neck, 6-2; Keohane's, 4-3; Boston Gear, 3-4; Rotary, 1-6; Elks, 1-6; Colonial Federal, 1-6.

• Junior Farm

Braves Run Win Streak To 7

The Braves improved their record to 7-0 in the Junior Farm League as they romped over the Cubs, 24-2, collecting 21 hits.

Paul Marnikovic, John Richards and Scott McPherson combined to pitch a three-hitter. Marnikovic had four hits and drove in six runs, Jeff Russell had four hits, including two homers, and also drove in six runs, McPherson had three hits, Mike Martin and Jim Mastroianni two hits each and Richards, Dave Gunther and Steve Carlson played strong defense. For the Cubs Bill Manning hit well and John Riley pitched well. Mike Cardarelli, Brian Mahoney and Mike O'Brien stood out defensively.

The Braves blanked the Tigers, 7-0, as Russell pitched a no-hitter and struck out 16. Richards, Katie Gallagher, and McPherson had extra base hits driving in runs and Steve Carlson went 2-for-2. Brian Walsh made numerous outstanding defensive plays for the Tigers.

The Braves started off with 10 runs in the first inning and went on to defeat the Yankees, 16-9. Richards was the winning pitcher.

The Braves had to go an extra inning to edge the Red Sox, 7-5, with Gunther the winning pitcher in relief. He had a home run, Marnikovic, who pitched the first four innings, had two hits, James Crowley and Mastroianni had three hits each, Richards had two hits and excelled on defense and Russell and Todd Sullivan made fine plays. James Murphy and Anthony Bragdon had three hits each for the Red Sox, Joseph Fennelly had two and Joe McCarthy had a towering triple. Pat Tevernian and Murphy played outstanding defense.

Barbuto Team Wins Koch Boys, Girls Title

Disappointment Shadows Quincy

Things are getting more frustrating for Quincy baseball coach Bob Sylvia all the time.

Last year the Presidents missed qualifying for the Eastern Mass. tournament for the first time since 1975 by one victory and the most disappointing aspect was that they were forced to forfeit a victory because of an ineligible player that cost them a tourney bid.

This season Quincy again missed the tournament by a single win and frustrating losses to Newton North and Suburban League champion Brockton cost it a spot in the tournament.

After upsetting Cambridge Rindge and Latin, the Presidents had to win four out of eight games to make the tournament. Two losses to Newton North within three days, the second one especially disappointing, with a win over North Quincy in between, left Quincy needing three wins in five games to qualify.

Quincy lost to Waltham but walloped Brookline, leaving it needing two wins in three games.

The first of these games was against Brockton and the Presidents, who had a 4-2 lead, had numerous chances to win the game but the Bowers came back for a 6-4 victory which clinched their 13th league title in Tom Pilecki's 17-year coaching tenure.

Jay Lespasio was pitching outstanding ball as Quincy led, 4-2, going into Brockton's sixth inning.

The Presidents had squandered several good scoring chances as they loaded the bases in the first but scored only one run on a wild pitch. They had two runners on and one out in the third but failed to score and in the fifth they sent seven batters to the plate but could score only two runs on three singles and a walk. In the sixth they filled the bases with no outs but scored only once. Quincy's chances were hurt when a runner was caught circling second base too wide and was tagged out.

Brockton came back with four runs in the sixth inning to capture the victory.

The Presidents bounced back and kept their tournament hopes flickering with an 11-4 win over Cambridge.

T.J. Steen pitched fine ball until relieved by Larry Beguere in the seventh. Quincy started fast and had a 7-0 lead after three innings.

Dan Biagini, the league's all-star shortstop, reached on a fielders choice, stole second and third and scored on an error to give Quincy a 1-0 lead in the first.

In the second Jim Dennis walked, Ed Flavin had a bunt single, Joe Innello walked to fill the bases and Biagini's sacrifice fly scored Dennis. Tom Logan walked and Steve Austin cleared the bases with a towering triple to make it 5-0.

Quincy added two in the third when Sean Thompson singled, Dennis doubled and both scored on Flavin's line single. The Presidents put the game out of reach with three runs in the fifth.

That win necessitated a makeup of a rained out game with Malden and Quincy's tournament hopes quickly went down the drain as Malden, already in the tournament, exploded for an 8-1 lead after three innings.

The Presidents refused to die and scored five unanswered runs to make the score 8-6 before Malden added two in the bottom of the sixth.

In the fourth Biagini doubled in Flavin and Innello scored on a passed ball. In the fifth Lespasio doubled home Thompson and in the sixth Austin doubled home Biagini and Tom Logan.

"We just got behind the eight ball too quickly and had a tough time digging ourselves out," said a disappointed Sylvia.

"We had a bitter pill against Newton and another one with Brockton, but the kids kept coming back. They were playing under pressure over the entire second half of the season. They took their bumps and their breaks. They had their chance at Malden but it just didn't work out. It was frustrating to miss the tournament by one win two years in a row, but these kids did a fine job all season and I'm sorry for them that they missed the tournament."

Meanwhile, North Quincy finished a disappointing season with a 5-14 record, losing two games last week.

North, whose biggest win was over Waltham, which was leading the league at the time, finished in tough-luck fashion as it lost two one-run decisions, 4-3 to Newton North and 6-5 to Waltham.

Mary Morris Memorial Tennis Tourney June 13-28

Steve Harris, owner of Harris Associates-Realtors of Braintree, announces his firm will sponsor a Mary Morris Memorial mixed-doubles tennis tournament from June 13 to 28.

The tournament will be held to raise money for a scholarship fund set up by the Quincy Education Association in memory of Mary Morris, a Quincy school teacher who died suddenly several months ago.

Entrants can play on their home courts or at Harris' home, 125 St. Clare St., Braintree. The finals will be held at his courts.

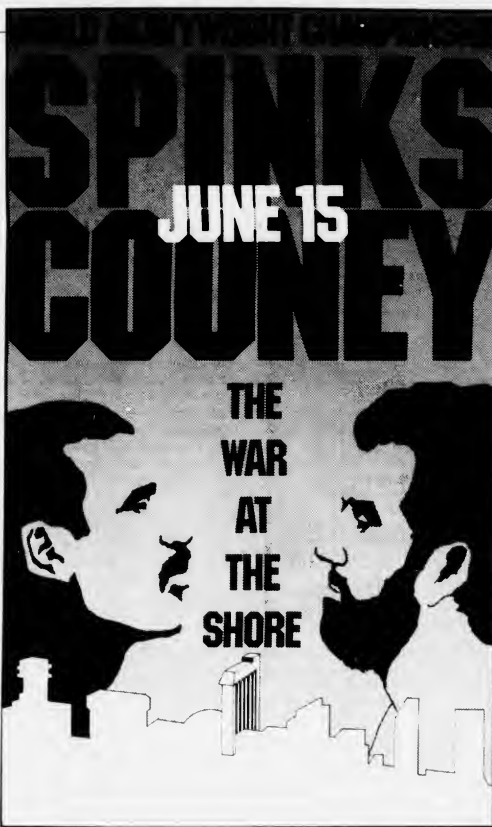

There will be two levels of play, advanced and intermediate, and the entry fee is $25 per person. Entry deadline is June 1. All monies collected will be turned over to the QEA Scholarship Fund for Mary Morris.

A kickoff party is scheduled for Friday night, June 12, as well as an all-day cookout pool party at tournament's end

Sunday, June 28, at Harris' home. Awards will be given out to winners and finalists in both divisions and all players will receive a tournament memento.

Anyone interested in entering is asked to call Harris Associates-Realtors at 848-9570 for an entry form containing all tournament information or forms can be picked up at the Harris Associates' office, 40 Pearl St., South Braintree.

WEEK OF: June 4

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

You have the gift of gab, being witty, clever, and able to make people laugh. Change appeals to you -- sometimes for its own sake. Stability is the key this year. Giving your all to a project or a relationship brings significant results by the fall or winter.

AQUARIUS -- January 21 - February 19

The month starts on a romantically upbeat note -- this is a prime time for expressing what's in your heart. Avoid making casual promises unless you're prepared to follow through completely.

PISCES -- February 20 - March 20

Combined efforts can bring important results by the end of this period. Weekend offers opportunities for expanding social circle. Travel plans may be undergoing last-minute changes.

ARIES -- March 21 - April 20

New relationships, especially of a Platonic order, are highlighted through the period. In money matters you're unusually shrewd. Career options require a very thorough review.

TAURUS -- April 21 - May 22

Ingenious Taurus is in a creative mood -- it's a great week for embarking on a new hobby. Finances do not run as smoothly; avoid impulsive moods in this area.

GEMINI -- May 23 - June 21

Good week for meeting people from other lands. Your career-related ideas prove winners -- but be sure you receive the credit you're due. Romantic misunderstanding is cleared.

CANCER -- June 22 - July 22

You may be acquiring a long sought-after item -- this is an important week for discoveries. Travel is also accentuated, though some mixups may be unavoidable.

LEO -- July 23 - August 22

Long-awaited message arrives now. Although you may feel forced into making a decision, hold out for more time if you can. New directions are featured in career.

VIRGO -- August 23 - September 22

Health and fitness programs are highlighted. Harmony is restored in domestic matters, thanks largely to your willingness to compromise. Careful budgeting is essential if planning a trip.

LIBRA -- September 23 - October 22

Coincidences are scattered through the week, and intuitive abilities are stronger. Education and travel are spotlighted -- and should combine well. Follow ups are important in fiscal matters.

SCORPIO -- October 23 - November 21

Intellectual activities are in the spotlight, this is an outstanding week for planning an academic project. Relative is supportive of your plans. Mechanical tasks require prompt attention.

SAGITTARIUS -- November 22 - December 22

Clear plate of odds and ends before starting important project. Family dispute may expand out of proportion -- make an all-out effort to keep the peace. Don't neglect health regime.

CAPRICORN -- December 23 - January 20

Ease career tensions as quickly and effectively as you can, teamwork is all-important at this time. Romance accents its whimsical side. Family endeavors bring satisfaction by weekend.

Archaeological Project Runs Into Council Opposition

A request from the Friends of the Blue Hills for support of an archaeological project in the West Quincy quarries ran into some unexpected opposition at Monday night's City Council meeting.

"I was surprised," said Councillor James Sheets who introduced the request from the charitable trust.

The group is applying for a $10,000 grant from the Massachusetts Historical Commission, which it will match with its own funds, to perform an archaeological survey of three sites in the Quincy Quarries area.

The sites are the Terminus of the Granite Railway, owned by the Ricciardi Co., the Lyons Turning Mill and Granite Incline, owned by the city.

Ricciardi has agreed to sign a preservation restriction on the property for five years, and the Friends of the Blue Hills would like the city to do the same.

"It seems like an excellent project and a great opportunity for the City of Quincy," said Councillor Michael Cheney.

"But they cooperated in a negative way with the MEPA process on the issue of the landfill."

"If people want our cooperation, they should cooperate with us."

"I'm an environmentalist, like everyone else, but I can't support this until I'm convinced they'll cooperate with Quincy."

Cheney was referring to the fact that the MDC and Friends of the Blue Hills criticized the landfill in West Quincy which has since been ordered closed by the Department of Environmental Quality Engineering.

Councillor John Lydon, Jr., shared Cheney's view.

"By the position they took, they've cost us money."

Lydon also said he didn't know enough about the project yet to act on it.

Councillor Patricia Toland said she would also like more information.

"Their concerns are strictly environmental," responded Sheets. "They shouldn't abandon what they believe in to get this."

"The Friends of the Blue Hills are true to their purpose. They are fighting for a clean environment, and I hope they continue to do so."

With apparent growing annoyance, Sheets continued, "We didn't come to this point (with the landfill) with clean hands."

"A lot of the blame falls on the city, not on the Friends of the Blue Hills."

"I have no problem holding this order so that councillors can obtain more information, but I do have a problem with some of the things that have been said tonight."

Cheney said, "I'm upset that it cost the taxpayers $5 million (to cap the dump and truck the rubbish out of the city)."

"I'm not saying the city is without sin, but someone cost the city $5 million."

"Until I hear more about the project, I'm not going to support it."

Councillor Joseph LaRosa said he agreed that many people share in the responsibility for what has happened to the dump.

"We have to look at the future," said LaRosa. "We won't gain by looking at the past."

License Board Briefs

The City License Board took the following action at Tuesday's meeting at City Hall:

- Granted a request from the Pagnano Towers Tenant Association, 109 Curtis Ave., for a permit to hold a yard sale on June 27 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the parking lot.

- Granted a request from the South Shore Stroke Club, Inc. to hold a yard sale on June 28 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the parking lot of the first American Bank, 77 Granite St. Raindate will be July 5.

- Granted a request from Mrs. Deborah Jarnis for a one day all-alcoholic license for a fundraising event to be held on June 9 from 7 to 11 p.m. at the Montclair Men's Club.

- Withdrew without prejudice a request from Midas Muffler Shop, 100

Mayor McGrath Highway, for an extension of hours until 8 p.m. Neighboring residents are in opposition to the extension.

- Granted a request from Philip Gambon, owner of Lefty's Lounge, 160-162 Hancock St., for a transfer of the manager's license from James Ahl to Philip Gambon. The board stipulated that a team inspection be conducted by the health, building and fire inspectors.

- Granted a request for 20 One Day all-alcoholic licenses for various public and private events to be held at Marina Bay, 542 East Squantum St.

- Denied a request from Charles J. Kane, representing A Child's Wish Come True, Inc. to extend the date of his carnival at 577 South St. until June 7.

DEREK SANDERSON, sporting his new mustache, shows his form as one of the Boston Bruins stars in the early 1970's.

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Former Boston Bruins star Derek Sanderson is a man who has lived through the best and worst of times.

He was named "Rookie of the Year" during his first season in the National Hockey League, and went on to become the highest paid athlete in the world at a salary of $5 million for the World Hockey Association's Philadelphia Blazers.

But four years later, all the money was gone and Sanderson was, in his words, "a street bum who slept under bridges in New York and mugged people."

"It was all because I picked up drugs," said Sanderson, 40, as he spoke recently before students at North Quincy High School.

"And the first one was a drink," he said.

Sanderson's talk was sponsored by Browning Ferris Industries, Northeast Region, where the former hockey star now erson:

From Here To Hell ... And Back heads the youth drug awareness initiative.

He filled a similar role for Boston Mayor Raymond Flynn for three years.

North Quincy High School's program was coordinated with BFI by Robert Hanna, Quincy Police Crime Prevention Officer, and Capt. Frederick Laracy.

Next fall, Sanderson is scheduled to talk at $324,000 For Low Interest Mortgages

Quincy has been awarded $324,000 from the Massachusetts Housing Financing Agency in low interest mortgage money for first time homebuyers purchasing a home in Quincy, Mayor Francis McCauley announced.

The interest rate on the mortgages will be 7.9 per cent for a term of 26 years, he said.

For more information, contact Claire McGill, Assistant Planner, at 773-1380, ext. 372.

2 Flood Protection Projects Pass Inspection

Mayor Francis McCauley announces that the annual inspection of two local flood protection projects, one at Hayward Creek in North Quincy, and the other at Island Avenue in Houghs Neck, has resulted in a rating of "excellent."

The above protection projects were completed several years ago.

The report compiled by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, cited the "fine work" of the personnel of the Sewer, Water and Drain division of the Public Works Department.

McCauley has written to the Public Works Commissioner, Paul N. Anderson commending the Sewer, Water and Drain Department for maintenance efforts on these two important shore protection projects.

Plans Countersuit Against DQE

City To Sue State Over Landfill Closing

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Mayor Francis McCauley announced Tuesday that the city will file a countersuit against the Department of Quality Engineering which ordered the 110-acre West Quincy landfill closed last month.

The order was upheld by Superior Court Judge Cortland Mathers who criticized the way Quincy has operated the dump and called it an "ecological disaster."

"There are times when you have to stand and fight for what you believe in, and this is one of those times," said McCauley during a press conference.

"I'd like to see Quincy vindicated. We feel we run a pretty good landfill."

Since the landfill was closed, Browning Ferris Industries has trucked the city's residential rubbish out of town at a cost of $69 a ton.

The countersuit was to be filed in Suffolk Superior Court yesterday (Wednesday), according to Atty. Peter Koff, special counsel to the city, who will handle the case with City Solicitor Joseph (Jay) MacRitchie.

Koff estimated that the action would cost the city between $25,000 and $50,000. "It should be less than the fines being imposed by the DEQE," he said.

"They're looking to get Quincy into a substantial penalty to be used as an example," Koff said.

According to MacRitchie, the DEQE has assessed $500,000 in fines, but has said it will accept $100,000.

The city is looking toward a fall start for the trial which should take at least 10 days, Koff said.

In its answer/counterclaim, Quincy will deny allegations in DEQE's complaint that Quincy has violated such things as the Solid Waste Disposal Act, Administrative Consent Order, Clean Waters Act, and Wetlands Protection Act.

Among the other points, it will contend that DEQE has unlawfully attempted to regulate the landfill by applying provisions of unpublished DEQE "policies" and draft regulations.

"We feel we have a pretty good case," said McCauley. "We feel DEQE has left itself open."

"Someone has to do this and we're willing to make the effort, or the whole state could be in crisis."

McCauley said that he expects to learn by the end of the month how much the countersuit will cost the city. At least some of the funds will come out of the landfill account, he said.

The mayor noted that there should be no delay in rubbish pickups.

Paul Anderson, Department of Public Works Commissioner, said that small changes may be made to the Monday and Tuesday pickup routes, the biggest in the city.

But they won't be implemented until they are brought before the City Council, according to Anderson.

"When it goes to a full trial, I think we'll be vindicated," said McCauley.

"It has been said that it is awful up there (at the landfill), but it's not awful."

"Granted, it's not the Gardens of Versailles, but it's not expected to be."

"We're not lawsuit-happy, but the way to prove the point is by going to court and letting all the facts out."

McCauley said he doesn't think DEQE can make all of its claims stand up in court.

He also said that if the city acquiesces and pays the fines, he feels it will be extremely difficult for Quincy to win approval of future expansion requests.

"It could be years before we get an answer," McCauley said.

"There's always the risk that we might lose the case. But if we do, we'll be no worse off than if we throw in the sponge now."

"This is probably one of the most vexing problems I've had as mayor," said McCauley.

"But I feel it's the right decision in the long run."

"We're going to put the spotlight on DEQE. We're not going to acquiesce."

"We're going to do a lot of battling. This could be a landmark case."

City's Credit Rating Upgraded

The credit rating upgrading will mean that the city will save $100,000 to $125,000 in interest charges when it borrows $5 million as the first step in renovating the Quincy Police Station, and constructing an addition, McCauley said.

"I'm delighted with the upgrades which indicate a continuing improvement in the city's financial health," McCauley said.

McCauley, members of his administration, and representatives of Shawmut Bank met with the rating services last December.

He said he pointed out the city's free cash account surplus, decreased borrowing, economic projects increasing the tax base, low unemployment, and the collection of back taxes.

Mayor McCauley pointed out that this is the second time in his administration that the city credit has been upgraded. In 1985, Moody's upgraded Quincy's credit two steps from Baa to Baa, while Standard & Poors gave the city a BBB rating.

Councillor Thomas Nutley, Association, will hold a community meeting Wednesday, June 17, at 7:30 p.m. at Squantum Community

(Tom Gorman)

Donna has joined the staff at Benny's Hair Styling, 1538 Hancock St., 471-9534. Looking forward to seeing her friends and clients.

the Elks Home, 440 East Squantum St.

Nutley said that Dunkin' Donuts on Quincy Shore Drive will be discussed.

A representative of the police department will also be on hand to talk about vandalism and violation of the open container law, particularly at Squaw Rock, he said.

Nutley said that Wollaston Beach residents are concerned about a recent incident in which vandals shot out windows in dozens of cars, apparently with a BB gun, are also welcome to attend and address their concerns to police.

Car Wash

The Senior High Youth Group at First Presbyterian Church will hold a free car wash Saturday, June 20 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the church parking lot, 270 Franklin St., South Quincy.

Proceeds will be used to help defray the cost of the Senior High Workcamp in Dahlonega, Ga. this July.

Michael Condon Candidate For Council At-Large

Michael Condon, 27, of 55 Elm St., Quincy, Announces his candidacy for Councillor at-large.

A lifelong resident of Quincy, Condon is the son of former Ward 6 Councillor Joanne Condon.

He cites his reasons for running for councillor as follows.

"I've grown up in the City of Quincy and watched the city grow," said Condon. "I've been privileged to be part of the political system indirectly most of my adult life.

"I feel that the people of Quincy need strong, effective city councillors, who are not afraid to stand up and be counted, councillors who are genuinely concerned with the future of this city and are dedicated to preserving the quality of life in our great city.

"I believe that I have the desire, willingness and experience to work with the residents of Quincy to preserve our great city."

For the past six years, Condon has owned and operated New England Livery Service, a limousine company based in Quincy.

MICHAEL CONDON

Last year, he started Marina Bay Taxi Service.

His is the first and only taxi service in Quincy to offer discounts to senior citizens, according to Condon.

"I recognized that taxi service was vitally important to the senior citizens of Quincy and discovered that many seniors just couldn't afford this service. The discount service helps to alleviate that problem."

Commenting on the specific issues of his campaign, Condon said, "The main thrust of my campaign will be to meet with the residents throughout the city and listen to their concerns," he said. "Quincy is neighborhoods and families.

Our school system needs to be looked at because our children are the future of Quincy.

"We must not allow our children to have anything less than the best education possible."

From his experience in the transportation business, Condon states, "I know very well about the traffic problems in the City of Quincy. At 5 o'clock in the afternoon, it can take 20 or more minutes to get from one end of the city to the other. For most people, that is the longest part of their commute home."

Traffic is not a new problem, but it has become progressively worse, Condon said. A traffic study has been undertaken by the city and it is Condon's desire that the recommendations be implemented in a timely fashion in the best interest of the residents throughout our city.

Condon said that affordable housing is another very important issue.

"The prices of both homes and rentals continues to rise. Longtime Quincy residents both young and old are being forced to relocate out of our city," he said.

Condon states, "I intend to work hard in the direction of insuring that there is affordable housing in our city for our families who wish to stay here."

"My goal is to be available to the residents - to listen to their views - to implement their ideas."

Condon attended Quincy Elementary School, Atlantic Junior High School and was graduated from Boston College High School in 1977.

He attended St. Patrick's College in Maynooth, Ireland, from 1977 to 1978 and Suffolk University from 1978-1980. His major was in government. Condon has been a member of the Atlantic Neighborhood Association since its founding and was elected to the Ward Six Democratic Committee.

He is also a member of the "Run For Your Life" committee.

During his high school and college years, he worked at the State house in Boston for both a local representative and a local senator.

Condon has been involved in each of his mother's campaigns over the past 10 years.

He is experienced in the field of campaigns and people and looks forward to his new role as candidate, according to Condon.

Condon is married to the former Shirley Chan of Quincy and they have a daughter, Caitlin, who is one year old.

Wollaston Motors

License Request Withdrawn

The City License Board Tuesday asked that William Rowan, doing business as Wollaston Motors, 60 Beale St., withdraw without prejudice a request for a Motor II license and a change of address to 211 Southern Artery.

Rowan had planned to lease office space and part of the lot from an auto repair shop at the site and set up a small used car lot.

The board told him that the area is a residential zone and that the repair shop is operating under a non-conformist use in the zone. In order to have two separate businesses in operation at the site, Rowan would have to go before the Board of Appeals before he can get the necessary permits.

Candidates Oppose Proposed Political Signs Restrictions

Proposed restrictions on political signs was the only one of 17 recommendations made by the City Council's Zoning Task Force which attracted much discussion at Monday night's public hearing.

The recommendations, the second set of 17 made by the task force, had been discussed at a Planning Board hearing last month and attracted a crowd of only about 12 people to this week's hearing.

A number of the people in the audience were City Council candidates who spoke against the recommendation which would ban political signs in residential areas, restrict them to two feet by three feet, and reduce the number of signs on any one property from three to two.

Ronald Iacobucci said that it was unconstitutional to restrict political signs.

"It's discrimination and a violation of the First Amendment," said Iacobucci, a candidate for Councilor at Large.

Howard MacKay, a candidate for Ward 3 City Councilor, said restricting the signs would take away some of the candidates' exposure.

"I don't think signs up 10 days before an election are a nuisance," said John Keenan, candidate for Ward 5 City Councilor.

Councillor Joseph LaRaia, who is running for mayor, said that "signs, in the final analysis, are what government is all about."

Councillor Richard J. Koch, Jr., who is stepping down from his council seat at the end of this term, urged his colleagues to remember what it was like to enter political life "with a few dollars in your pocket."

"It costs an incredible amount to run a campaign," said Koch. "The only bargain is advertising by way of signs."

Councillor Michael Cheney, a member of the Zoning Task Force, said he considered the proposed restrictions a "reasonable compromise" between concerns and aesthetics.

The zoning recommendations also dealt with such topics as reducing the height of buildings in Planned Unit Development areas from 10 to eight stories, increasing the lot area for PUD from 1000 to 1800 square feet, and unifying the dimensional size of parking spaces.

Arthur Chandler, president of the Quincy Citizens Association, said his organization supported most of the changes.

"The intent of the zoning task force is to tighten up the zoning code," said Chandler. "It remains to be seen what the effect will be, but at least the intent is there."

Roger Lyons, president of the Quincy Apartment House Owners, objected to a number of recommendations.

For example, Lyons said, "If you can't justify 10 stories as wrong, don't change it."

No action was taken by the council as it was a public hearing.

The recommendations, as well as the Citizens Against Poor Planning initiative petition, are scheduled to be discussed at an ordinance committee meeting Thursday, June 18.

City To Monitor Kinney

Mayor Francis McCauley said he has assigned an individual to spot check the city's parking lots and garage "to see to it that Kinney Systems is doing what it says it is."

The unidentified individual will report back to the mayor the week of June 22 about such things as personnel, egresses, landscaping and cleanliness, according to McCauley.

The action came after a meeting in the mayor's office last week called in response to complaints regarding operation and maintenance of the city-owned parking lots and garage.

Kinney Systems has operated them for the past three years.

The complaints were made by residents who called the mayor's office and by City Council president Stephen McGrath and other councilors.

McGrath attended the meeting as did Bruce Young, Kinney Systems regional manager, and Robert Rush, the new local manager, according to the mayor.

McCauley also said he requested Police Chief Finn to add nighttime patrols around the parking garage.

"We're going to monitor this very, very closely," McCauley said.

Mayor To Meet Regarding Shelter

Mayor Francis McCauley said he hopes to meet the week of June 22 with representatives of the Registry of Motor Vehicles to learn when they plan to vacate the Broad St. building which is owned by the city.

Quincy hopes to locate a shelter for the homeless at the location the registry has occupied. The state agency plans to move to the Quincy Fair Building in Quincy Sq.

McCauley said that he met Tuesday morning with Fr. William McCarthy pastor of St. John's Church and member of the Interfaith Sheltering Committee; Atty. Matt McDonnell, Atty. Paul Barbardore and David Smith, chairman of the Mayor's Committee to Find a Permanent Location for the Homeless.

According to those at the meeting, a lease between the city and coalition should be in an acceptable form in the next few weeks, said the mayor.

The lease is subject to City Council approval, he noted.

McCauley said he also learned that the Department of Public Welfare has revised some plans for the shelter which will house a maximum of 45 people.

Harold Industrial Espionage Bill Signed Into Law

Legislation sponsored by Senator Paul D. Harold making the theft of business and trade secrets a crime has been signed into law by Governor Michael Dukakis.

The bill, filed on behalf of the Associated Industries of Massachusetts (AIM), closes a loophole in the law by which the theft of intangible trade and business secrets were not covered by the larceny statute.

The law now will make the theft of ideas and other intangible trade secrets punishable as a crime, and allow victims to recover double damages in a civil suit.

AIM has pointed out that industrial espionage, particularly in the high tech and "new" tech fields, costs business millions of dollars a year.

The law now will cover any tangible or intangible or electronically-stored material which constitutes secret scientific, technical, merchandising, production or management information, design, process, procedure, formula, invention or improvement.

"Massachusetts is a leader in the high tech and new tech fields, and it is vital that we protect these vital industries against the theft of their trade secrets," Harold said.

"Massachusetts' caseload in the area of computer and high tech crime has been among the best in the nation, and this amendment will make the law even stronger."

Special Honor For Herb Fontaine

Herb Fontaine, who has been covering City Council meetings for nearly 32 years, is going to find out what the councillors really think of him.

They think a lot of him.

News editor-director at WJDA since August, 1955, he will be honored by the City Council at a special meeting Monday, June 22 at 7:30 p.m.

He will be recognized not only for his coverage at council meetings down through the years, but for his service to the community as a broadcast journalist and involvement in worthy causes.

His daily news broadcasts over WJDA probably have made his voice the most familiar on the South Shore.

You might say he is to the WJDA listening audience what Johnny Most is to the Celtics fans.

Councillor John Lydon is chairman of the planning committee for the "Herb Fontaine Night."

Committee members include: City Council President Steve McGrath, Rabbi David Jacobs of Temple Beth El, Rabbi Jacob Mann of Beth Israel Synagogue, James (Pete) Ricciuti, former executive secretary to late Mayor James McIntyre; Louise Brabazon, administrative assistant to the City Council; James (Jay) Asher, owner of WJDA; Ray McEachern of the Patriot Ledger and this writer.

Fontaine and his wife, Barbara, live on Squanto Rd., Merrymount. They have three sons, Gary of Quincy, Howard of Stoughton, and Steven who is with the Colorado State Health Department. They also have two grandchildren.

Fontaine was hired by the late James D. Asher who founded WJDA in September, 1947 and whose initials are the station's call letters.

Fontaine started with a Lewiston, Me. station in 1948 where he was a sports announcer and became program director, winning several awards. One was for a program called "Housewife's Quiz," one of the early radio talk shows in the country.

At WJDA, he won the top New England United Press International Award for a series of 15 30-minute programs called "The Drug Menace, 1969." In addition to the award he received a letter and citation from late FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

Although he knows and loves his Quincy and South Shore, he is a transplant from Medford where he was born and graduated from Medford High School in 1941. He also attended Boston University and Emerson College.

A veteran of World War II, he served with the G-2
Intelligence Division for the 8th Cavalry in the Pacific Theater and was discharged as a sergeant-technician.

In addition to his radio chores, Fontaine is a panelist on Quincy Cable's "Newsmakers Program." He is one of the three original members of that panel.

Fontaine has been active in the community as a former Cancer Crusade chairman, a member of Survival, Inc., the Interfaith Shelter Coalition, Quincy Jewish War Veterans, Temple Beth El, Quincy Christmas Festival Committee.

FONTAINE

Fontaine also holds a unique municipal unpaid job:
fence viewer.

He has served as a fence viewer under six mayors:
Amelio Della Chiesa, James McIntyre, Walter
Hannon, Joseph LaRaia, Arthur Tobin and Francis
McCauley.

He has settled a few disputes between feuding neighbors over "spite" fences down through the years.
So, in addition to dedicated community service he has also displayed valor and courage.

Hope the City Council chamber is packed the night of June 22. Herb deserves a full house.

DON'T DISMISS School Committeewoman Mary

Collins as a possible City Council at-large candidate this fall. Not quite yet, anyway.

She says she is still giving thought to running and will make a final decision in two weeks.

Incidentally, a typographical

COLLINS

gremlin listed her here last week as Mary Gibbons. Sorry about that Mary.

IF YOU'RE THINKING of running for municipal office this year, the deadline for taking out nomination papers is Aug. 7. And the filing deadline is 5 p.m., Aug.
11.

Those who already have nomination papers in circulation are:

For mayor: Incumbent Frank McCauley and challenger Joseph LaRaia.

City Council at-large: Ward 5's Steve McGrath, Tim Cahill, Ron Iacobucci and Tom Koch.

Ward 1: No one yet.

Ward 2: Incumbent Ted DeCristofaro.

Ward 3: Incumbent John Lydon, Larry Chretien, Howard MacKay and William Reardon. MacKay and Reardon are Ardell St. neighbors.

Ward 4: No one yet.

Ward 5: Kevin Burke, John Keenan and Charles Phelan, Jr.

Ward 6: No one yet.

School Committee: Incumbent Steve Durkin, Robert Jarnis, and Margaret Welby Raymond.

CITY CLERK John Gillis' office was broken into the other night and the thief carried off 23 of Gillis' favorite Dominican cigars.

Patrolman Don Pearson was called in to investigate. After checking things out, he took the remaining two or three cigars with him ... as "evidence."

"Well," says Pearson, "these are special cigars. And if I see somebody with them, I need evidence to match them with."

Pearson, who confesses he enjoys a good cigar now and then, still had the evidence with him when last seen.
Unsmoked.

Urges Support For Second-Hand Smoke Bills

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

Each year more than 350,000 Americans die prematurely because of smoking related illness. In his most recent report, U.S.
Surgeon General Dr. C.
Everett Koop confirmed that this deadly substance is harmful not only to the smoker, but to the nonsmoker as well.

Two bills now before the Massachusetts Senate (H3697
- The Clean Indoor Air Act, and H3699- Smoking Policies in the Workplace) address the health issues of second-hand smoke. Both bills would limit smoking to designated areas, thereby allowing the nonsmoker a smoke-free environment.

The Clean Indoor Air Act has consistently failed to make it to the Senate floor for a vote, although it has been passed by the House Representatives by a wide margin.

Given the most recent scientific findings related to smoking, both bills are important for the health of the citizens of the Commonwealth.
Legislators need to bear that Massachusetts residents, like those in at least 15 other states, are no longer willing to risk exposure to second-hand smoke.

I urge every citizen to contact his or her State Senator and register their support of these critical bills.

Derek Sanderson Helping Youngsters Fight Drugs

Quincy High School and to do follow-up counseling with the students who were just toddlers when he was the colorful sports personality of the late 1960s and 1970s known as the "Turk" who received almost as much media attention off the ice as on it.

In addition to earning a reputation as an aggressive player who was a good face-off man and penalty killer, he had his own weekly TV show, appeared on national TV talk shows and wrote a book, "I've Got to Be Me."

Sanderson also made the famous pass to Bobby Orr for the goal in the sudden death overtime against St. Louis which gave the Bruins the Stanley Cup in 1970.

But all that went up in smoke because of alcohol and drugs, he told the audience.

"I'm a recovering addict and alcoholic," said Sanderson, who now has graying hair and walks with a slight limp after hip replacement surgery because of bone death caused by steroids.

"You all think you can handle it, you just do it once in a while," he said. "At your age, I just did it once in a while, too."

Sanderson told of being given his first glass of beer at the age of seven by an uncle during the Christmas holidays. He didn't get drunk until he was 21-years-old, but the alcoholic mind was already in place, he said.

Alcohol helped him deal with shyness, insecurity and fear, Sanderson said.

"I felt very unsure of myself, I felt weak," he said. "I didn't face my emotions and that's what got me in trouble."

Sanderson said he didn't start using drugs until he went to Philadelphia "where he tried to buy friends and used drugs and alcohol."

"You can't buy friends," he said. "Friendship, getting along with someone, takes time and respect."

By the time Bruins superstar Bobby Orr, then with Chicago, got him into a detoxification center, Sanderson was an alcoholic and addicted to 11 different drugs.

"Bobby is the first one who tried to help me," Sanderson said. "He's a true friend, a class act."

It took 13 stays in detox centers before Sanderson was able to help himself. "I had the worst possible nightmares at the detox centers," he said. "Snakes were eating my eyes."

Sanderson said he has been sober since Sept. 18, 1980, when a counselor told him his ego was "way out of proportion" and to get on his knees and ask a higher power for help, and mean it."

"At the age of 34, counselors made me go back to deal with emotions I had at 15," said Sanderson.

NORTH QUINCY HIGH SCHOOL student Dave Bearon interviews former Bruin Derek Sanderson for the school newspaper, North Star.

"I had stayed that age emotionally, and acted like a child."

"I hated words like responsibility."

"I had quit school at 15, and had no foundation for success. You have to have a foundation so you can handle what life brings you."

"No one doing drugs has their act together," said Sanderson. "I lived on the edge for eight years.

"The so-called beautiful people are all scared to death. They resent other people's happiness."

"Cocaine has always killed - Len Bias (who died using the drug) day after he was selected as the Boston Celtic's first draft pick) just brought it to the attention of the public."

"If you do drugs, you'll end up one of three ways - insane, dead or in jail."

One student asked him what he considered his greatest achievement.

"I made a wallet in a detox center," answered Sanderson. "I finally completed something."

Later on in the program, Gene Macomber of the Quincy Public Schools disagreed.

"His greatest achievement is to talk about life with you people," said Macomber. "That's the greatest thing he has done."

Orr Praises Sanderson For His Comeback In Life

Former Boston Bruin great Bobby Orr downplays his role in Derek Sanderson's recovery from alcoholism and drug addiction, and praised his former teammate.

"Derek is better today because of Derek and because of a lot of people that got after him to straighten himself out," Orr said.

"But Derek did it himself, with some support of friends.

"You have to want to do it yourself, and Derek finally said, 'hey, this is crazy, I'm going to do it (get help).'"

"He's done it, and he's done a wonderful job."

"I compliment Derek - he's back to being the old Derek Sanderson."

Orr said that Sanderson was led into drinking and taking drugs by "so-called friends," and he cautioned youngsters against falling prey to that kind of influence.

"If they're your friends, they're not going to be pushing you or asking you to do things like drugs and alcohol," said Orr.

"Be your own person."

"There are lots of things people can do, and have lots of fun, a great time, without drugs and alcohol."

Quincy's Yesterdays

Sounds Warning About Communists

John Maguire of Watertown, state vice commander of the American Legion, told a gathering at Morrisette Post that "you probably have a hotbed of 'reds' right here in Quincy."

June 10-16
1937

50 Years Ago

"Out in Watertown," he said, "we elected two of them to public office and appointed a school physician who, when trailed, was found to be preaching in a foreign language his advocacy of overthrowing the United States government."

"He was a legionnaire, too, and we were obligated to expel him."

OIL TRUCK DRIVER BEATEN

A 27-year-old Quincy man was dragged from his oil truck and beaten by three men while making a delivery in South Boston as members of Local 68 of the Coal and Fuel Chauffeurs and Helpers Union (AFL) went on strike against 10 Quincy firms.

Emil Chiminello said the men accosted him when he stopped for a red light with the words: "Why haven't you put up your truck like the others?"

Some 100 union members were seeking raises to $36 a week for drivers, $32 a week for helpers, plus overtime pay, union recognition and 44 and 40-hour weeks depending on the season.

Two Quincy companies, the Granite City Coal Co. and the Carter Coal and Dock Co., had already signed contracts.

LARSON OPENS COMEBACK BID

Ring Larson, once a New England amateur champion, won a four-round decision over Roland Dufour of Winthrop in his first comeback bout after nearly four years on the sidelines with an elbow injury.

The fight, promoted by Rip Valenti, was a preliminary to the Al McCoy-Natie Brown heavyweight bout in Fenway Park.

OCEAN VOYAGERS

Three Quincy boys sailed their 18-foot open Winabout sail boats from the Squantum Yacht Club to Portland, Maine, in five days.

They were Alfred Starratt, 22, and his brother, Arthur, 19, of 77 South Bayfield Rd., Atlantic, and Andrew Harvey, 23, of 6 Becket St., Montclair.

The boats were to be delivered from Portland by truck to a camp in the Maine woods where the elder Starratt was a councillor.

FLYERS FOUND SAFE

National Guard flyers Maj. Clarence E. Hodge of Wollaston and Lt. Joseph L. McNeil of South Boston were found safe in the mountains of Nevada after they bailed out of their plane.

McNeil walked 42 miles in 17 hours for help after Hodge was immobilized by an ankle injury.

Cindi-Lee McTiernan Receives Degree, Award At Worcester State

Cindi-Lee McTiernan, a 1983 graduate of North Quincy High School and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McTiernan of 7 Freeman St., Quincy recently received a bachelor of arts degree from Worcester State College.

Miss McTiernan was also the recipient of the 1987 Ella M. Whitney Award. This award was established in 1930 and is presented annually to the senior who has achieved, in the judgement of students and faculty, the most outstanding personal success. The recipient of this award is selected by vote of the senior class, based on the criteria of scholarship record, social aptitude, leadership, and executive abilities, loyalty, and integrity.

Miss McTiernan served as the student representative on the WSC Board of Trustees from 1986-1987. She was the first female student to be elected to the board by the student body.

WSC President, Philip D. Vairo, presented the Trustee Recognition Award to Miss McTiernan at commencement.

Dr. Vairo said Miss McTiernan "worked diligently as a member of the board to make WSC the bastion of higher education that it is today. She has helped me personally through her support, kind words and keen advice. She is an outstanding young lady who deserves the very best."

Miss McTiernan also served as president of the WSC Student Government Association from June, 1985 to May, 1986.

In recognition of their outstanding contributions, Miss McTiernan and Vassilios Karapanos, the incoming student trustee and former president of the WSC Student Government Association, have been invited to spend six weeks as guests of the Republic of China, to attend an international study program.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

If our American flag could find a voice to speak its thoughts, what message would it have for us today? Perhaps if we listen closely, we might hear something like this: "I am the flag which first saw the light of day under the loving fingers of Betsy Ross. I was born of the sun and stars, christened in patriotism, and dedicated to liberty. Like the nation over which I wave, I have changed. My field of blue is now brilliant with the stars of many states... I have led the nation, step by step, from the cradle of liberty to the great world power it is today. I have fluttered from the masts of ships. I have circled the globe. I have been in the depths of the sea and waved from another planet. I have waved in triumph from my staff when great joy filled the nation, and I have drooped at half-mast when sorrow overflowed your hearts... I have been drenched with the blood of brave men who died that the cause of liberty might live. I have been stained with the smoke of battle, torn with the shot of shell of strife... But always I have been in the lead, giving encouragement, enthusiasm, and inspiration, and always I have been followed by the brave-hearted and the true."

Hospital Celebrates Medical Record Week

The Massachusetts Medical Record Association is celebrating Medical Record Week June 8-13.

As professionals in the medical record field, members of the association are responsible for managing health records and health information systems. They accept the responsibility to uphold the principles of the patient's right to privacy, and to assure that information from patients' records is disclosed only with proper authorization.

Medical record department personnel work closely with physicians and all members of the healthcare team, to ensure that the medical record of each patient contains all of the pertinent information needed by the team to treat the patient, both now and in the future. This includes information required by approving agencies to license, certify and accredit healthcare facilities; information needed by third-party payors to pay for health care; information needed by researchers and public health officials to improve health care practices; and information needed by the patient.

In observation of Medical Record Week, and to recognize the contributions of the Medical Record Department Staff at Quincy City Hospital, a breakfast will be held in their honor.

The Quincy City Hospital Medical Record Department Staff includes:

Joan Lind, R.N., director of professional review; Sarah Allie; Thelma Brandolini; Margaret Brigham; Rose Brunstrom; Constance Cahill; Barbara Cate; Mary Cyr; Pauline Fogel; Mary Harrington; Joan Hatfield; Marilyn Hoyle; Cecilia Joy; Kathy Marini; Helen Melville; Carol Moodie; Marie O'Connell; Jean Pettit; Susan Powers; Nancy Siukola; Ann Stearns; Marion Sullivan; Ann Tabor; Roseanne Scurti; and Lauma Silins.

We're Glad You Asked!

WHAT SHOULD A CHILD BE TOLD ABOUT DEATH?

Do you explain Grandpa's death with a fairy tale? Do you say, that God "called him away"? Or do you answer truthfully, and simply, so that the child may relate his grandfather's death to familiar things; flowers, for example, which live, grow, wither and finally die?

We believe the flower example can be understood by the child because it relates to things he's seen and can grasp. "Flowers," you may explain, "don't live a long time but we like them while we have them. Grandpa lived a long time and you and he had many good times together. But, like the flowers, he too, died. We will remember him with love, won't we?"

The child needs to understand that what has happened is a natural course of events -- like the seasons and the rising and setting of the sun. He comes closer to his family through such honest involvement, maturing as he finds his own sadness is shared and understood.

Your questions and comments on this and other subjects are welcome -- in private or publicly through this column.

"PEOPLE HELPING PEOPLE"

"The Gifts Of Children" Sunday At Bethany Church

Church School Sunday will be observed June 14, at Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center.

The single service at 10 a.m. will celebrate the gifts and place of children and young people in the life of the congregation. This service will mark the conclusion of the Church School year at Bethany.

The opening call to worship from Psalm 136 will be led by Amy Chenette and the students of the Middle School class.

The Cherub Choir, under the supervision of Marsha Archer and Sandra Jones, will sing two songs: "Stand in the Need of Prayer" and "Do Lord, Oh Do Lord." The children of the Kindergarten-First Grade class will recite a poem in unison.

The scripture lesson from I Corinthians 12:4-7 will be read by Lisa Chenette and from the Gospel of Mark 10:13-16 by Kristina Massey.

The senior minister, Rev. J. William Arnold, will have a story for the children, "Hoorah for Jasper!"

The children of the 4th-5th grade class, assisted by the 2nd-3rd grade class, will act out a short playlet, "The City of Jericho," concluding with the singing of the spiritual, "Joshua at the Battle of Jericho." Narrators will be Erin Lundin and Carolyn Luechte.

Following comments by youth advisor, Bob Peoples, the Youth Fellowship will present their special "Second Mile" gift to the congregation. The following young people will serve as ushers receiving the offering: Janette Archer, David Corley, Wendy Eng and Steven Fernald.

The Chancel Choir, under the direction of Peter E. Krasinski, organist, will sing as the offertory anthem, "O Sing a New Song."

Jerry Capobianchi, Church School Superintendent, will give brief remarks and conduct the recognition ceremony for the 20 teachers who served on the 1986-87 staff. Denise Fleming will also be honored for her work as Bethany's early childhood coordinator.

Associate Minister, Rev. Joel F. Huntington, will officiate at the recognition ceremony for the youth advisors.

The well-illustrated volume, "Bible Stories for Children," will be presented to children who will be entering the second grade next fall.

The Bethany Folksingers and the Children's Choir will sing the composition by Raffi, "All I Really Need" based on words from the United Nations Charter for Children.

Heather McLain will comment on the mission project of the Church School to raise funds for the New England Home for Little Wanderers. Children of the 2nd-3rd grade class will present the offering, and then with Rev. Huntington will lead the closing prayer of dedication.

As a climax to the celebration, led by the children and choirs, the congregation will "stream out" to the front steps and lawn of the Church where the children will release helium balloons with joyous messages attached to the strings expressing God's love for all the world.

The worship service will be broadcast "live" direct from Bethany's sanctuary at 10 a.m. over South Shore radio station, WJDA, 1300 kc.

Nursery care is provided for babies and toddlers during the 10 a.m. service.

At 11 a.m. there will be a fellowship hour in the Allen Parlor. Individuals and families from the area are most welcome to come and share in the worship and fellowship, and any of the programs offered by the church.

For information concerning any of Bethany's ministries and programs, please contact the church office, 479-7300.

FINAL PLANS are being made for the 12th annual St. Anthony's Festival to be held Friday and Saturday at St. John's Church, Quincy Center. From left, are Fr. Daniel Graham, associate pastor; Tom Ross and Mrs. Patricia Mullen.

St. Anthony's Festa At St. John's Church

The 12th annual St. Anthony's Festa, sponsored by St. John's Parish on the church grounds School St., Quincy, will be held Friday June 12 from 6 to 11 p.m., and Saturday June 13 from noon to 11 p.m.

The Most Rev. Robert J. Banks, Auxiliary Bishop of Boston, will be the principal celebrant and homilist for the Festival Mass Saturday at 4 p.m. This special concelebrated Mass will be in Italian. Immediately following the Mass an outdoor procession in honor of St. Anthony of Padua will be held.

The annual celebration is Italian in spirit and flavor. Young and old will enjoy the variety of foods and pastries available. All family members may participate in many special events at the various booths including games and drawings.

The popular Omegas will provide music for singing and dancing. A clown club composed of almost 40 clowns will be in Italian. Proceeds from the Festival benefit the parish building, maintenance and charitable activities funds.

The event has become one of the most popular religious, cultural and social events of the spring along the South Shore.

Fr. Daniel Graham, general chairman, extends a cordial invitation to the general public to attend the two-day event. Admission is free.

A highlight of the celebration will be a 3.5 mile road race Sunday morning June 14 beginning at 10 a.m. Trophies for winners in various age categories for male and female will be awarded.

Children's Day Sunday At Covenant Congregational

On Sunday, Covenant Congregational Church, Whitwell and Granite Sts., will observe Children's Day

by having the Sunday School children participate in the 10:45 a.m. worship service.

They will sing a song and be recognized individually. Because it is also Flag Day, they will be presented with a small memento.

Rev. Fred Lawson will preach on the topic, "He Called Them Boys," based on John 21:5.

The organ prelude, "In Honor of the Trinity" by Bach, as well as the postlude, "Allegro" from Concerto No. 2 by Handel, will be played by Richard Smith, Minister of Music. The choir, directed and accompanied by Smith, will sing "Sanctus" from Gounod's St. Cecilia Mass, "Holy, Holy, Holy" by Schubert and "Simple Gifts" a Shaker tune.

A nursery is available during the worship service for children age five and younger and will be attended by Mrs. Florence Jacobs, Junior church will be led by Mrs. Linda Day.

Following the morning worship service, the all-church picnic will be held in the church park. Each family is asked to bring a salad or baked beans, eating utensils and lawn chairs. Hot dogs, drinks and dessert will be provided and there will be games and contests for children of all ages.

Events for the coming week are a Trustee Board meeting on Friday, June 12 at 7:30 p.m. and an 80th anniversary celebration of Ladies Aid on June 17.

Pentecost Observed At Squantum Church

The congregation of the First Church of Squantum observed Pentecost with an all-church breakfast and a worship service focused in the Lord's Supper.

The pastor, Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, preached on the subject, "The Breath of God."

During the service, the congregation sang hymns. Janet Williamson played the piano and Mary Ruth Scott played the organ. The Chancel Choir sang "Holy Spirit, Truth Divine."

Seated with the pastor at the Lord's Table were Deacons Stewart Scott, Barbara Anderson, Tom Williamson, Grace Holmes and Kate MacRitchie. Patti

Hurd, chairwoman of the Board of Christian Education, assisted the pastor in recognizing two recent graduates in the church: Sarah Midram, Thayer Academy, and Marsha Anderson, Curry College.

Sally Johnson and her children, Katie and Fin, were the greeters. Lore Wallin and Harry Holmes the ushers. Katherine Hansen and Shirley Mason hosted the Fellowship Hour after the service.

This Sunday will be Sailing Sunday at the church, a day on which members of the congregation celebrate their faith in terms of the metaphor of sailing. Worshippers are urged to come to the service wearing sailing clothes of some kind, depending on the kind of boat on which they might like to sail.

The morning will begin at 9:15 a.m. with a shipboard breakfast in Fellowship Hall sponsored by the young people of the church. Reservations can be made by calling Hazel Mayne at 328-4367. The hall will be well-decorated for the occasion. The service will begin at 10:30 a.m.

In the sanctuary, the theme will be entirely nautical with hymns, scripture and prayers all centered on that theme. Each worshiper will receive a souvenir of the occasion at the door.

Children are encouraged to bring their sailboats to sail after the service. An indoor boat ride will also be available for them at that time. Visitors are welcome.

Annie Brabazon New Resident Director At UNH

By BRIDGET DAILY
Michigan State University
(Special to the Quincy Sun)

A local Quincy resident will be returning to the East Coast in June after spending two years at Michigan State University earning a master's degree.

Annie M. Brabazon, 23, of 94 Alrick Rd. will be the new resident director at the University of New Hampshire in Durham, N.H. She will complete her Master of Arts in college and university administration and will begin her new job Aug. 13.

A graduate resident advisor in Yakeley Hall at Michigan State University, she is one of three graduate advisors in the housing complex.

"Annie is very good at organizing programs and working with people, something that is very important as a resident director," said Stacy Semencuk, resident director for Williams, Yakeley and Gilchrist Halls and Brabazon's supervisor.

Before going to Michigan State, Miss Brabazon attended Bentley College in Waltham, where she was a resident assistant for two years. She became orientation leader and, as chairman of the senior class, spoke at her graduation from Bentley. She graduated with a bachelor of science in management.

"Based on my qualifications of being a resident assistant at Bentley, I got an assistantship as a graduate advisor at Michigan State University," she said.

Once at Michigan State, she continued her ambitions. This year she coordinated a campus-wide health fair to familiarize students and faculty with good health and how to go about achieving good health and staying healthy. She also participated in a handicapper rally in which she had to use a wheelchair to get from the Administration Building to the Student Services Building - a distance of about half a mile.

Miss Brabazon is teaching a leadership class to students who want to learn leadership roles and responsibilities. It is a two-credit class where no one receives a grade which takes some of the pressure off of the normal classroom atmosphere.

Along with her school activities, Brabazon manages to fit exercise time into her schedule. She enjoys running, biking, racquetball, softball and conditioning with weights. She ran a 10 kilometer fun run on campus and hopes to bike along the East Coast with friends.

Brabazon manages her time and fits her studies in as well. "I prioritize my activities over my academics and so far have managed to do well," she said.

Although she will miss all of the friends she has made at Michigan State, Brabazon is really looking forward to returning to the East Coast this summer and starting her new job this fall.

(Annie Brabazon is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Brabazon. Her mother is secretary to the Quincy City Council.)

Vice President George Bush was the commencement speaker.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Bosworth, Jr. of Braintree, formerly of Quincy, Bosworth majored in communications with a minor in political science.

At UNH, he was on the Dean's List, a member of Sigma Nu Fraternity, vice president of the Mortar Board Honor Society, a member of the Honors Convocation and was news editor of the student newspaper, The New Hampshire.

ROBERT BOSWORTH

He has joined the editorial staff of The Quincy Sun.

Jennifer McCauley Receives Journalism Award

Jennifer McCauley, daughter of Mayor and Mrs. Francis McCauley of Houghs Neck, was recently awarded an outstanding performance award in print journalism at American University, Washington, D.C.

A senior, she will graduate in December.

During the summers, she has worked as a student intern at The Patriot Ledger.

2 Residents Accepted At N.H. College

Two Quincy residents have been accepted into New Hampshire College's bachelor of science degree program in Culinary Arts for the Fall 1987 semester. The two are Jennifer V. D'Attilio and Lauren V. Yodzio.

Michele Bythrow Brandeis Graduate

Michele Bythrow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Bythrow has graduated from Brandeis University.

An English major, she was one of approximately 700 undergraduate and 200 graduate students who received degrees.

Miss Bythrow was named a Brandeis Merit Scholar and spent her junior year studying in England. She plans a career in environmental management.

Former CBS News anchorman Walter Cronkite delivered the commencement address.

Security While Travelling (Part 1)

You are probably more vulnerable to theft, robbery, or even assault while you are travelling away from home than you'd like to think. You can, however, substantially reduce your chances of becoming a crime victim while travelling by taking a few sensible precautions, such as those described below.

- Before starting a trip, estimate your expenses and purchase and carry sufficient travelers checks. NEVER carry large amounts of cash. Most stores, restaurants and motels take travelers checks. If you lose your travelers checks they can be replaced. Cash can not. Record travelers check numbers and keep them in a safe place.

- Carry credit cards. Record their numbers and leave the record in a safe place, apart from your luggage and or with someone you can easily contact. You will need these numbers to report loss or theft and to have the cards replaced.

- Leave unnecessary valuable items at home. Make sure your suitcases are permanently identified with your name and address, and that they have locking devices. Check your homeowners insurance to determine what coverage it provides while you are traveling or staying in a hotel or motel.

- If you are traveling by automobile, empty the trunk of unnecessary items. Never leave anything of value in the car unless it is stored in the locked trunk or covered storage well. If you turn your car over to a parking attendant or service station, leave only the ignition key, never leave the trunk key or house keys. Make sure your house keys don't have your name or address on them.

- Portable citizens band radios should be removed from the passenger compartment and put in the locked trunk whenever you stay for any length of time and the car is out of sight.

To be continued next week.

During the month of June the Quincy Police Crime Prevention Office will be offering free home security surveys. If you are interested call 479-1212 ext. 368 for an appointment.

Koch Fundraiser June 18

The Committee To Elect Thomas P. Koch, Councillor at large, will conduct a social fundraiser Thursday, June 18, from 8 p.m. to midnight at the Morrisette Legion Hall, 54 Miller St., West Quincy.

Kevin Burke Proposes Clean City Campaign

In a letter to Mayor Francis X. McCauley, Atty. Kevin M. Burke, a candidate for the Ward 5 City Council seat, proposed that Quincy adopt a Clean City Campaign similar to the program currently in effect in Springfield.

In his letter, Burke stated that such a move would "augment and enhance the laudable efforts of the city council and the Beautification Committee."

In calling for the adoption of such a program, Burke noted "The people of Quincy deserve a clean city. Through education, public awareness, and a commitment by the city, we can give the people what they deserve."

"Of course, part of cleaning

Quincy involves a commitment and voluntary effort on the part of its citizens.

However, if the city government publicly announces its renewed commitment to keeping the city clean and works with its residents to accomplish that objective, we will be able to continue to make Quincy a clean and healthy place to live and work."

When asked about his proposal, Burke noted that he had spoken with area merchants and residents and they all agreed that the city and its residents should heighten their efforts to keep the city clean and attractive.

Burke searched for ways to achieve this objective and contacted Dennis Akins, the Deputy Commissioner for the Mayor's Office of Community Affairs in Springfield.

Akins is actively involved in Springfield's Clean City Campaign and is the area representative for "Keep America Beautiful," the national organization devoted to making the country a cleaner place to live.

Burke stated, "Springfield has implemented a multilayered clean-up campaign. I have received a considerable amount of literature and information regarding the various elements that form the basis for Springfield's clean-up efforts."

"In addition, I have spoken with Dennis Akins and he has indicated he is more than willing to speak with Mayor McCauley or appear before the city council to discuss Springfield's Clean City Campaign. The city of Quincy would then be free to adopt some or all of the ideas and efforts found in the Springfield Clean City Campaign."

One idea that Burke said that he was particularly fond of is the Clean Sweep portion of the Clean City Campaign.

Under Clean Sweep, area businesspeople would sign a contract in which they promise to sweep the sidewalk in front of their stores and to keep their storefronts clean in exchange for a broom and dustpan, said Burke.

In Springfield's Clean Sweep Program the brooms and dustpans were donated by a private business.

Burke said, "This simple idea and effort would go a long way toward cleaning up our business areas. Generally speaking Quincy is a clean city. However, through this proposal I hope that we can improve the cleanliness and make Quincy a model city."

Zone 6 Legion Season Underway

The Zone 6 American Legion baseball season got under way Tuesday with Quincy facing Holbrook.

Last night (Wednesday) Wollaston played Randolph and Morrisette met Carter Post of Dorchester. Friday night it will be Wollaston vs. Morrisette at 8:30 at Adams Field and Quincy at Randolph at 6. Monday Wollaston hosts Holbrook at 8:30 at Adams. Morrisette will be at Milton and Quincy at Carter Post (Dorchester High Field) at 6. Wednesday night Morrisette will face Braintree at 8:30 at Adams, and next Thursday it will be Quincy vs. Wollaston at Adams at 8:30.

Morrisette, seeking its 24th zone title, has 13 players back from last season's squad which just missed making the state tournament.

Ray Cattaneo, who coached the team for 17 years, has turned the coaching duties over to three former players, Dave Pardios, Bob Biagini and Jim Walker. Cattaneo, however, will serve as manager for his 18th season with the team.

The pitching staff will be anchored by Larry Taglieri, one of the best in the league who had a successful season this spring at Eckerd College in Florida. This is his final year of Legion ball.

He is backed up by veterans Dan Overby and Wayne Chambers of Quincy High and two fine looking newcomers in Bill MacDougall of North Quincy and Tim Brillo of Don Bosco.

Bobby McDonald of Quincy is back catching and he is backed up by another promising newcomer, Matt Donovan of Abp. Williams.

The infield is staffed by veterans Jay DeBartolo of Quincy, Dan Biagini of Quincy, this year's Suburban League all-star shortstop, Jim Ross of Quincy, Greg Chambers of Quincy, Mike Mullaney and Ron Fletcher, both of B.C. High. Robby Conquegrano of Quincy is another fine looking newcomer.

Hard-hitting Chris Ricciuti of B.C. High, Ed Flavin of Quincy, and Steve Minichiello of Roger Williams College are veteran outfielders and MacDougall is also an excellent outfielder.

"Larry Taglieri is one of the best pitchers in the league and should have a fine season," Cattaneo said. "We have a lot of experience and are strong up the middle. Hitting will be the key to our success this season."

Mary Pratt In B.U. Sports Hall Of Fame

By TOM SULLIVAN

Quincy's Mary Pratt, longtime coach and physical education instructor in the Quincy Public Schools and one of New England's all-time great female athletes, is a member of the Boston University Sports Hall of Fame.

Shortly she will share a spot with her idol, Ted Williams, in the Baseball Hall of Fame in Cooperstown, N.Y.

"Most of us participate in athletics for the fun and enjoyment that result from the challenge of competition," said Mary, a North Quincy High graduate. "Sometimes there are additional benefits. This I experienced when I recently was notified that the All-American Girls' Professional Baseball League, which operated from 1943 to 1954 was to be accepted into the Hall of Fame."

"This league, for which I played the first five years of its operation, initially started with four teams from South Bend, Ind., Rockford, Ill., Kenosha and Racine, Wisconsin. It later expanded to 10 teams."

"My thrill was further enhanced with the realization that Ted Spencer, curator of the Hall of Fame, had notified our newsletter editor that he recognized the name of his former gym teacher in Quincy on the list of team rosters."

"In a telephone conversation with Ted, he was able to fill in the missing links, as I could not recall when I had him in class. He informed me that he had been one of my students at Beechwood Knoll School and that our paths had also crossed during the summer recreation programs."

The Baseball Hall of Fame is currently undergoing an expansion program and as a part of that project, the All-American Girls' League will be allotted space in 1988.

"Those of us who are so inclined are now submitting suggestions as to the type of memorabilia that we feel

It was done by college students who were researching the involvement of women in various pursuits of life. Some came upon material relative to women who had played ball professionally in the 1940s.

Their curiosity was aroused and they set out to arrange the league's first reunion in 1983. From this evolved their concerted effort to have the league recognized by the Baseball Hall of Fame. Their efforts were rewarded last spring.

"I played during the first five years of the league's operation, four of the seasons coming during the summer should be displayed," Pratt said. "Many of us have scrapbooks, pictures, original contracts, balls, uniforms and so forth that would be appropriate and would be willing to donate for this undertaking."

"Beyond the thrill of playing, the thing that most impressed me was the manner in which the league was organized and started. With the financial backing of Mr. Phil Wrigley, the gum manufacturer and longtime owner of the Chicago Cubs, and the foresight of his wife who was instrumental in establishing strict codes of conduct and dress, the league flourished during the World War II years."

"In those years it was not a socially accepted policy for girls to compete, especially on a professional level. But with the foundation that had been set as a result of strict regulations, the quality of the league was beyond reproach."

The initial thrust for the project to have the league recognized in Cooperstown was not started by the players.

break from my teaching position in Quincy," Pratt said. "I was only able to play one full season from April to September in 1944. That proved to be my best as far as won-loss records, as I pitched 21 victories and lost 15 times. The schedules were long, in excess of 100 games, the season being divided into two halves with a playoff at the end."

Games were played every evening with doubleheaders on Sundays. The teams were managed by former major league players, the most notable being Jimmy Fox and Max Carey. Mary had the opportunity to play for Marty McManus, who had managed the Red Sox in the 1930s. Each team was assigned a woman chaperone, who in many cases were school teachers. Salaries ranged from $60 to $100 weekly which at that time were higher than men playing at the Triple A level.

"Needless to say, could there be a greater thrill than to share a spot in Cooperstown with Ted Williams?" Mary asked.

Raiderettes Eliminated By Somerset

The North Quincy girls' finest softball season came to a disappointing end last Thursday when the Raiderettes lost to Somerset, 9-3, in the quarterfinals of the Eastern Mass. tournament.

The day before the North girls had defeated Norwood, 9-6, in their opening tournament game.

The Raiderettes were handcuffed by Felicia Gedacht of Somerset, a fireballer and one of the top pitchers they faced all season. Gedacht pitched five innings, blanked North Quincy, allowed just one hit, a first-inning single by Ann Anderlionis, and struck out seven. She left with a 9-0 lead. North scored three runs in the seventh off reliever Lori Silverman, but it was far too little and too late.

After scoring single runs in the first three innings, Somerset exploded for six runs in the fifth to hand Kristin Drake her third loss of the year. The fine sophomore hurler finished with a 13-3 record.

Senior Ann Anderlionis, who was 4-0 on the season, relieved Drake in the big fifth.

North scored its three runs on four bases on balls and a two-run single by Nancy Flukes.

Lisa Mitton of North provided the fielding play of the game with a diving catch of a liner to left. She also threw a runner out at the plate.

In the victory over Norwood the North girls played a fine two-way game. They took a 9-2 lead into the final inning when Norwood's Cariss Metta hit a grand slam home run to make things a little more interesting.

Drake pitched a one-hitter over five innings and was given a five-run lead after five. North added four runs in the sixth.

The Raiderettes scored a run in the second when Ann McGuigan singled, went to second on an error, reached third on a passed ball and scored on another error. They added one in the third when Flukes hit her second double and scored on an infield grounder.

In the fifth Drake hit a base-clearing double scoring Flukes, McGuigan and Crystal Moffet.

Norwood cut the lead to 5-2 in the sixth but North came back with four in the sixth with Flukes, Nancy Leonard, Anderlionis and Mitton scoring the runs.

Flukes made a leaping catch of a line drive to end the game.

"It was disappointing to end up like this, but the girls had a great season," said Coach Barbara Webster, who was named the Suburban League's Coach of the Year and the Boston Globe's Div. 1 Coach of the Year. "We went 17-3, finished second to Brockton in the league and were seeded fourth in the tournament. I wouldn't swap my infield for any I've seen all year. But Somerset had strength at every position and Gedacht was close to the best pitcher we saw all season."

This was Webster's first year as North coach after 15 years at Quincy High, where three of her teams made the tournament.

North will lose several of its top players through graduation, Anderlionis, Tricia Grant, Mitton, Colleen Hannon and McGuigan. Coming back will be juniors Nancy Leonard, Flukes and Karrie Pastorino, sophomores Drake, Kristin Reister and Sarah Harrington and freshman Moffet.

Quincy Girls Wind Up Season With 6-7 Record

By TOM SULLIVAN
The Quincy girls' tennis team recently completed its season with a 6-7 overall record and 5-6 in the Suburban League.

It was one of the most competitive seasons the First Ladies have had as they won three 3-2 matches and lost two 2-3 matches.

The season ended on a frustrating note. With the score 2-2 with Brockton, Quincy was forced to forfeit the second and deciding doubles match when, in the third set, one of the Quincy girls was hit in the face with the ball and was unable to continue.

"With all the rain and cold weather, this was one of the most difficult springs I can remember," said coach Shirley Laing. "The most rewarding aspect of the season was how the non-varsity players came to every practice and every one of them showed up at the final practice. Because we had to cancel several practice sessions, these girls didn't receive the attention I would have liked them to have and I was very pleased at their dedication."

Quincy twice defeated North Quincy to again claim the mythical city championship. In non-league matches the First Ladies defeated Weymouth North and lost to Weymouth South.

Quincy's roster included seniors Shamin Bhatti, Maura Garrity, Kim Litterio and Karen Zupkowska; juniors Ruth Rutland, Shain Chaw, Navy Chao, Shelly Hansen, Tricia Lombano and Wendy Stirling; sophomores Carolyn Busby, Denise Carey, Maureen Clonnan, Ivy Dever, Sarah Joyce, Judy Li Rachel Luke, Tricia Stewart and Mary Vo, and freshman Elizabeth Vo.

Litterio and Stirling interchanged for the number 1 and 2 singles spots and Zupkowska played number three.

Mary Vo and Stewart made up the number one doubles team and Garrity and Busby made up the number two team.

"Elizabeth Vo was the number eight player, filling in as asked whenever and wherever anyone was absent," said Laing. "She played number three singles and number one and two doubles, giving up the needed point to win on two fill-in occasions."

Stirling won seven singles matches and Zupkowska won six. The number one doubles team won five matches and the number two team won six.

PLANS FOR the new Fenno St. basketball lighting facility were shown by Park and Recreation Board chairman Charlotte DiGiacomo to former Dist. Atty. and Councillor George Burke, second right, who provided the funding with a check from the Hanrahan Charitable Fund. The donation was dedicated to Richard J. Koch, left, and Gerard A. Coletta, Jr., right, for their 25 years service each to the Park and Recreation Board and Park Dept.

Fenno St. Basketball Court Lighting Dedicated

The newly installed lighting at the Fenno St. outdoor basketball courts has been officially turned on after a blackout of the area since the implementation of Proposition 2½ in the summer of 1981.

The site was activated with four new mercury type wide light fixtures, and new wiring installed at the popular recreational location at the corner of Hancock and Fenno Sts.

The 40 per cent reduction in Park Department expense funds required a new approach to guarantee the continuity of after dark recreational facilities and the organizations and groups utilizing the evening hour lighting areas were requested to assume the electricity cost to assure continuation of the same and those affected agreed.

Former Dist. Atty. and City Councillor George G. Burke was responsible for providing the funding to accomplish the lighting with a $4,780 check from the Hanrahan Charitable Fund to the City of Quincy for the replacement of the lighting facility. The donation was dedicated to Gerard A. Coletta, Jr. and Richard J. Koch for their 25 years service each to the Park and Recreation Board and Park Department.

The lighting season will be now through Oct. 31 from 8 p.m. until 10 p.m. daily.

The cost of the new lights, wiring and installation was $3,787.23 and the balance of $992.77 will be applied to the season's energy or electricity expense.

Burke, in his youth, started his basketball career at the Fenno St. site installing the original backboard and hoop when only tennis courts were located at the playground site.

Testing Friday For Pool Swimming Program

Recreation Director Barry J. Welch, announces that the Quincy Recreation Department will conduct an advance testing program Friday in preparation for registration for its summer instructional swimming program at the Lincoln Hancock Community School Pool.

Registration for classes will be done later this month, and the registration is according to the child's ability. This testing program is for those who are unsure of their child's swimming ability, and who previously have not been enrolled in swim lessons.

The schedule for testing is Friday, June 12, from 5:30 p.m. to 8 p.m. The prerequisite swim test for boating and sailing will also be at this time.

Pool lessons are open to Quincy residents age 6-16 who have a current pool participation card issued by the Quincy Recreation Department. Youngsters 1-5 are eligible for Parent and Tot lessons. Persons desiring lessons at beach locations need not attend testing as it will be done by beach instructors at the time of registration.

Additional information can be obtained by calling the Quincy Recreation Department Office at 773-1380, ext. 204. The normal schedule of swims during testing hours are cancelled.

State Street Moves Into A.L. First Place Tie

State Street Visa climbed into a tie for first place in the Quincy Junior Baseball League, improving their record to 7-2.

State Street is tied with VFW in the American League.

State Street is led by the strong pitching of Sean Herron (4-0, 44 strikeouts), Paul King (2-0) and Liam Higgins (two saves, 16 strikeouts).

Herron pitched a two-hit shutout blanking Quincy Cable 5-0. Billy Morrissey had a single and a triple, Herron contributed two hits, and King and Todd Greenstein had singles.

Aiden O'Donoghue and Joe Chech had a hit apiece for Quincy Cable.

State Street defeated Houghs Neck 14-6 behind the pitching of Scott Wysocki. Paul King paced the hitting attack with two singles and four RBI. Liam Higgins and Sean Herron each had two hits while Brian Currier and Scott Wysocki had run scoring singles. Mike Connors hit a long homerun for Houghs Neck, who also received fine hitting from Robbie Kane and Costas Rosewitz who each had a double and a single.

A 7-2 State Street win over Colonial Federal was highlighted by a first inning grand slam homerun by Sean Herron. Herron recorded the win, striking out eight.

David Manning stroked a clutch two-run double. Brian Currier and Scott Wysocki each had a double while Derek Mooter hit a single and Liam Higgins had an RBI single. Brian Franklin and Scott Wysocki contributed fine plays defensively. Jeff Craig had two doubles for Colonial Federal while Joe Dorsey and Jeff Simon each had a hit.

Sean Donovan struck out 11 in shutting out State Street 3-0. Liam Higgins and Sean Herron both pitched well in defeat.

State Street B bounced back with a sole 4-2 win over Boston Gear. Sean Herron and Liam Higgins combined on a three hitter. Danny Melzard turned in an outstanding game behind the plate. Wysocki led the attack with a triple, while clutch singles were hit by Melzard. Herron and King. Eric Krubz pitched a strong game for Boston Gear. Danny Dunlan had two hits. Billy Skutel hit a double for Boston Gear.

State Street coasted to a 15-1 win over the Elks led by a one hit pitching performance by Paul King. King went into the last inning with a no hitter before David Jenette broke it up with a solid hit. David Manning led the hit parade with three hits, three RBI and his first homerun of the season. Higgins had three hits and 2 RBI. Brendan Gibbons two hits, two RBI and Wysocki two hits. Also getting hits for State Street were Billy Morrissey, King, Brian Currier and Danny Melzard. Matt Doyle made some fine plays in the field.

Foley Chrysler stopped State Street in an exciting 3-2 game behind the hitting and pitching of Sergei Wassileu. Higgins pitched a five hitter in defeat. Wysocki had two hits while Melzard, Todd Greenstein, Paul King and Billy Morrissey had one each. Matt Curry made a great running catch to keep the game close.

State Street responded with a 6-2 win over Rotary. Paul King pitched four innings for the win while Liam Higgins got his second save. The game was highlighted by two State Street steals of home by Matt Doyle and Higgins. David Manning led the hitting barrage with a triple and a single while Sean Herron had two hits. Brian Currier, Danny Melzard, Scott Wysocki, Paul King, Billy Morrissey and Liam Higgins each had singles.

Kevin Boylen had a triple and Mark Suirbalus a double to lead Rotary. Also getting hits for Rotary were Mark Bertrand, Kane (2) and Burke.

State Street's last win was a 5-3 decision over Keohane's. The game showcased the strong pitching of Sean Herron (14 strikeouts, three walks). Matt Curry made several outstanding plays at second. Matt Doyle executed a perfect suicide squeeze to assure the win. Herron had two hits, Billy Morrissey and David Manning had one apiece.

David Lawrence pitched a fine game for Keohane's while Jeff Calvert led the attack with three hits. Pat Shea contributed with two hits and Todd Portesi had a single.

The league standings: American League: State Street, 7-2; VFW, 7-2; Foley Chrysler, 6-3; Quincy Cable, 5-4; Burgin Platner, 4-5; Kiwanis, 4-5; National League: Houghs Neck, 7-2; Boston Gear, 5-4; Keohane's, 4-5; Colonial Federal, 2-7; Rotary, 1-8; Elks, 1-8.

• Babe Ruth

Granite City Wins 3

Granite City Electric improved its record to 8-2 in the Quincy Babe Ruth League by winning three games last week.

Granite City defeated the Sons of Italy 6-5 in a dramatic come from behind victory. Trailing 5-3 going into the seventh inning, left-fielder Jim Munroe led off with a single, his fourth straight hit in the game. Tony Anderliones, who also had four hits, singled to left. After a flyout to center, Angelo Kyranis singled home Munroe and Anderliones. Dave Jolley grounded out to first, with Kyranis moving to third. Thirteen-year-old Vin Anderliones knocked in the game winning run with a single to centerfield, scoring Kyranis.

Steve Wysocki had a double for Granite City.

Dave Gamsby had some trouble with his control, issuing six walks. He surrendered only four singles, one each to Chris Polito, Keith Oliver, Peter Ryan and Joe Zona.

Sons of Italy pitcher Keith Oliver struck out eight batters.

Playing well defensively for Sons of Italy were Mike MacDonald and Rich Kiesel. George Walsh, Corey "Dad" Wayne Sit and Mike Picariello played well for Granite City.

Granite City Electric downed the Firemen 13-4 with a big seven-run sixth inning that broke up a close game. Mike Picariello hurled very well in his pitching debut, yielding three hits and three runs in four innings. He was relieved by hard-throwing Tony Anderliones who allowed just one hit to Steve Netters. Anderliones struck out five.

Jim Maloney, Jason Doyle, Mike Bayliss and Steve Netters all had doubles. Brian Taylor, one of the league's standouts, hit a tremendous shot to centerfield that Granite City's Steve Wysocki ran down leading off the fifth. Firemen shortstop Bill Monteith played very well.

Erik DeBoer and Angelo Kyranis led the Granite City hitting attack. DeBoer had three hits and four RBI while Kyranis had a single and a booming double that rolled out on to Hancock St. Jim Munroe had a single and scored three runs. Dave Gamsby, George Walsh and Tony Anderliones each had singles.

Playing soundly on defense for Granite City were Andy Veneziano, Vin Anderliones and Corey Haddad.

Granite City Electric overpowered the Elks 8-0 behind the superb pitching performance of Erik DeBoer. He struck out 13 Elks and allowed only two singles, one each to Tim Collins and Jim McCarthy.

Granite City's offense was paced by DeBoer's three singles and Tony Anderliones' single, double and triple. Angelo Kyranis and Steve Wysocki also had singles for Granite City.

Elks centerfielder Mike Beatrice made a fine catch on Andy Collear's 330 foot drive. Tim Collins was very solid behind the plate for the Elks. Corey Haddad made a fine catch coming in from deep right field to run down John Kelly's fly ball.

Smooth lefty Bill Warren and Dana Gurwitch handled the pitching duties for the Elks.

Houghs Neck Legion improved their record to 6-3 with victories over Bank of New England and Sons of Italy.

Bob Austin tossed a three hitter in Houghs Neck's 9-5 win over Bank of New England. Sal Manganaro went two for four with a triple and Rob Kiesel had a double and a triple. Also hitting three batters were Peter McLoughlin and Steve McGinnis. Peter Lespasio pitched in with two singles.

Houghs Neck Legion defeated Sons of Italy 6-1 behind the two hit outing of pitcher Peter McLoughlin.

Figuring in Houghs Neck's 11-hit attack were Rob Kiesel with two doubles, Bob Austin with two singles, Chad McMaition with a single and a triple and Peter McLoughlin's two hits.

Houghs Neck played all around exceptionally defense, committing only one error.

In other action Bryan Post downed Morrisette 5-4 led by Sean Mulken's 10 strikeout performance. David Hutchings tossed a fine game for Morrisette, striking out 12.

Bryan scored first on Steve Waas' RBI double and upped its lead to 4-0 on several walks and Michael Malvesti's hit.

Morrisette rallied to cut it 4-2 on singles by Matt Smith and Hutchings and closed it to 4-3 by scoring an unearned run in the last of the fifth.

Bryan scored a pad run, which proved to be the game winner, in the top of the seventh. Brian O'Malley and Mark Kelleher each came through with out of the park ground rule doubles. Morrisette scored its final run in the bottom of the seventh on Peter Lyon's walk and Chris Cincio's single.

Bryan Post's other hits were singles by Kelleher, Aaron Silverman, Donnie Anderson, Mulken and two by Pat McDonough. Kevin Mullay, Chris Stenmum, Steven 1st rd, Joe Marnikovic and Paul Murphy also contributed to the victory.

Morrisette's remaining hits were singles by Jeff Currie, Bob Kelly, and Sean Connolly.

Quincy Schools Alumni Golf Tourney June 29

The first Quincy Public Schools Alumni Scholarship Golf Tournament, sponsored by and open to alumni, staff and friends of Quincy High School, North Quincy High and Quincy Vo-Tech, will be held Monday, June 29, beginning at 1 p.m. at the Halifax Country Club.

"Last winter (Bob) 'Scotty' Whitelaw (a North Quincy graduate and now commissioner of the Eastern College Athletic Association (ECAA) called me and made the suggestion for such a tournament," said Quincy coordinator of athletics Marty Finnegan.

"He felt that there were enough graduates of the three schools who are golfers to start a scholarship fund and to bring people back. It sounded like a great idea to me and we got started on the plans."

The scholarships will be awarded to worthy students of the three schools both male and female. If they have a golf background, it could help but it is not required.

Finnegan and others made a series of phone calls to Quincy, North and Vo-Tech graduates to form a committee.

Those on the committee include Hank Berry, a Quincy graduate and a member of Wollaston Golf Club; Bill Cahill, Quincy High and a member of Milton-Hoosic Golf Club; Tom Connors, Quincy, a Quincy firefighter; Bill Hutchinson, North Quincy, a retired teacher and hockey coach; Tony Malvesti, Quincy, a retired firefighter; George O'Rourke, Jr., Quincy; Fordie Pitts, North Quincy, one of the top golfers in New England; John "Butch" Mahoney, North Quincy; Whitelaw, Finnegan and the committee co-chairmen, principals Lloyd Hill of Quincy, Peter Chrisom of North and Joseph Mazzarella of Vo-Tech.

"This is another opportunity for us adults to show we care for the kids," Finnegan said. "I travel all over New England conducting chemical health programs and I see the many problems the kids face. I think a prime example of how the adults care was the installation of permanent lights at Veterans Memorial Stadium. We sought lights for many years, the city didn't have the money to pay for them and the Quincy Parents Club and North Quincy Boosters Club began a drive to raise the funds. People from all parts of the city and many who have moved away contributed money, materials and labor and we finally realized our dream."

Entries must be received by 2:30 p.m. on June 18 and the tournament is limited to the first 144 entries.

The entry fee is $50 and checks should be made payable to Quincy Public Schools Alumni Golf Tournament and be sent to Chrisom at North Quincy High, 316 Hancock St., North Quincy 02171, or Hill at Quincy High, 52 Coddington St., Quincy 02169.

A team entry fee is $200 and must be enclosed with the entry form.

Registration forms can be had by calling North Quincy High (786-8745), Quincy High (786-8754) or Quincy Vo-Tech (786-8732).

Having your car checked regularly is the best way to prevent major car problems down the road. A combination of getting your car in shape now, for the warm weather days ahead, and paying close attention to the warning signals your car gives to you and then acting accordingly, are key in assuring a car's smooth performance and longevity.

How do you know when your car needs attention? Practice these suggestions offered by Car Care Council.

1. Watch to see if your engine is hard to start, uses gas excessively, is sluggish, smokes, or is excessively noisy.
2. Be sure that your cooling system is in good condition. The advent of more hot weather could bring about the failure of a hose, belt or other components. How long has it been since you checked your anti-freeze/coolant?
3. How about the condition of your tires? Heavy loads at high speeds on hot surfaces are hard on tires. To avoid failure, make sure tires have plenty of tread and are properly inflated.
4. How's your oil? Oil is not only a lubricant, it is a coolant as well. And clean, well filtered oil will help your engine survive the heat.
5. Check your transmission. Does it slip when you shift gears? Is it noisy? Does it shift erratically? For those who tow a trailer, it is especially vital for your transmission to be in the best working order possible.
6. Be sure that brakes stop evenly, and are not making any "funny" noises.
7. Watch to see that lights are working and that they are focused correctly. Also check turning signals and windshield wipers for smearing or streaking.

Now that you've determined some of your car's problems, you will need to find a competent auto repair shop. If this task seems overwhelming, it doesn't have to be. The National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence, an organization that is highly respected in the automotive industry, is an independent, non-profit group which gives voluntary certification exams to technicians.

Motorists can be assured of finding competent automotive service and repair by asking for ASE certified technicians when visiting service stations, car dealerships and independent shops.

Businesses that employ ASE certified technicians usually display the ASE outdoor sign, a large white sign with a dis-

FEMALE FORESIGHT - The growing percentage of women performing do-it-yourself auto maintenance has prompted many automotive product managers to gear marketing strategies to include female customers. Not only do women add or change their own motor oil more than any other maintenance task, they also are more likely than men to service their cars regularly.

tinctive blue seal onto which are printed the initials, A, S and E.

Even if your car is in tip top shape, safeguarding it from summer heat is very important. The most common complaint from summer drivers is that the heat affects a car's radiator, causing it to boil over. However, automotive experts believe that heat can affect the entire car, not just the coolant in the radiator.

Tires that are "overheated" can blow out or shred if the recommended air pressure is not maintained.

Strong sunlight combined with pollutants and salt can damage a car's finish. Washing your car regularly is the best way to combat this problem.

Keeping your car in the best condition possible with regular checkups is the best way to assure a car's longevity and the best way for you to enjoy a safe, happy spring and summer!

1500 Expected In Flag Day Parade

Fifteen hundred marchers each displaying a 12-inch by 18-inch American Flag will step off on Monday, June 15, at 6:15 p.m. to commemorate the 36th annual Flag Day Parade and Observance in Quincy.

Quincy is probably the only community in the country that has consistently celebrated the Flag Day Holiday for three and a half decades, according to Richard Koch.

The traditional event will begin at the Vocational Technical School Parking Area on Coddington St. Parade destination will be Veterans Memorial Stadium by way of Hancock St. for the flag raising ceremonies and a brief speaking program.

The parade will be led by a color guard from the Quincy Police Department and the Quincy Fire Department. Featured in the first division will be grand marshal and guest speaker John P. Comer, national commander elect of the American Legion who will assume his role in August.

As is customary, the parade will stop at the United First Parish Church, Quincy Square, where youth representatives will join the grand marshal in placing wreaths on the tombs of the second and sixth presidents of the United States, John and John Quincy Adams.

The marchers will again pause at the John F. Kennedy Health Center to place a wreath in memory of the 35th president, the only honorary member of the Honor Club.

Wearing the uniforms of their organizations and carrying the flag of their country, the youth groups will be led by the Patriot's Trail Girl Scout Council and the various troops from Quincy and the South Shore who are celebrating the 75th birthday of Girl Scouts this year.

Others in the line of march will include the South Shore Council Camp Fire Girls, Boy Scout Troops and Cub Scout Packs from the Quincy area.

Joining also will be members of the Quincy Youth Soccer, the Quincy Track Club, St. Ann's Baseball League and the sponsoring Koch Club Boys Baseball and Girls Softball Leagues of North Quincy, Broadmeadows, Montclair and West Quincy.

A color guard and unit of the MBIA Police including "McGruff," the crime dog, will be present.

The flags are provided each year by the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association and the Quincy City Club and are retained by the marchers following the program as a memento of the observation.

TV Council Seeks Ideas For City's 100th Birthday Celebration

The Quincy Community Television Council is looking to contribute a video program to the City of Quincy in conjunction with the 100th birthday celebration of the city government.

The council will open a bidding process where Quincy Community producers can submit ideas for the program. Everything from content to format to the length of the program should be considered. Some funding will also be made available for the production.

The theme of the project should surround the 100th Birthday of Quincy becoming a city.

Any interested producers should submit a letter to the council describing their program ideas by July 15. Send a letter to Quincy Community Television Council, 81 School St., Quincy, MA 01906.

The final decision on the proposals will be made in early fall 1987.

Parker School Students

Read 5,183 Books

Students at the Francis W. Parker School read 5,183 books in a reading program from October to May of this year.

program was to stimulate and nurture a love of reading as a life long habit.

To inspire the students, a "bookworm" grew from the school's Media Center and encircled the entire building. When a child read a book he or she earned a "body part" with their name and the title of the book they read.

Co-operative Bank Corp. Completes Quincy Cooperative Acquisition

Co-operative Bancorp (NASDAQ:COBK) and The Quincy Co-operative Bank jointly announce the consummation of Co-operative Bancorp's acquisition of all of the issued and outstanding stock of The Quincy Co-operative Bank.

The Quincy Co-operative Bank has joined The Co-operative Bank of Concord as an independent wholly-owned banking subsidiary of Co-operative Bancorp.

Pursuant to the Acquisition Agreement, Quincy stockholders will receive $30 in cash for each share owned of The Quincy Co-operative Bank, for a total transaction of approximately $58 million.

The acquisition brings the consolidated assets of Co-operative Bancorp to approximately $538 million, the largest combination of co-operative banks in Massachusetts.

The Quincy Co-operative Bank will retain its community identity and existing management. Quincy will continue to function as a separate entity, operating eight banking offices in Norfolk and Plymouth counties.

The Co-operative Bank of Concord operates six full service offices in Middlesex County. Bancorp Mortgage Co., Inc., the newly-formed affiliate of Co-operative Bancorp, operates loan production offices in Acton, Chelmsford and Cotuit, Massachusetts.

With the Quincy Co-operative Bank acquisition, their Plymouth loan office will become part of Bancorp Mortgage's loan office network.

You are hereby notified pursuant to Mass. R. Civ. P. Rule 72 that the second through sixth account(s) of JAMES V. BARRITT as Guardian (the fiduciary) of the property of said ward has/have been presented to said Court for allowance.

If you desire to preserve your right to file an objection to said account(s), you or your attorney must file a written appearance in said Court at Dedham on or before the eighth day of July, 1987, the return day of this citation. You may upon written request by registered or certified mail to the fiduciary, or to the attorney for the fiduciary, obtain without cost a copy of said account(s). If you desire to object to any item of said account(s), you must, in addition to filing a written appearance as aforesaid, file within thirty days after said return day or within such other time as the Court upon motion may order a written statement of each such item together with the grounds for each objection thereto, a copy to be served upon the fiduciary pursuant to Mass. R. Civ. P. Rule 5.

Witness, Robert M. Ford, Esquire, First Justice of said Court, this twenty-eighth day of May, 1987.

INVITATION TO BID

Sealed Proposals for 1987 Sidewalk Rehabilitation Program

Will be received at the Office of the Commissioner of Public Works, 55 Sea Street, Quincy, MA until 10:00 A.M. prevailing time on Thursday, July 2, 1987 at which time they will be publicly opened and read.

The Contractor to whom the Contract may be awarded will be required to appear at this office with the surety offered by him and execute the Contract within ten days from the date of the mailing of notice from the Commissioner to the bidder, according to the address given by him that the Contract is ready for signature and in case of his failure or neglect to do so, the Commissioner may, at his option, determine that the bidder has abandoned the Contract and thereupon the certified check or bid bond shall become the property of the City of Quincy.

The Contractor will be required to provide both a performance bond and payment labor and materials bond each for the full Contract price. A certified check or bid bond in the amount of 5% of the base bid shall accompany each bid.

Specifications may be obtained at the Department of Public Works upon deposit of $25.00 for each set which will be refunded provided they are returned in good condition, within 30 days of the bid opening. Bidders requesting specifications mailed to them shall add a separate check for Ten Dollars ($10.00) payable to the City of Quincy to cover the mailing and handling.

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids or to accept the bid deemed best for the City.

QUINCY POLICE OFFICERS picketed in front of City Hall prior to a meeting of the City Council's Public Safety

New School Superintendent Either Chrystal Or Ricci

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

The Quincy School Committee was scheduled last night to vote on a new superintendent of Quincy public schools.

The three finalists being considered for the position are:

Dr. Richard Chrystal, presently the assistant superintendent of curriculum and financial affairs in Quincy; Dr. Robert Ricci, a former school superintendent in Providence, R.I.; and Dr. Carol Sager, former superintendent in Wilmington and currently a superintendent in Illinois.

The new superintendent will succeed John Osterman who is retiring effective Oct. 1. Chrystal and Ricci appear to be the main contenders.

But most members indicate they are undecided who they will vote for. But one member did go on record saying she would support Dr. Ricci.

Committee members and their comments when questioned by The Quincy Sun:

Stephen Durkin, vice chairman: "At this point, I'm torn between two candidates. If I haven't made up my mind by Wednesday, I'll move to table the vote. I would like to meet with the finalists."

Margaret Nigro: "I am in favor of Dr. Ricci because I am impressed with his record in institutional improvement programs. He had a clear record of accomplishments as a superintendent in Providence. Dr. Ricci also has a broad base of support and outstanding recommendations."

Nigro said the other candidates were also well-qualified.

Frank Santoro: "It's between Ricci and Crystal but I still haven't made up my mind. I have a few questions to ask each candidate."

Christopher Kennedy: No decision until Wednesday's meeting. Kennedy, a member of the visitation subcommittee that interviewed the three finalists, said a report would be presented to the board at the meeting.

Mary Collins: No decision. (She is reported leaning toward Ricci).

Frank Anselmo: Could not be reached for comment. (Reported favoring Chrystal.)

Mayor Francis McCauley: No comment; attending a mayor's conference in Tennessee.

According to Durkin, about 50 people applied for the position. Durkin said a consulting firm was hired to screen the applicants which narrowed the number to seven finalists. These finalists were interviewed by the School Committee which then cut the number of finalists down to three.

A visitation committee, comprising of members Nigro, Collins and Kennedy then researched each finalist's community and job performance.

Salary for the position is expected to be in the high $60,000s or $70,000.

Cheney Wants: New Meeting On Auxiliary Police Issue

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Councillor Michael Cheney said he hopes to hold a meeting next week to further clarify the liability of auxiliary police officers which was a main topic of his Public Safety Committee meeting Monday night.

Cheney also said he has offered to meet with the police union and its representatives to work on an ordinance which would further clarify the paid detail ordinance in the City of Quincy.

"I hope collectively these actions will allow the auxiliary police to return to performing the very valuable volunteer service to the citizens of Quincy," said Cheney.

"At the same time, I hope to resolve the long-standing question in the regular police department's mind of the threat of the auxiliary police taking paid police details," he said.

The action came after Monday's meeting which was picketed by about 35 uniformed Quincy Police Officers in front of City Hall bearing signs which stated such things as, "The auxiliary is a true liability to the City of Quincy."

The officers later joined a larger group of fellow officers inside at the meeting.

Thirty members of the auxiliary police department also attended. The auxiliary has not performed its duties since late last year when Police Chief Francis Finn delivered a cease and desist order because of the legal liability of the officers.

According to the order, auxiliary officers can now only perform in case of disasters or emergencies. They had previously performed duties ranging from crowd control to patrolling city buildings on a volunteer basis.

At the outset of the meeting, Cheney explained that he had met in February with 15 representatives of the Police Department, including several from the union.

According to Cheney, the officers expressed the fear that outside law enforcement agencies and the sheriff's department were slowly taking their details from them.

They also felt that the auxiliary police would soon be seeking pay for detail work now being performed by full-time sworn Quincy Police officers, Cheney said.

He explained that Tony Siciliano, auxiliary police chief, offered to sign an agreement that auxiliary officers would not seek pay for details, according to Cheney.

"The result of the meeting was that I recommended the City of Quincy ordinance with regard to paid detail officers could be amended to clarify all the issues raised by the officers," Cheney said.

"The officers were receptive, however, they requested that their attorney draft a change. That was 131 days ago."

"I have not received any ordinance change or any correspondence regarding a future ordinance change," said Cheney.

Beaches Pass First Water Sampling Test

The Quincy Health Department has begun its beach water sampling program for the swimming season.

Water samples were collected at 15 beaches and the results analyzed by a certified laboratory, were made available to the department last Friday. All test results were within the new and lower acceptable limits.

This year the standard used to indicate the acceptability of the beaches for swimming is a fecal coliform count of 200. This count serves as a fecal pollution indicator and represents the subsequent risk to public health.

Beach water samples will be taken by inspectors from the Health Department each Tuesday one to two hours before high tide, until Sept. 1. The results will be analyzed by a certified laboratory and the Health Department will make the results available to the newspapers by Friday of each week.

A total and a fecal coliform count will be listed for each beach with levels of fecal coliform of less than 200 indicating the beach as acceptable for swimming. Counts of over 200 are unhealthy and unacceptable for swimming. The Health Department will not close beaches for swimming but will inform residents each week of the levels at each of the fifteen beaches.

It should be noted that the lowered fecal coliform count of 200 is consistent with the M.D.C.'s new fecal coliform count, effective this season.

existence of Quincy Junior College as an independent municipal college.

The resolve also proposed that the council ask the commonwealth to provide financial support for the college, rather than join it with Massasoit Community College.

Councillor Toland noted that the Quincy School Committee established Quincy Junior College in 1958.

"Quincy Junior College joined with only two other municipal community colleges at Holyoke and Newton to be the forerunners of a public community college system of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts," stated Councillor Toland.

She noted that passage of the Property Tax Capitation law in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts caused discontinuation of public financial support.

"The citizens of the City of Quincy and area desire and need a public community college to serve those who wish to further their education as well as enhance the cultural and economic life of the city and region," she stated.

Over 1,000 Youngsters March In Koch Flag Day Parade

Despite the heat and humidity more than 1,000 boys and girls wearing the uniforms of their organization and waving the red, white and blue flags of their country marched the 1.3 mile route from the Vocational Technical School to Veterans Memorial Stadium via Hancock St. Monday night in the 36th annual Flag Day parade and observance in Quincy.

The event has been sponsored by the Koch Club for three and a half decades.

The parade was led by a color guard of the Quincy Police Department and Fire Department, and by an honor guard for Grand Marshal John P. Comer of the Morrisette Legion Color Guard and Houghs Neck Legion Post.

A detail of 40 members of an Engineer Company from Fort Devens demonstrated precision marching in the first division.

The George F. Bryan VFW Post Color Guard, oldest participating adult unit was included in the first division.

The Quincy City Club unit led by James B. Moody marched with a display of flags including nation, state and city colors along with the "Statue of Liberty Flag" and the official Constitution Flag QUINCY SQ. was filled with American flags as groups such as the Camp Fire Girls participated in the 36th annual Koch Club Flag Day Parade.

POLICE CHIEF FRANCIS FINN outlined the duties auxiliary police can perform during a Public Safety Committee meeting at City Hall.

New Meeting Planned On Auxiliary Police Dispute

Cheney said he met last Friday with Police Chief Francis Finn and learned that a notice had been sent out to Quincy Police officers informing them that at Monday's meeting, the council would take action that would give the auxiliary police officers powers of special police.

"It is unfortunate that someone within the Police Department misinformed police officers as to the purpose of this meeting," said Cheney, who noted he is not in favor of special police designation.

Police Chief Francis Finn praised the auxiliary police as "most excellent."

"I'd like them to continue some of the things they've done, but I can't allow them as in the past," said Finn.

"We must have a verifiable emergency which the police department can't handle itself - a natural or state disaster."

"Over the years, we have been delighted to have the auxiliary police serve, but they are not covered by an insurance policy when they are not called up properly."

Finn said he thought the auxiliary could be used for crowd control or color guard work because those assignments would not likely involve police work.

"They deserve all the credit they get," said Finn. "But they can only go so far."

Asst. City Solicitor Paul Barbardoro said that not only the city and police department could be liable, but also the auxiliary officer involved in an incident involving an arrest.

"Their houses could be subject to attachment, and the city can't cover them," said Barbardoro.

Siciliano said, "There is almost every reason we shouldn't be out on the street."

"But we've given 50 years of dedicated service."

He spoke of a recent training program over several months conducted by the Mass. Criminal Justice Training Council, and the fact that there has never been a lawsuit against an auxiliary officer in his 20 years with the department. He also said the liability issue is a statewide issue.

"It has always been our intent to support and assist the Quincy Police Department," said Siciliano.

"We don't want the police to feel we're out to endanger them."

"It's not in our hearts to do that."

"How far do we have to go to show our loyalty to the Quincy Police Department? We've given our blood, heart and soul to the city."

"We've done everything possible to work with the Quincy Police Department and the city. I leave it in your hands."

In answer to a question from Cheney, Robert Wise, attorney for the Quincy Patrolman's Union, said he would be willing to discuss the issue.

That meeting may take place next week as well, Cheney said.

Cheney also said that the meeting on clarifying liability will be between himself, the assistant city solicitor, police and auxiliary police.

A Mayoral Primary?

Don't look now, but is that a mayoral preliminary election on the horizon?

Maybe. Maybe not.

Anyway, Herman (Hank) Pasquerella, a Quincy High School English teacher, is telling a few people he might run for mayor again this year.

Pasquerella finished third in a five-man field in the mayoral preliminary election two years ago. The top three finished like this:

Incumbent Frank McCauley, 8,121; main challenger Joanne Condon, 4,642 and Pasquerella, 790. Trailing far behind him were Sabina Kavanagh and David Peterson.

After the votes were tallied, Pasquerella, noting the distance between him, McCauley and Condon mused: "This time, the teacher was taught a lesson."

Whether he actually does run remains to be seen.

He would have little chance of winning against McCauley and challenger Joseph LaRaia. But Pasquerella believes in giving the voter a choice and might just get in on that basis.

By getting in, he would create a preliminary election with McCauley and LaRaia.

Some think a third candidate would be doing both McCauley and LaRaia a favor.

A preliminary election for mayor would give them both an early reading on their strengths and weaknesses -- and time -- to readjust their campaigns if needed.

Without a preliminary election, the candidates really don't discover weaknesses until final election day. And then, it is too late.

Right now the only preliminary contests are in Ward 3 and Ward 5.

SABINA KAVANAGH, Quincy businesswoman, makes it a field of four for the Ward 5 City Council seat being vacated by Council President Stephen McGrath to run for councillor at-large.

Kavanagh has taken out nomination papers for that seat. There had been some speculation she might run for city councillor at-large.

She's the fourth and only woman in that race. The other three contenders: Kevin Burke, John Keenan and Charles Phelan.

This is the 74th in a series of articles written by Rep. Michael W. Morrissey, 1987 Legislative Session.

The Senate is now considering their version of the State Budget for fiscal 1988. This is the next to last step in a lengthy budget process.

In late January the Governor submits his Budget (House 1) to the Legislature for their view. The House Committee on Ways and Means immediately begins a lengthy hearing process, including public comment. The House Committee on Ways and Means then revises the Governor's recommendation (House 1) and submits it to the full House for further debate and review. The current House Budget, after passage, includes such items as $30,000 for patrols on Quincy Shore drive, $60,000 for the patrolling of the Quincy Quarries, and $40,000 for a study on flooding and erosion problems on East Squantum Street.

The House version is passed and sent onto the Senate where it undergoes a series of hearings and scrutiny by Senate members. Once passed by the Senate the final version usually looks completely different from the Governor's or the House's version.

A conference committee, made up of 3 members of the House and 3 members of the Senate will be appointed to iron out the differences between the branches. The final budget will be an agreement forged by the conference committee which will be voted on and enacted by both branches.

The Senate is in budget deliberations this week. A final resolution is expected later this month.

If you have any questions, or if I can be of any assistance, please call me at the State House 722-2230.

Arthur Svensen:

Central Teacher Knows His Geography--Firsthand

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Arthur Svensen of Duxbury is a Central Middle School geography teacher who has more than book knowledge of the subject he teaches.

In addition to travelling on his own, Svensen spent a year teaching in Kingston, Jamaica and in West Berlin, Germany.

"People either love the idea, or think you are insane," said Svensen, who would like to go back to Europe.

"There's a lot of turmoil and aggravation. But the pluses outweigh the minuses.

"Jamaica was a nice place to visit, but I wouldn't want to live there," said Svensen, who travelled to that country in 1974 with his wife Diane, a French teacher, and their three children.

The Svensens are parents of Alan, 20; Andrea, 18; and Alex, 16.

"Hot" was the word Svensen chose to describe Jamaica where he taught in a Jesuit private school.

Despite power shortages and living without a phone for a year, the family enjoyed learning about another culture, according to Svensen.

He considers Germany and Austria the most beautiful countries in Europe.

"Germany is so orderly and clean and the public transportation system is outstanding," he said.

"There was nothing about Germany that I didn't enjoy," said Svensen, who taught in a U.S. sponsored school in 1982.

"Germans are not as friendly as Americans, but they're not unfriendly."

He also said that the theater and opera are very inexpensive in Berlin.

According to Svensen, teachers are given greater respect as professionals in Germany and Jamaica than in the United States.

He also noted that the pay in Germany was comparable to that of the U.S., but in Jamaica it was less.

"But I didn't go there for the money," Svensen explained.

"I get bored doing the same thing and need a change.

"I come back a little more excited. Everyone can use a change.

"Seeing the Berlin Wall, the poverty and food shortages in Jamaica, gives you insights.

"Travel opens your eyes to America - its good and bad.

"We think we are so advanced, but we still have a way to go in America.

"We can't be too chauvinistic. We have to open our eyes to deficiencies.

"Racially, Jamaica is way ahead of us."

Svensen said his wife taught English and French in Jamaica, but did not teach in Germany.

His children had no problem adjusting to the two countries, he said, though his oldest son missed high school sports.

"In Jamaica, the kids missed cereal," he laughed.

Their educations didn't suffer in either country, according to Svensen.

"Basically, I've always been a lover of geography and world cultures, more than from a tourist's viewpoint," he said.

The hardest part was being away from family, according to Svensen who said he lost a relative on Christmas Eve while in Germany.

He said he shows slides of his travels in his classes.

"I feel that it's more impressive for students to have first hand knowledge," said Svensen.

He considers himself a "pretty demanding teacher."

"Kids consider me hard and demanding, but I consider that a compliment," said Svensen.

"A former student described me as the kind of teacher when you have, you wish you didn't, but afterwards you are glad you did."

"Some people think I'm a saint, and some would shoot me."

"Yet I'd be considered an easy teacher in Germany where they are more content-oriented."

"I went to parochial school and was made to do the job, to make the best of me."

"Someone cared enough to push me. Most smart kids rise to the occasion.

"I'm not asking them to do something they can't do."

Svensen grew up in Quincy, and decided to become a teacher after his brother went into that profession.

"You tend to be influenced by your family," he explained.

Svensen went to State Teachers College after high school.

"I tried practice teaching and I liked it," said Svensen who holds bachelor's and master's degrees.

A Quincy teacher since 1966, he has also been cross country and track coach since then at Archbishop Williams High School, Braintree.

In 1986, he was named "Coach of the Year" by The Boston Globe for his boys outdoor track team.

"We won three state titles in a row in track," explained Svensen. "And we were second in the state."

Svensen said he enjoys both teaching and coaching.

But, he notes, coaching is more relaxing.

"The kids are there because they want to be. Students have to be in school."

Editor's Note: Arthur Svensen was selected for a teacher profile by a panel from the Quincy Education Association for his work as a professional educator, and also, as an involved community person.

Panelists are Deanna White Hebert, Snug Harbor School; Paul Phillips, North Quincy High School; Jack Buckley, QEA president, Central Middle School; Thomas Walsh, Quincy High School; and Mary Curtin, Atherton Hough.

Teacher profiles will continue in The Quincy Sun.

Quincy's Yesterdays

Comic Book Publisher Sues City On Ban

A New York comic book publisher filed suit in Federal Court in Boston for a permanent injunction to prevent the Quincy Literature Review Board from banning its publications from the city's newstands.

June 17-23

38 Years Ago

Named in the suit were Mayor Charles A. Ross, Police Chief John J. Avery and the three members of the Review Board, Rev. Joseph D. Parkman, Mrs. Katherine J. Quinn and Mrs. Ida G. Glasser.

The Board was set up by the City Council in December, 1948, to regulate the sale of comic books and paperback reprints that might, in the view of the Board, tend to corrupt the morals of the young.

Two comic books published by the plaintiff, Lee Gleason Publications, Inc., of New York, entitled "Crime Does Not Pay" and "Crime and Punishment," were the first books banned by the Board.

POVERTY IN WOLLASTON?

A proposal to cut the metered price of parking in Wollaston from five cents an hour to two and a half cents an hour drew sharp criticism from City Councillor Edna B. Austin.

"I didn't think the people in Wollaston were so poor" she said as the City Council referred the proposal to its Ordinance Committee.

Leftover Mashed Potatoes Try Them In Tuna Loaf

Ever wonder what to do with leftover mashed potatoes? I don't know about you, but at our house, there seems to be about a cupful left. Sometimes it just sits in the back of the refrigerator, forgotten. However, one day, those potatoes went to full use. I used them in a tuna loaf with good results. Here is the recipe.

TUNA LOAF

1 can of tuna fish (any kind)
2 eggs (slightly beaten)
1 to 1½ cups mashed potatoes bread crumbs or cracker crumbs (about 1 cup or so)
1 onion (chopped)
a tspn of parsley

Mix all ingredients together using enough bread crumbs so mixture will be firm enough to bake. Put in a greased meatloaf pan (or shape in the form of a loaf in another pan) and bake in a 350 degree oven (uncovered) for about 45 minutes. I served it with white boiled rice (my daughter Nancy's favorite) and a salad (my favorite). And for those non-dieters who love creamed sauces (my husband's favorite) this tuna loaf is delicious with a white cream sauce poured over it. While you're at it, you can also put some peas in the sauce and serve creamed peas with it. Anyway it was a good way to use up those potatoes!

Sailing Sunday Observed At Squantum Church

Everything was nautical Sunday at the First Church of Squantum as members celebrated Sailing Sunday with a breakfast sponsored by the young people of the church and a special worship service.

The morning began with the shipboard breakfast held in Fellowship Hall, which was decorated with wall-length murals, one of which was over 30 feet long. The murals depicted sea scenes and sailing ships. A lobster trap surrounded by replicas of various sea creatures had been placed at a central point in the room.

At another point, there was a dock complete with a little boat that could be pushed about the room so that the younger children could take a boat ride. There was a ring toss game on an ocean theme, a wading pool in which the children could sail their toy sailboats, and a television monitor which continually showed an animated cartoon version of "Noah's Ark." Everyone agreed, however, that the highlight of the decorations was the 20-foot model of a top-sail schooner which had been built of paper on the stage. Teen-agers in the church were responsible for all the decorations.

Worshippers had been encouraged to wear clothes suitable for sailing so members of the congregation sported a variety of ocean-going clothes and navy uniforms. Each person who entered the sanctuary received a special "Sailing Sunday" program and a Christian key chain as souvenir of the occasion. The key chain included both the symbols of the cross and the fish.

The service began with a prelude by organist Mary Ruth Scott, who played "Chantey" from "Poems of the Sea" by Ernest Bloch. Commodore Richard Hendry, Past Commodore of the Squantum Yacht Club, gave the call to worship. During the opening hymn, "Eternal Father, Strong to Save," there was a parade of sail as the little children carried their sailboats down the aisle.

The opening prayer was given by Sailor Kate MacRitchie. Then, after shipboard greetings by the pastor, the Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, he showed the congregation two giant cartoon strips of stories in the Bible drawn and written by teen-agers in the Brockton Diagnostic Assessment Unit and the Brockton Shelter-Care Unit, two detention facilities in Brockton which serve this area. Dr. Langevin is the chaplain at both institutions as part of his work as pastor of the special South Shore ministry called "The Way Up."

Sailor Calvin Bumpus read the scripture reading for the morning, Luke 8:22-25. Sailors Andy and Lori Ogilvie led a prayer for those who sail. The anthem for the Captain of our souls was "Thanks Be to Thee" by G.F. Handel. It was sung by members of the Youth Choir and the Chancel Choir combined. Sailor Gretchen Bumpus gave the prayer of dedication.

Dr. Langevin preached on the subject, "Navigating Life."

Calvin and Gretchen Bumpus, and their daughter, Blythe, were greeters for the morning; Stewart Scott and Tore Wallin were ushers; the Fellowship Hour after the service was hosted by Barbara Anderson and Ruth Westerbeke.

On Sunday, June 21, the service will be a special one for Father's Day at 10:30 a.m. The youth choir will sing. Visitors are always welcome.

'Loving God With Your Mind' Sermon At Bethany Church

There will be only one service at 10 a.m. Sunday in Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center, as part of the summer schedule.

During the service, graduates of high school and college who are members of the congregation, will be recognized and honored.

Scholarships totaling $6,700 will also be presented to various students as an indication of Bethany's continuing interest and concern for the future of its young people.

The Rev. Joel F. Huntington, associate minister, will make the presentations.

The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will preach the sermon on "Loving God With Your Mind," based on Jesus' words in the Gospel of Mark 12:30, "You shall love the Lord your God with all your heart, and with all your mind, and with all your strength."

Other scriptures to be read include the Old Testament lesson in I Kings 3:5-14 and the New Testament epistle from I Corinthians 14:13-20. The lay scripture reader will be Helene Crofts.

Guest flautist, Caroline Calabro will play three solos from J.S. Bach's Sonata II "Siciliano" and "Allegro" and as the prelude, "Allegro Moderato." Peter J. Krasinski will be at the organ console.

Nursery care is provided for babies and toddlers during the worship service.

Beginning at 11 a.m. following the worship, there will be a fellowship time with light refreshments held in the Allen Parlor. Individuals and families from the community are invited to attend and share in the worship and fellowship.

For additional information concerning Bethany programs and ministries, please contact the church office at 479-7300.

New Membership Sunday At Wollaston Congregational

New members Sunday was observed Sunday at Wollaston Congregational Church with new members of the present year being honored.

The Rev. Elden D.J. Zuern preached on the topic "Have Faith In God."

The lay scripture reader was Don Frazer. Greeters were Louise and Henry McDaniel. Ushers were Larry Hilton and Karl Schwendenman, and the acolyte, Robert Olson.

New hand chimes were dedicated and the players gave their first rendition. Members of the organ, led by organist-choir director, Donald A. Reade, are: Linda Walker, Joan Tierney, Gus, Erik and Laurel Oster, Tavey L. Towle, Gilda Knowles, Genevieve Todd, Barbara Frazer, Paul Frazer and Marion Channon.

Following the service a roast beef dinner, coordinated by Harry Towle, was served.

This was his initial effort towards his community service project on his way to Eagle Scout status. All proceeds will go toward "The Roof Fund."

The last of the "Cottage Meetings" was held Monday. The Youth Fellowship will hold a cookout at the church tonight (Thursday) at 6 p.m. All fifth graders interested in joining the group next fall are invited to attend.

Ekman Tsang In Honor Society

Ekman Tsang of 12 Wollaston Ave., Quincy was recently selected as a member of the Don Bosco Technical High School's honor society for 1987.

At the 10 a.m. worship service Sunday at Covenant Congregational Church, Whitwell and Granite Sts., Rev. Ralph Youngman of East Bridgewater will be the guest speaker.

Because it is Father's Day, the fathers of the congregation will be remembered.

This will be the first service held at 10 a.m., the summer hour for worship until Sept. 6. Following the June 21 service and every service in the summer, a coffee hour will be held in Person Hall, hosted by Anna and Bob Day. Starting on July 5 the morning worship services will be held outside in the church park, adjacent to the church, weather permitting.

A nursery for children age five and under is available during the service and will be attended by Susan Jacobs. Junior Church will be led by Mrs. Linda Day.

The choir, directed and accompanied on the organ by Richard Smith, minister of music, will sing "Laudate Domino" by Mozart, featuring a soprano solo by Luisa Dano, and "O Jesus, I Have Promised" arranged by Carter. The organ offertory, "Aria" by Peeters, as well as the prelude and postlude will be played by Smith.

This week the Evangelical Covenant Church will hold its annual denominational meeting at the Sheraton Sturbridge Conference Center. Day sessions will include meetings, workshops and seminars. Evening sessions, which are open to members of all churches, will feature the ordination of new ministers and the commissioning of new missionaries and Christian Education workers. The delegates from Quincy are Rev. Fred Lawson, Robert Dano and Ruth Nelson. Several of the church women will also travel to Sturbridge to attend the Covenant Women Annual Meeting.

A Vacation Bible Day Camp for boys and girls age five to grade six will be held on Wednesdays from July 15 through Aug. 12. Each session will run from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. The theme this year is "A Journey to Japan." A registration fee of $4 will be charged. A special trip is planned for the last day. Adult volunteers are needed as teachers, helpers, kitchen helper and piano players.

More information about any of the church's activities is available by calling the church office at 479-5728.

Granite Columns At Marina Bay Corporate Park

Marina Bay's Corporate Park has taken on a whole new look after four granite columns were being resurrected in front of Marina Bay's Corporate Park.

The columns, each with a six-foot square base, are approximately three feet in diameter and approximately 30 feet tall, and weigh approximately 9,000 pounds each. With four pieces per column, each fully assembled column weighs in at approximately 36,000 pounds.

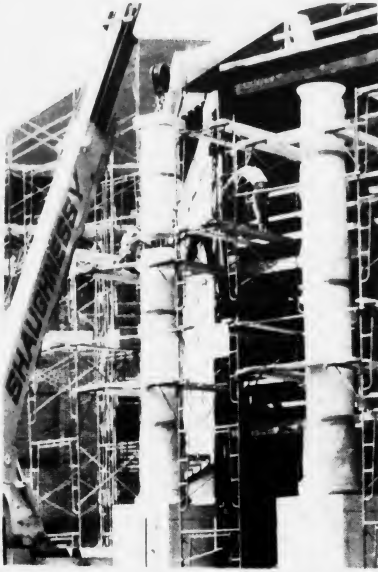

Quarried from 'The Rock of Ages' quarry out of Barre, Vt. the four columns have been under construction for approximately six months.

"The uniqueness of the column is that, very rarely in today's architectural plans are these columns employed," says Gerard Rousseau, representative from The Rock of Ages Quarry. "In addition, the cost factor involved with procuring and erecting the columns, often makes the column styling prohibitive."

Besides the striking entrance framed by these four granite columns, this historic 19th century - looking building, designed by George Ross Associates of North Quincy, will also feature copper roofs and dormers, and a classic, gold-leafed central dome.

Approximately 700,000 square feet of office space is offered throughout the four office buildings.

The planned interior design will include conveniently proportioned office modules as well as creative floor plans offering multiple corner office opportunities and spectacular Boston harbor and skyline views.

The first phase of the project, developed by Peter and William O'Connell of O'Connell Management Company, Inc., is scheduled to be completed this year and the accompanying amenities are hard to resist.

Only a 10 minute drive from downtown Boston, Marina Bay has regularly scheduled water shuttles leaving daily to Boston; or a convenient bus service that is provided to and from the North Quincy MBTA Station.

Village Boardwalk Birthday Celebration At Marina Bay June 20

The Marina Bay Village Boardwalk will kick off its summer season with a birthday celebration Saturday, June 20. The public is invited to the re-opening of the many shops located there last year and the opening of a number of new ones.

The Nantucket-styled village boardwalk offers a wide selection of unique wood-shingled shops and restaurants.

On June 20 in honor of the boardwalk's birthday there will be more than just shopping and eating. Other features will include troubadours, clowns, jugglers and mimes. In addition, the United Brass Quintet will fill the boardwalk with music.

From 3 to 5 p.m., the shop owners have planned a fashion show to highlight some of the many styles of clothing that can be found both at the Village Boardwalk and in today's fashion arena in general.

Marina Bay, sponsor of the Corporate Park residents.

Within the Corporate Park, are restaurants ranging from casual to elegant. In addition, there is take-out dining and an employee cafeteria.

There are retail shops for personal and business needs as well as full service banking facilities.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Did you know that Fathers are the strongest, richest, smartest people in the world? Well, they are! Just ask their children... A teacher friend of ours did. Here are the results. Hope you enjoy them as much as we did...

For instance, in the strength department 9-year-old Ronnie's father has no match. "He has big muscles and can bend steel in his bare hands just like a blacksmith..." Vickie, age 7, agreed that was nice, but she could go one better. "My dad," she declared, "is bigger than my mother. He's five feet tall and weighs about 130 pounds..." Laura, age 7, was not to be outdone. "My father's 10 feet tall," she simply said.

Fathers not only are super-human, in size and strength, but they're wealthy and have an unlimited amount of money at their disposal. Ronnie's father has set up a matching fund program to help Ronnie buy a bike. "I work and work cutting grass," he said. "Any kind of money I make, my dad will double it. He just takes it out of his pocket." (Ronnie's treasury now stands at 80 cents.) Vickie indicated that her dad is in the upper-income bracket. "He makes about $1,000 a day. He can even pay our light bill..." Laura said her dad is quite smart. She wasn't sure where his money came from. "It must be hard job," she said, "because he lies in his chair a lot."

And so, to all you Strong, Rich, Smart Fathers... HAVE A HAPPY DAY!

Get 'Arrested' And Help March Of Dimes

A fundraising benefit for the March of Dimes fight against birth defects involving phony arrests and a one-hour stretch in the "slammer" is now underway until Thursday, June 18.

Scores of civic leaders and ordinary citizens are participating in the event, chaired by Senator Paul Harold.

Requests for "arrests" can be phoned to the March of Dimes at 329-1360. A phony warrant is prepared and the accused appears at the mock jail at Marina Bay in North Quincy. There, a judge sets bail and the prisoner is locked up while the next hour is spent calling friends to raise bail in the form of pledged contributions to the March of Dimes.

To jail a friend call Ariane Miller at 329-1360.

Security While Traveling

Part 2

As we told you last week you are probably more vulnerable to theft, robbery, or even assault while you are traveling away from home. The following is the second part of a two part series giving you sensible precautions to take while away on vacation.

- When you stop at a hotel or motel you should determine the most direct route to and from your room, the most direct route to the fire escapes, elevators and nearest phone. Linger in the hallways or other isolated areas is an invitation for assault.
- When in your room, use all auxiliary locking devices on doors and windows. Don't rely on chains only as a deterrent. Use the door only if you are certain the person has legitimate reason to enter your room. If in doubt, call the hotel motel office.
- Once you are safely in your room, unpack and place your belongings in the closet and dresser. Lock and stow empty suitcases so they can't be used to carry your property out of your room. Take your valuables and place them in the hotel motel safe.
- Never take valuables to the beach, always lock them in the hotel motel safe, that's what it is for.
- Be alert when you travel in the hallways, elevators or parking lots. Report anyone who appears suspicious to the hotel motel security people.

- When you are by yourself don't enter an elevator with anyone who arouses your suspicions. If someone you are not sure about gets on the elevator with you, wait to signal your destination until they get off, even if it means riding all the way back to the lobby. Stand close to the control panel so you can reach the emergency alarm if necessary. Have a friend or the hotel motel security person walk with you to your car if it is parked in a dark area. You can drop the person back at the main entrance.

With these tips the Quincy Police Department hopes you have a safe trip and always remember that common sense and caution can help confound crooks and make your travel safe and leisurely. During the month of June the Quincy Police Crime Prevention Office will be offering free home security surveys. If you are interested call 479-1212 ext 368 for an appointment.

Over 100 Attend EVA Awards Presentation

The Extended Vocational Alternatives Program, commonly known as EVA, held its annual awards banquet recently at Quincy Voc-Tech School.

Over 100 parents, teachers and friends enjoyed a buffet dinner prepared by EVA students and their instructors, David Zeno and Harold Stevens. An ice sculpture created by Salvatore Serrachia decorated the table of food.

The awards ceremony was hosted by Lou Tuzza, coordinator of special education.

Awards, including trophies, certificates and T-shirts, were presented by resource room teachers and vocational instructors to John Abbott, Steven Antonuccio, Bob Balzano, Paul Brooks, James Chichester, Craig Connell, Kristen Contrino, Lee Kelly, Matt Lalama, Michelle Lalama, Charles Lawson, Anthony Madden, Sheila McVeer, Laurie Melius, Michele Mulvey, Catherine O'Donnell, Louis O'Leary, Paul Plante, Harry Polito, Albert Medtrali, Pam Schindler, Mark Smith, Randy Stuart, Daniel Sumpter, Ruth Sweet, Vlado Tervakovski and Paul Tyanetti.

Scholarships of $50 were presented to Steven Antonuccio and Charles Lawson donated by Mr. and Mrs.

James McCormick of Quincy. Guest speakers were Joseph V. Mazzarella, Quincy Voc-Tech director, and Dr. David Comm, association commissioner of occupational education.

Other highlights included speeches by seniors Charles Lawson, Sheila McVeer and Steven Antonuccio, and displays of shop-developed projects by Harry Polito, Daniel Sumpter and Steven Antonuccio.

The "Most Effective Teacher" award went to Leonard Cavarero, resource room teacher and coordinator of the program. EVA has been an integral part of the program since its inception nine years ago. It was honored for its contribution to the Voc-Education Community.

The EVA program recently selected programs to be recognized by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts Division of Education. Programs include "Employment Training for Youth of Special Needs Program," "Mathematics Work."

Musical Memories:

We ♥ Music, Drama, Dance... The Arts!

Creating Our Nutcracker

In the fall of 1986, our teachers, Ms. Hebert and Ms. Farrell, got together and wrote a grant which was submitted to Quincy Public Schools Arts Council.

The council awarded them the money to hire a choreographer, Janine Venable of the Boston Arts Group, to work with them on an adaptation of "The Nutcracker."

Ms. Ryan and Miss McKeever's second graders were invited to dance in the play.

We began by getting the classes together to read the script, see filmstrips and read books about "The Nutcracker."

On Dec. 2 all four classes went to see the ballet as performed by The North Atlantic Ballet Company at the Strand Theater in Boston. It was long, but enjoyable.

About a week later, the dancers from the N.A. Ballet came, fully costumed, to tell us what it was like to stage a performance, put on make-up and what it's like to make a "slip up" on stage.

We had try-outs for the speaking parts. Everyone who wanted to try out could. The dancers started to learn their dances in the beginning weeks of December.

After a week of practicing our lines at home and in our classrooms we did it on the stage for the first time. A few weeks later the dancers joined us in practice. In January the play really progressed - the lines went smoothly and the dances went perfectly. Ms. Venable came in more and more. She was assisted by parent Joanne Daley who volunteered endless hours during the three month development of the play. Much patience was needed by our teachers and the cast.

During this time a meeting of parent volunteers was called by our teachers. The parents worked tirelessly on costumes and scenery. They made our performance look spectacular.

In February everyone was ready. Our first performance was a Quincy Cable taping. In total we had six performances. Since we had four classes in the play, we could invite our parents to one performance.

After all of the performances we had a cast party in the lunchroom. Everyone had worked so hard to make the play a success and it was!

A Special Cantata

'Abigail Adams'

The cantata, "Abigail Adams," was presented Thursday, March 26 by the fifth grade students of Furnace Brook School in Quincy under the direction of Gay Carbonneau, music specialist.

This work was written by Milton composer, Marjorie Jeffries, especially for the Furnace Brook School. The cantata covers the early years of Abigail's life before she was our nation's first lady.

The project was funded by the Arts Council of Quincy and the students were given an opportunity to receive instruction from the composer herself. The work is a result of a meeting between Marjorie Jeffries, the composer and Gay Carbonneau, the school music specialist at the annual reading of the Adams letters at the Adams Academy Library in Quincy.

It is an example of the extension of music and social studies into one another's spheres and is an adjunct to the fifth grade students' extensive research into "Historical Quincy" last year. The fifth grade teachers, Miss Barbara DeWolfe and Ms. Susan Farrell, were of great help to the pupils.

The Furnace Brook School fourth grade students assisted in the program by performing songs from the American Revolutionary Era. They also presented historical vignettes as written and produced by their teachers Mrs. Denise Leonard, Miss Margaret Mahoney and Miss Kay Shea.

The cantata was performed again on May 16 for the Quincy Historical Society. It was part of a Historical Fair that continued throughout that afternoon. The Quincy Historical Society is located at 8 Adams St. in Quincy, the former Adams Academy building.

The Cantata had a many layered effect on the students. Letters of thanks to the composer mentioned the "history lesson" aspect of the lyrics; the opportunity to "receive instruction from the composer"; "you even made us sound better"; "you told us you can't get everything right the first time"; "I thought the songs were so good you should write for an orchestra"; "it was a lot of hard work, but I had fun."

I Enjoyed Singing

Dear Mrs. Carbonneau,
Thank you for putting the cantata together. I enjoyed singing. It was fun. Thank you for having patience with us! If you hadn't we would not have known all the words, and we would not have sounded good.

Nicole Paquette

An Outstanding Job

Dear Ms. Jeffries,
Thank you for all your help and support while we were working on the cantata.
You really did an outstanding job on composing the songs. Also, you play the flute very well, and by playing it, you helped us on our round. Thanks again!

FOURTH GRADERS of the Furnace Brook School performed songs and presented historical vignettes in the recent presentation of the "Abigail Adams" cantata.

I Loved It

I loved participating in the Cantata.

I thought all the songs were great, but my favorite was the round. The people who were watching probably got more of an idea of John and Abigail's life. Thanks very much.

Jason Fennessy

We Have Learned A Lot

Dear Mrs. Carbonneau,

I am very thankful for all your help and cooperation. We have learned a lot and had fun. I also thank you for your time writing the composition. It was a lot of hard work, but I had fun.

Gabrielle Bennett

A Very Good Experience

Dear Mrs. Carbonneau,

Thank you so much for spending your time with us for the program. It is a very good experience, probably one I'll never have again.

Pamela Francoeur

Thank You For Sharing Your Songs

Dear Mrs. Jeffries,

Thank you for sharing your songs with us. We enjoyed them. The flute sounded very nice with that song. Once again thank you.

Amy Echelle

I Had A Great Time

Dear Mrs. Jeffries,

Thank you for your time and effort. I had a great time. I think most people liked it. It was hard, but it was worth it.

Gabrielle Bennett

I Think It Was Neat

Dear Mrs. Carbonneau,

Thank you so much for spending almost all your time teaching and preparing us for the cantata. I really think it was neat that we got to work with Mrs. Jeffries. I doubt that I'll ever have such an experience again. My appreciation is very deep. I think you're a really great music teacher. I can't wait to start with the spring concert. Thank you so much.

Thank You

Dear Fifth Graders,

Thank you for your beautifully written letters with their nice comments. Many of you even thanked me for correcting you! Be sure to thank Mrs. Carbonneau too. We could not have done it without her.

I loved creating the songs and words about Abigail Adams because she was such an extraordinary woman. It gave me a chance to know her better. Some day you may want to learn more about her.

Writing the Cantata takes a surprisingly long time, lots of it exciting and creative, and, like everything, some of it boring drudgery (copying and correcting the score). What surprised me was how fast you learned the music and words (once you put your minds to it).

Bravo to all who dared to sing or speak alone or in small groups. "Nothing ventured, nothing gained."

Bravo to all of you for really coming through in the performances. I am looking forward to the one for the Quincy Historical Society.

For composers, their work only really comes alive when it is heard.

So I am the one to thank YOU for giving life to Abigail!

Sincerely,
Marjorie S. Jeffries

You Were Very Creative

Dear Ms. Jeffries,

I thank you so much for writing the cantata. It takes great talent to do that. Most people could not even rhyme those words. I thought that the songs were so good that you should write for an orchestra. At the cantata my mother said you were very creative. Thanks for all your hard work and support.

Brian Galvin

Thank You

Dear Ms. Jeffries,

Thank you for being a big part of the cantata and the writing of it. You told me that you can't get everything right the first time and said practice makes perfect.

It's just sad I can't see you as often as Mrs. Carbonneau.

Sidney Leung

Thank You

Dear Mrs. Carbonneau,

Thank you for working with us. I liked the songs. Not only that, but I learned about John Adams and Abigail. I enjoyed them. I am so glad you picked Miss Jeffries' cantata. Thank you again.

Maria Sourmadis

Beautiful Songs

Dear Ms. Jeffries,

Thank you for composing those beautiful songs. I am very grateful that we had an opportunity to receive instructions from the composer.

Jeffrey Tirrell

A History Lesson

Dear Ms. Jeffries,

Thank you for writing the songs for us. It also gave me a history lesson on John and Abigail Adams' life. Thanks again. You've been a big help to us.

Toland To Seek 4th Councillor At-Large Term

PATRICIA TOLAND

At a recent reception in her honor Councillor-at-Large Patricia M. Toland announced that she will be a candidate for re-election to the Quincy City Council in November.

"I want to thank all of you for your loyalty and support over the last 12 years and ask you once again for the opportunity to serve this fine city," Toland said.

Toland has served six years in the City Council and will be seeking her fourth term.

She was first elected to public office in 1975 to the Quincy School Committee where she served as vice-chairman for two years during her first term, and was re-elected to the School Committee in 1979. In 1981 when she moved to the City Council, Toland was concerned about the effects of Prop. 2-1/2 on city services as well as on the school system.

"It is particularly gratifying to me that the Wollaston School is reopening this fall," she said. "I felt that as Chairman of the Education Committee I had an obligation to bring parents and the City Council together at a committee hearing to discuss the importance of the school's reopening. I think everyone concerned is happy at the resolution of that issue. The school will once again be in integral part of the Wollaston community."

During her six years in the Council, Councillor Toland has been chairman of the Health and Hospital Committee during which time the council voted for the new replacement facility at the Quincy City Hospital.

She has also been chairman of the Ordinance Committee, chairman of the Beautification, Library and Historical Places Committee and continues to head up that committee in addition to the Education Committee and the Downtown and Economic Development Committee.

On the issues, Councillor Toland commented:

"Growth and development are the most compelling issues in this election. Clearly, our citizens feel threatened as what they perceive as startling change in some neighborhoods by the height of some new buildings and by the increasing traffic loads."

Toland pointed to the Zoning Task Force created by the Council President and of which she was a member of which she was a member as a most significant step in the control of development. She said:

"We have made many recommendations which will have far reaching implications for building in this city. Zoning, density reduction, height limitation, setback restrictions, open space requirements and a new permit process which allows for neighborhood input are all recommendations that are a result of careful study by our Task Force over the last year. And are presently before the City Council for enactment. All of these recommendations will maintain the integrity of Quincy's neighborhoods."

Toland noted that the Traffic 2,000 Study coupled with the services of a Traffic Engineer, a new position she enthusiastically supports, plus public input ought to help alleviate some of the traffic problems.

"The Old Colony Commuter Rail Restoration Project is an issue Quincy will have to grapple with shortly," said Toland, who is Quincy's representative on the Citizens Advisory Council to the Old Colony Project "Electrification of the tracks or mono-rail are where our discussions should begin with the City."

Commenting further about development in the city, Toland emphasized that the city needs to place a high priority on the architecture of any new buildings in the downtown particularly, over which it exercises control

Beauty of design and proper scale are critical factors in new buildings especially in the downtown area. The rehabilitation of old buildings particularly schools in general has been a plus for the city.

Toland said beautifying the city also needs priority status.

"The Park Department and the Department of Public Works work very hard to keep the grass cut and the city cleaned, but they could use additional help," she said. "However, this year I am happy to say we have planted new shrubs and flowers around the city in an on-going beautification effort. I feel that the city should look as beautiful as possible and can if we get rid of the weeds, keep the grass trimmed, plant flowers and engage the cooperation of the public in an anti-litter program."

Another serious concern, she said, is the waste-disposal problem.

"I hope," she said, "that we begin to think about recycling seriously very soon. Separation of various materials at the source, i.e. at the sidewalk, is being talked about as a method of controlling the waste stream."

"Markets need to be found to recycle as many items as possible because there is a crisis of trash disposal—not only in Quincy or even in Massachusetts but in the entire eastern part of our country. The bottom line here is that it will affect everyone's pocketbook."

Toland is a graduate of Boston State College and a former school teacher. She is married to John Toland, Jr. and has four children—John, Elizabeth, Gregory and Brendan, all of whom attended Quincy Public Schools.

Toland is a member of the Board of Directors of the Massachusetts Municipal Association and as such is a member of the Local Government Advisory Council to the Governor. She is also past chairman of the organization of Women Elected Municipal Officials. She is also a member of the Ward Five City Committee and an elected delegate to the Democratic State Convention for the last six years.

CHOREOGRAPHER Janine Venable shows some soldiers a few dance steps.

Interview With Janine Venable

Q. With the experience you had teaching us, do you feel you learned anything from us?

A. Yes, I feel I learned how to be a better teacher.

Q. Do you think you will ever choreograph a play with a combination of two grades again?

A. Yes, I would love to. The older children made a big difference, because once they learned the dance they could help the younger children.

Q. Could you give us an evaluation of our performance?

A. I was very impressed.

Q. Have you ever had an experience similar to this one before?

A. Yes, I choreographed a ballet at a summer camp.

Q. Do you think there is anything in particular that you thought was special about us?

A. Yes you were a very happy school. You had a positive attitude and you were always interested in learning.

Q. Do you think there could have been some things we could have done to make the play any better?

A. Not really. The play was great the way it was!

Q. Did you think seeing the Nutcracker performed by other people helped our performance?

A. Yes, I do. I think it gave you a better idea of the story, and about the quality of movement.

Q. How did you get involved with choreography?

A. I started dancing when I was younger and I got interested in making up my own dances instead of dancing dances made up by my teachers.

Q. Have you ever choreographed a performance with professional dancers?

A. No, but I will be choreographing "North Center Cabaret," and "Carnival."

Q. Have you ever danced or acted in a professional play?

A. Yes, Oklahoma, Roberta, South Pacific, Snoopy and others.

Q. Did you have to go to college to become a choreographer?

A. No, you don't need to go to college but it helps if you have taken dance lessons and a class of choreography.

A. What schools do you recommend for ballet and jazz in the Boston area?

A. I would recommend Maria Paquette or The Boston Ballet (for older students). For jazz I would suggest Janet Kniell.

Q. Have you ever thought about starting your own dancing school?

A. No, I haven't really thought about it, but I may many years from now.

Q. How did you get involved with the Nutcracker?

A. Gene Creedon principal of Broad Meadows Middle School saw me dancing and recommended me for the Nutcracker.

Q. Did you have any kind of profession before you became a choreographer?

A. Yes, I have always been an actress and choreographer.

Q. Did you like our performance?

A. Yes, I was very impressed that you learned so much in so little time.

A. What dance did you enjoy teaching the most?

A. I enjoyed them all very much but the snowflakes delighted me the most.

Q. What part of the play did you enjoy the most?

A. The whole play!

Q. Do you like your work?

A. Yes, I love it!

Working With A Professional

When I first found out we were going to work with a choreographer I became very excited.

I would actually get to work with someone who may have choreographed a professional play for professional dancers. But then I became nervous - what if I couldn't do what she asked me to do? What if I looked clumsy and awkward on stage? Would she be mad? Then I saw her.

All my doubts disappeared. She looked kind and understanding. But then it was my turn to go down to the auditorium to learn my dance. The butterflies came back and I became scared again. What if she didn't like me? I went down and tried to smile, shaking inside the whole time.

As she started to teach me my moves, my fears slowly slipped away. There were some hard steps, but she gave us so much encouragement that it would be hard for anyone to feel as though they couldn't do it. By the end I was laughing freely, she made me feel so comfortable. I knew I could do it - my parents, teachers and friends had given me encouragement and support. But most of all it was because of Ms. Venable's praise and understanding.

GLISTENING AND TWINKLING on stage are several snowflakes.

Nutcracker Nostalgia

My favorite part of the play was...

Kevin Connolly - when my tail fell off.

Collin Corcoran - when Clara's shoe hit the Nutcracker.

Erica Crawford - when the confetti was thrown by the clowns.

Michael Greene - when the Mouse King poked the Nutcracker.

Kate O'Donnell - the Snowflake Dance. It was great.

Eric Wood - when they did all the flips in the clown's dance.

Timothy Carroll - When I opened the curtain.

Erica Curtis - Ms. Venable coming and dancing with us.

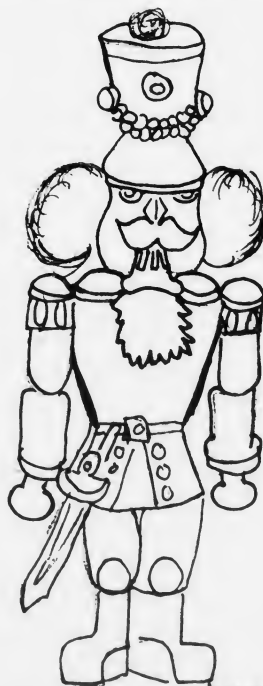

Katy Deady - working with the second graders.

Ryan Feldman - when the Mouse King's ears fell off.

Maureen McCarthy - the magnificent performances and working with Ms. Venable.

James Stavros - eating the Christmas cookies.

Nutcracker Best Thing That Happened

The Nutcracker play was the best thing that happened to the second grade and Ms. Farrell's fifth grade.

It was really exciting and a lot of fun. We owe it all to Ms. Farrell and Ms. Hebert for their hard work and commitment.

Ms. Farrell and Ms. Hebert

The Mouse King

My best part was when the Mouse King poked the Nutcracker in the bum with his sword. The Nutcracker went "yikes." I also liked when the clowns did cartwheels.

Scott Cooper, Rm. 10

I Liked The Whole Play

I liked the whole play of the Nutcracker this year. The best parts I really liked were the Snowflakes, Sugar Plum Fairy, Flowers, Clowns, and Chinese Dancers.

Jennifer Austin, Rm. 10

The Mothers Were Wonderful

I liked our costumes for the play. I thought it was nice that a lot of mothers helped make the costumes. The mothers were wonderful.

Courtney Mitchell, Rm. 14

Two Snowflakes Remember

We enjoyed the snowflake dance. It made us feel like we were walking on air. The costumes were very exciting to look at. They made us feel like real ballet dancers. I thought we were in fairy tale land.

Kathy Robinson and Teuta Hajrizaj had a lot of patience and they were very understanding. We think they deserve a lot of credit. From the Soldiers and the Mice to the Clowns and the Flowers, the whole thing was great.

Katy Deady and Kevin Connolly

Fifth Graders Helped A Lot

I liked the fifth grade helpers. They helped a lot. They helped put on our make up and danced with us.

It was lots of fun!

Susan Haydar, Rm. 14

Pipsqueak Was Cute

My favorite parts were the clowns and Pipsqueak, because they were funny. Pipsqueak was very cute.

Seanna Daly, Rm. 10

Dancing Is...

Dancing is a lot of fun. From the soldiers and the mice. To the clowns on the run. Dancing is in every way. An awesome way to spend the day.

Kevin Connolly and Katy Deady

It Was Fun

I liked the Nutcracker. It was fun. I liked all of the dances but I liked my dance the best. It was fun and very fast.

I liked the clowns and their act too. I liked when they smashed together. It was funny.

James Conley, Rm. 14

PLAYING PENNYWHISTLES were Maria Sourmadis (left) and Courtney Mitchell.

A Conversation Between Fritz And The Mouse King

By Robert "Fritz" Picciano and Eric "Mouse King" Wood Mouse King: Did you like your part?

Fritz: Yes, I did. I played a little brat who was mad because his sister got a better present.

M.K.: Were there any disadvantages?

F.: Yes, because I had to do my school work and study my lines.

M.K.: Did you like the play?

F.: At first I didn't, but as soon as things started to come together, I loved it!

M.K.: Did you meet new people?

F.: Yes, I met lots of younger people, who turned out to be the great cast in our production.

M.K.: Did you mess up?

F.: Yes, when I opened my box and all my soldiers fell out. I was so embarrassed.

M.K.: Did you like the play?

F.: Yes, I thought it came out GREAT!

F.: Did you like your part?

M.K.: Well I really wasn't crazy about it because you had to wear makeup.

F.: Did you like what you did?

M.K.: Yes, because I was the boss.

F.: What did you like the best?

M.K.: I liked the clowns when they did the flips.

F.: Did you think you were good in the play?

M.K.: Yes, I did think so.

F.: How did it make you feel?

M.K.: It made me feel like an actor, and an actor feels like a star!

Our Fifth Grade Helpers

The fifth grade worked very hard on the play. They helped get the play ready. They helped track the kids down when Miss McKeever needed help tracking them down. Also they helped us take decorations down. She can't take the decorations down by herself.

Tessie Herbert, Rm. 14

My Nutcracker Experience

I felt proud of myself when my mother and father saw me.

The Russian music made me feel very cheerful inside. But the Chinese dancers made me feel like I was in China having tea.

Amy Drysdale, Rm. 14

PREPARING his troops for battle is Nutcracker Sean Tirrell.

I Was Clara

In the play of the Nutcracker I was Clara. It was fun to do. I spoke a lot. I was on stage for a very long time. We did not have to do a lot of work. I wish it was not over.

Pamela Farrell

Best Experience I've Had

I think the Nutcracker was the best experience I've had yet in school. I was very lucky to be chosen to be one of the dancers.

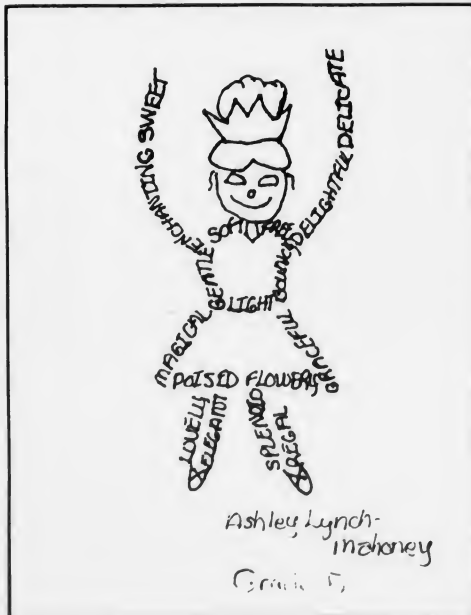

I've taken dancing lessons since I was 2 1/2. I really enjoyed the Nutcracker.

Erica Crawford

I Liked The Clowns

The part I liked the best was the clowns. We did the snake and we did gymnastics before we went on stage. I also liked the part when we slapped our knees and clapped our hands. We galloped in a circle and put on make-up and costumes. We waved our hands when we went off the stage. I really liked the whole show. It was super!

Morrisette Wins Pair, Edged By Milton

The Morrisette Legion Post baseball team began its Zone 6 season last week by downing Carter Post and Wollaston but losing a nailbiter to Milton.

Morrisette traveled to Dorchester to open its 43rd season and came out victorious over Carter Post, 7-1. Wayne Chambers, in his first Legion start, went the distance allowing one run on four hits. Chambers struck out nine and walked just two, showing a good fast ball and a good breaking pitch to keep the Carter batters at bay.

Morrisette took a one run lead in the top of second when Chris Ricciuti walked and Ron Fletcher singled. Rob MacDonald drove in Ricciuti with a single to center. Carter tied it at one in the second on two infield hits, a sacrifice and a ground out.

Morrisette broke it open in the fifth when they came up with four runs on only one hit, a two-run producing triple by Ron Fletcher. Steve Minichiello and Bill McDougal each knocked in a run with sacrifice flies. The final run was scored in the sixth when Mike Mullaney singled, stole second and third and came home on an infield error.

Morrisette met a tough Wollaston team at Adams Field and held on for a 6-4 win. Larry Taglieri started for Morrisette and went the distance. Taglieri pitched well, fanning 13 Wollaston batters. He allowed only one earned run on six hits and two walks.

Wollaston took a 1-0 lead in the first after Sean Thompson walked and Chris Higgins tripled to center. Morrisette went ahead in the fourth when they scored five times on four hits and three walks. After the first three hitters on the inning walked with two outs, Tom McDonald tripled to deep right to drive in three. Ron Fletcher then singled in McDonald. Fletcher then scored after moving to second on a wild pitch and a single by Larry Taglieri.

Morrisette scored one more in the fifth when Ricciuti singled in Mullaney who had walked and stolen second.

But then Wollaston started a comeback in the seventh. Higgins reached on an error and Steve Austin singled. Rick Nabstedt sacrificed the runners to second and third. Scott Logan reached on a throwing error and both runners scored, Logan ending up at second. He scored on Jay Lepasio's single. Taglieri ending the inning and the game with a strike out.

Lepasio played an outstanding game, having three hits including a double and throwing out a runner at the plate. He also caught another runner off first for a double play.

Wayne Chambers and Mike Mullaney also had hits for Morrisette.

Morrisette lost a heart-breaker at Milton when errors in the sixth and seventh inning set up two unearned runs. Wayne Chambers started and went five and two thirds innings of no hit, no run pitching, walking four and striking out seven. He was relieved by Larry Taglieri who took a tough loss, allowing two hits in the seventh and the error to pitcher Mike McGuire. McGuire scored the winning run on a single by Ron Lewis with two outs.

Morrisette scored its lone run in the fourth inning when Chris Ricciuti struck out but took first when the ball went past the catcher. Ron Fletcher singled and Taglieri's double drove in Ricciuti. Morrisette had a golden opportunity in the second when Rob McDonald singled and Taglieri and Chambers walked but the bases were left loaded.

Morrisette was held to four hits by McGuire. Mike Mullaney had the other Morrisette hit.

Morrisette's record dropped to 2-1 while Milton remained undefeated. Morrisette new head coach Dave Perdis had made a good debut, taking over for Ray Cattaneo who was head coach for 17 years and is now the manager.

Perdis played for Morrisette when they went to the Legion World Series in 1975. He also starred at Archbishop Williams High School and Brandeis University. He also played for a number of years in the coastal league.

McDonough Wins 3 For Bryan Post

Bryan Post defeated Bank of New England 13-3 as Pat McDonough won his third consecutive complete game, allowing only four hits and striking out six.

McDonough received fine defensive support from his teammates, especially catcher Mark Kelleher and leftfielder Donnie Anderson.

Brian O'Malley paced the Bryan offense with three hits including a long triple. Kevin Mullaney had a key bases loaded triple to break the game open. Anderson and Aaron Silverman each had two hits and McDonough and Kelleher one apiece.

Outfielders Michael Malvesti and Steven Loud had strong games and infielders Joe Marnikovic, Chris Stenmon, Steven Waas and Paul Murphy also played well.

Bank of New England received excellent games from George Rozanitas and Tom Norton, each of whom doubled. Chris Abate and Tom Balzano had the other hits. Shortstop Kevin Daly anchored the defense.

Wollaston Wins 2, Loses To Morrisette

The Wollaston Legion baseball team is 2-1 after one week of play, defeating Randolph and Holbrook but losing to city rival Morrisette.

In its season opener last Wednesday, Wollaston got off in grand fashion, blanking Randolph 7-0 behind the no-hit pitching performance of Mark DiMattio. DiMattio struck out 12 and did not walk a man. Wollaston received offensive power from Dave Tochio, Tom Logan, Sean Thompson and Chris Higgins.

On Friday night, Wollaston lost to Morrisette 6-4 when its three-run sixth inning rally fell short. Jay Lepasio sparked offensively, having three hits and making several outstanding defensive plays. Also contributing to the offense were Chris Higgins (triple), Scott Logan (single) and Rick Nabstedt (single).

On Monday night, Wollaston edged Holbrook 7-6 in an eight inning game.

Holbrook had built a 6-1 lead only to see it evaporate by Wollaston's relentless hitting. Tom Logan had three hits and scored the winning run on a single by Sean Thompson.

Chris Higgins pitched two and two thirds inning of shutout relief to earn the win.

Chris Higgins had a double while Rick Nabstedt, Jay Lepasio, Mark DiMattio, Steve Austin and Tom MacDonald all had singles.

Lepasio made a key defensive play throwing out a Holbrook runner at the plate.

The infield was anchored by the strong outing of shortstop Steve Bellew.

Manager Dick Travers is optimistic about the chances of reversing last year's 6-12 record and qualifying for postseason play.

Leading a deep pitching staff is Suburban League All-Star T.J. Steen of Quincy High School. He is joined in the starting rotation by Mark DiMattio and Dan Santry of North Quincy High School. Others who will see mound duty include Ricky Nabstedt of Don Bosco, Chris Higgins of Thayer Academy, Jay Lepasio of Quincy High and Sean Murphy of B.C. High.

Catching duties will be shared by Mark DiMattio, Chris Noble and Joel Rodgers of Quincy High.

Starting at first base is Quincy All-Scholastic Tom Logan. Other returning infielders include second baseman David Tochio, Sean Thompson of Quincy, Bill Bellew of Archbishop William, Steen, Lepasio and Nabstedt.

Assisting Travers is Mike Gormley along with staff newcomers Gary DiNardo and Steve Constras.

There is a different playoff format this season with the top four finishing teams meeting in the best of three series to determine who will represent Zone 6 in the state playoffs.

Red Sox Finish Second

The Red Sox of the Junior Farm League, playing 500 baseball for the past several weeks, finished in second place in the American League division as they beat the Mets, Yankees, Indians, Pirates and Cubs, and lost to the Braves, Dodgers, Angels and Tigers.

Against the Pirates pitcher Pat Tevenan was in control as he struck out eight and gave up 12 walks and only six hits. The Red Sox bats were alive as they pounded out 19 hits.

Singles by Jamie Murphy, Danny Hughes, Jason Fennelly, Danny Stone (3), Geoff Meade, Kevin Sullivan (2) and Mark Kelly. Tevenan in his three trips to the plate had a single, a double and a triple. Solid infield play by Murphy and Anthony Bragdon and a good outfield performance by Joe McCarthy helped to make the final score 28-7.

Fennelly, Manning and Meade combined their pitching efforts to beat the Cubs 20-8, giving up 12 walks and four hits and striking out 13. Offensively Hughes and Sullivan led the Red Sox as they both were 3 for 3 at the plate with two singles and a double. McCarthy and Fennelly doubled and singles were turned in by Tevenan, Stone, Meade, Manning and Kelly. In the field, Bragdon, Stone, Hughes and Galvin looked good.

Pitcher Pat Tevenan worked his magic on the Indians with 10 strikeouts, nine walks and only six hits. Geoff Meade led the Red Sox attack with a single and a double. Singles by Hughes, Tevenan, Sullivan, McCarthy and Kelly. Solid fielding by Nolan, Hanafin, Conway and Sullivan helped the Red Sox efforts in beating the Indians 9-2.

Against the Yankees, the Red Sox bats came alive for 17 hits while the Yanks were held to only three hits by the Red Sox pitching staff. At the plate, Murphy, Hughes, Tevenan, Fennelly and Meade had two hits apiece, and Bragdon, Hanafin, McCarthy, Sullivan, Manning, Nolan and Conway had one each. In the field, Meade, Fennelly, Manning and Hughes were solid contributors. Final score was 22-3.

In the final game of the regular season against the Mets, pitchers, Tevenan and Meade struck out seven, walked five and gave up only six hits to beat the Mets 5-3. Four Red Sox batters had two hits apiece, Murphy, Bragdon, Tevenan and Stone. Hughes, Manning and Kelly each had a single. It was Meade's sixth inning home run that clinched the game and a second place finish for the Sox who will now meet the Tigers in the playoffs.

Braves End Season With Perfect Record

The Braves, winning five games last week, finished the Junior Farm baseball league regular season with an unblemished 12-0 record.

The Indians fell victim to the Braves attack, losing 6-0. Brave Jeff Russell was the winning pitcher, throwing a one hitter and fanning 14. Mike Adams led the offense with two doubles. Jim Mastroianni, Katie Gallagher and Adam Stone also hit well. Steve Carlson and Todd Sullivan starred defensively.

Matt Goguen got the lone Indian hit. John Johnson, Eric Wood and Kevin Sarno made fine defensive plays. Michael Kenny gave a solid pitching performance, striking out 14 Braves.

The Braves also defeated the Pirates by a 28-8 tally. Jeff Russell, Steve Carlson and Scott McPherson combined for a four-hit pitching performance.

Dave Gunther paced the attack, going four for four.

Joshua Mahoney and Mike Adams had three hits each. John Richards, Adam Stone, Paul Marnikovic and Steve Carlson drove in big runs.

Jim Mastroianni excelled defensively.

For the Pirates, Matt Logan and John Greene hit well. Jimmy Murphy had a three-run triple. Matt Radzevich played a solid game in the field.

The Mets also fell to the Braves in a 24-14 slugfest. For the Braves, John Richards had a single, double, triple, played exceptional defense and pitched very well.

Jeff Russell had three hits, including a three-run homer. Joshua Mahoney belted a key two-run homerun which sparked a nine-run rally in the sixth.

Also helping the offensive attack was Scott McPherson who had two hits, including a three-run homerun.

For the Mets, Mike Regan had three hits, while Eric Olive, Tom Cumio, Johnathan Ryan and Robbie Perelli had two hits each.

John Paul Deangelis had two hits including a three-run triple and Jim Cumio and Mike Balducci also hit the ball well. Deangelis also played sound defense.

Boston Gear In High Gear

Boston Gear got back on the winning track last week, taking five games to improve its record to 6-5 in the Quincy Junior Baseball League.

Gear's most recent victory was a 9-4 decision over Kiwanis led by Danny Duncan's homerun and two ground rule doubles. Billy Skutul's three singles, Mike Patch's double and single, Mike Desroache towering home run and Timmy Byrne's double and single. Also having key hits were George Wirtz, Eric Kruezer and Pat Layden.

Patch recorded the victory, striking out 14, walking two and scattering 10 hits. Mike Duffy, Mark Connolly, Jeff Burrell and Kenny Ledwak played outstanding defense. Kruezer was solid behind the plate.

For Kiwanis, Mark Carlson pitched well in defeat. He had three hits, as did Jeff Hughes. Also having hits for Kiwanis were Sean MacDonald, Bob Gorman and Linda Linnane.

Gear also defeated Elks, 11-1 with Eric Kruezer the winning pitcher, allowing just eight hits and walking none.

Gear's offense was paced by Billy Skutul's two singles and home run, Mike Patch and Timmy Byrne, who each had two singles, George Wirtz a double, Matt Riley a long home run, and singles by Danny Duncan, Eric Kruezer, Kenny Ledwak and Mike Duffy.

Danny Duncan and Mark Connolly each made spectacular defensive plays to stifle potential rallies.

Also playing well defensively were Jeff Burrell and Pat Layden.

Matt O' Toole pitched well in defeat for Elks and also hit a single. Mike Chenette had two hits, John McSweeney, Mark Tirrell, John Curry and Mike Murry also had hits. Steve and Paul Tagney played well on defense.

Gear upset Foley Chrysler Plymouth, defeating them 10-6 with Mike Patch the winning pitcher, scattering six hits, striking out seven and walking only two.

Gear's offense was led by Danny Duncan's double and two single for four RBI. Duncan also had an unassisted double play. Also contributing hits were Matt Riley, George Wirtz, Timmy Byrne and Eric Kruezer.

Playing well in the field were Mike Duffy, Billy Skutul, Kenny Ledwak, Mike Desroache, Mark Connolly, Jeff Burrell and Pat Layden.

Bobby Guarneri, Serge Wassileg, John Gladu, Bob Koheler, Mike Kenney and John Robinson all had hits for Foley.

Gear outlasted Rotary 10-6 with Eric Kruezer getting the win. The offense was led by Mike Patch's homerun, double and single, two hits by George Wirtz, Matt Riley, Billy Skutul and Kenny Ledwak, and one hit apiece by Kruezer, Duncan and Mike Duffy.

Standouts on defense were Connolly, Desroache, Jeff

Burrell and Pat Layden.

For Rotary, Bob Kahe, John Morrell, Mike MacDougall, Mark Swarbaylis, Sean Boylan, Brenden Ridge, John Bertrand, Marc Sullivan and John Hoy all had hits.

Gear also soundly defeated Keohane's, 25-2 with a 26-hit attack. Danny Duncan had two homeruns, a double and single, George Wirtz and Matt Riley each a double and three singles, and Eric Kruezer and Billy Skutul had three hits. Pat Layden had a towering home run and a single, Jeff Burrell had two singles, as did Mike Desroache. Also having key hits were Mike Patch and Kenny Ledwak.

Mike Patch pitched a very strong game, allowing five hits, striking out 11.

Playing strong defense for Gear were Mike Duffy and Mark Connolly.

For Keohane's, Mark Thebault, Pat Shea, Jeff Potes, Adam Calvert and Mark Douglas each had a hit.

Gear downed Colonial Federal 9-6 behind the combined pitching effort of Kruezer and Patch, surrendering only four hits.

Patch also had a strong game offensively with a homer, double and single. Timmy Byrne had a homer and two singles, Matt Riley two singles, and Layden, Desroache, Kruezer, Wirtz and Burrell had hits.

For Colonial, John Dorsey, Jamie White, Jason Simon and Mark McGowan all had hits.

USTA Clinic In Elementary Schools

The United States Tennis Association is introducing tennis to children in the elementary and middle schools throughout the nation and the Merrymount Elementary School became the first in Quincy to enjoy the program and add the sport to its physical education program.

The program is a non-profit organization conducted by the USTA's Center for Education and Recreational Tennis in Princeton, N.J., and local tennis groups.

The program was introduced to the Merrymount School pupils and faculty members at two assemblies.

USTA clinician Betsy Thurmond, New England Lawn Tennis Association Director of the program, and Ken Rickson, former coordinator of physical education in the Quincy schools, one of the top tennis players in New England and currently on the board of directors of the NELTA, conducted the assemblies.

"The clinic is to help children pursue a new interest," said Rickson. "It is a great sport. The idea is to instill a good lifetime sport into the children, the fundamentals, the fitness and the fun."

The Merrymount School was the first of nine elementary and three middle schools in Quincy introducing regular tennis instruction to the students.

Other Massachusetts communities being introduced to tennis by the USTA program are Canton, Randolph, Georgetown and Williamstown.

Equipment and curriculum materials provided by the program will be put to use this summer in an expanded local community youth tennis program supervised by Quincy Recreation Director Barry Welch.

The program has been in existence for four years and by the end of June some 4000 schools will have integrated tennis into the regular physical education curriculum, reaching more than two million youngsters.

The program includes training physical education teachers, providing equipment and a full 24-lesson plan, and summer programs with local parks and recreation departments.

The USTA is a non-profit, member-supported organization that has governed the sport on a national basis since 1881. It serves as an umbrella body involving 17 sections, 60 districts and some 700 local community tennis organizations.

Cable, VFW, State Street Tied For First

Quincy Cable concluded the first half of the Quincy Junior Baseball League season with five victories and a share of first place in the American League Division. Cable (8-3) is tied with VFW and State Street.

Last week, Cable outlasted Keohane's 10-7 in a see-saw struggle and crushed the Elks, 17-5. Jay Snabel was the winning pitcher against Keohane's with Aidan O'Donoghue in relief. O'Donoghue picked up the win against the Elks after Snabel started two innings.

Against Keohane's, O'Donoghue had two hits and four RBI. Terry Sheehan was 2 for 2, a double and triple for two RBI. Dan Donahue was 2 for 3, one RBI and A.J. Carthas chipped in with a hit for one RBI. Other hits were recorded by Jamie Schatzel, Mike Kavanaugh, and Chris Sullivan (one RBI).

Snabel (4 for 4, including a home run and triple), Sheehan and Kavanaugh, both 3-for-3 (including a double each), O'Donoghue, Justin Ackerman, Wood, Carthas and Donahue all had two hits against the Elks. Schatzel and Sullivan also had hits.

Matt O'Toole and Sean Murray each had two hits for the Elks.

In a nine-inning game against Kiwanis, Sheehan was 6-for-6 for three RBI. Schatzel was 6-for-7, including a double, as Cable outlasted Kiwanis, 14-7.

Justin Ackerman picked up the win in relief. Donahue also provided three innings of no-run relief.

In the same game, O'Donoghue had three hits, Kavanaugh batted in three runs on two hits, Snabel had three hits, Sullivan and Carthas each had two singles and Donahue and Ryan Ackerman each had a hit.

Cable hung on for a hard fought 8-7 victory over Foley Chrysler. Snabel got credit for the win, but needed relief help from Kavanaugh. Each team got six hits. For Cable, O'Donoghue got two, Sheehan singled in two runs, Schatzel and Kavanaugh each singled for one RBI, and Carthas added a single.

For Foley Sergei Wassilieu got two hits, including a solo homer. Wassilieu also pitched and struck out eight. Snabel recorded 10 K's and Kavanaugh added three.

Cable batted out 26 hits, including 22 doubles and one triple, as they defeated Burgin Platner, 26-5. Kavanaugh was the winning pitcher. Sullivan (5 RBI), Sheehan (5 RBI) and Schatzel (2 RBI), all were 4-for-5, Kavanaugh (4 RBI) and Snabel (2 RBI), each had three hits, and Donahue, Wood and Carthas all had two hits. Justin Ackerman and Ryan Ackerman each chipped in with a double.

Rotary outlasted Cable, 13-12, in which Justin Ackerman drove in five runs with a double, triple and home run. Sheehan (three RBI), Joe Check, and Schatzel each had two hits. O'Donoghue and Kavanaugh each doubled and Wood, Sullivan and Donahue each had singles.

Against the VFW, Cable prevailed, 8-3, on home runs by O'Donoghue, J. Ackerman, and Kavanaugh. Sheehan added two RBI with two doubles, Schatzel (1 RBI) had two hits and Check doubled. Snabel struck out eight for the win.

Cable belted 13 hits to knock off Colonial Federal, 8-3, as Wood (six strikeouts) was backed up by excellent defensive work in the infield. Snabel stroked a grand slam home run, O'Donoghue and Kavanaugh each had three hits to pace the Cable attack. Schatzel, Sheehan, Wood, Donahue, Carthas, Mahoney and Check also had hits.

Cable was held to seven hits in its second loss of the season, 18-3, to Hough's Neck which leads the league with a 9-2 record.

Cable defeated Boston Gear, 8-3, as O'Donoghue, Sheehan and Kavanaugh, each had two hits. Schatzel, Sullivan and Neil Mahoney each singled. Snabel held Gear hitters to five hits and struck out 10 batters.

Cable was held to three hits by State Street and lost the opening game 5-0. State Street only had two hits but aggressive baserunning and a solid defense keyed the victory.

SMEDS. The regular season standings: Jaehnig Chiropractic Club, 8-1; Running Rebels, 7-2; SMEDS, 7-2; John Hancock, 7-2; J.B. Heating, 5-4; Glistening Ones, 5-4; Squire's, 4-5; Lou Brothers, 2-7; Roepsters, 1-8; Putnam Capitals, 0-9.

Jaehnig Club Wins Regular Season Crown

The Jaehnig Club of Quincy defeated the Running Rebels of Weymouth 69-57 in a South Shore Sports Center Men's Basketball League contest.

Both teams entered the final game with 7-1 records, with the winner earning the regular season crown and first seed in the playoffs.

The Running Rebels, led by the inspirational play of John O'Connor, got to a quick start and led 33-30 at the half. However, the Jaehnig Club's height advantage began to wear down the Rebels until several fast break layups sealed the win.

Chuck Jaehnig and Bill Murphy led the way with 20 and 19 points respectively. Mark Jaehnig, 14 points, Rick McGuire 10 points and 12 rebounds, John Timmins and Jim Timmins five and four each rounded out the scoring. Playing well at both ends of the court were Mike Jaehnig and Don Jaehnig.

Jaehnig Club will meet John Hancock in the semi-final match-up, trying to avenge an earlier regular season loss. The other semi-final game features the Running Rebels against the

Grill 29 Marks A Happy Milestone With Quincy Senior Citizens

Grill 29 at the Quincy Bay Inn, 29 Hancock St., North Quincy, has served complimentary meals to 5,000 Quincy senior citizens since May, 1985, and recently celebrated that fact with a luncheon for residents of Fenno House, Wollaston.

The seniors were given corsages from the Quincy Adams Garden Center.

Dinner for the day was a choice of baked New England style haddock, sirloin tips or fried chicken breast, with salad, Turkish rice, fruit, rolls, coffee and tea.

A cake, with "Congratulations Quincy Senior Citizens, 5000 served" written in icing, was donated by Montilio's.

Accordion music was performed by Tony Clerio of Quincy.

Among those who also attended were Police Chief

Francis Finn, City Councilor Joseph LaRosa, Judy O'Keefe, manager, US Trust; Hugo Fabrizio, Flips Oil; and Greg Samorian, Phase II Jewelers.

The following prizes were donated by local merchants:

The Gazette, $25 gift certificate; Cathay Pacific, $25 gift certificate; Venezia, $25 gift certificate; Jason's Limo, three hour limo ride; Quincy Adams Garden Center, floral centerpiece; and Phase II Jewelers, necklace.

The free senior citizen luncheons were started two years ago by owner Al Nacar who was following a family tradition of community service.

Notices were posted of the luncheons, held every other week, and senior citizen groups signed up. A bus, courtesy of Grill 29, picked up and returned the guests.

The luncheons have been well received.

"The Fenno House residents would graciously like to express their appreciation of your delightful free luncheon," wrote Ruth Marrocco, administrative assistant for the senior citizen housing.

"Please know that your kindness was greatly appreciated. It is so nice to know that there are people who care for each other."

Flea Market, Strawberry Festival At Point Congregational

Quincy Point Congregational Church, 444 Washington St., Quincy, will hold a Flea Market and Strawberry Festival in the church hall Saturday, June 27 from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Strawberry shortcake, made from handpicked strawberries, will be available from 11:30 a.m. at a donation of $2.25. This will be held rain or shine.

For flea market space, call the church at 773-6424.

Mrs. Theodore DeCristofaro is chairman of the flea market. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Schonbach and Mr. and Mrs. Warren Sweeney are in charge of the festival.

The event will benefit the Fall Fair.

Quincy Youngster On Disney

Courtney Paquette, 6, of Quincy, is featured this month on The Disney Channel's "Small World" children's art showcase.

The child's drawing, inspired by The Channel's programming, was selected from over 5,000 original art pieces received each month by the 24-hour-per-day television service. The Disney Channel Magazine, a free publication distributed to Disney Channel households with their subscriptions encourages young viewers and readers to send in their artwork. Only 100 drawings a month are chosen for the "Small World" series.

Ten one-minute "Small World" segments are produced monthly and scheduled daily after "Welcome to Pooh Corner" to recognize the talents of young Disney Channel viewers. The name of each young artist, their age, home town, and cable service to which their family subscribes are also featured on this "mini-program."

The Paquette family watches The Disney Channel via American Cablesystems in Quincy.

WEEK OF: June 18

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

You're well regarded for your communications skills generally, specifically for your public speaking abilities. People find you elusive; this is frustrating for some, but part of your charm for others. Making a significant commitment is emphasized in the autumn months. Both career and personal relationships benefit as a result.

AQUARIUS - January 21 - February 19

Tackling new jobs may prove more strenuous than expected - mentally or physically. Good week for making a pitch, especially if promoting a pet idea. Financial news may brighten.

PISCES - February 20 - March 20

Good week for growing things - even if you don't have a green thumb. Human nature, too is an area where you show understanding. Your sense of timing is unusually keen.

ARIES - March 21 - April 20

A change proves superior to a rest - and changes are in the wind now. New recreational interests are highlighted. Relationships should become more sharply defined.

TAURUS - April 21 - May 22

A promising week if you're trying to locate missing pieces of information. Be sure to read letters and inboxes with added care. Reunions are favorably highlighted.

GEMINI - May 23 - June 21

Background events are working to your advantage. Financial confusion clears after the weekend. Stalled project is reactivated by Tuesday. Standoffish neighbor becomes much more cordial.

CANCER - June 22 - July 22

Keeping up to date is important so far as career trends are concerned. Family discussions may lead to a new awareness about your own values. Leisure time is increasingly precious.

LEO - July 23 - August 22

You may run into an old friend by the weekend. Correcting mistakes of others takes considerable time. Paying attention to financial trends is especially important now.

VIRGO - August 23 - September 22

Casual events prove more rewarding than formal obligations - and the week includes a mix of the two. The abundance of advice you're receiving must be sifted before you make a decision.

LIBRA - September 23 - October 22

The wisdom of an old friend helps you sort out mixed feelings. Variety of social events are scattered through the weekend. You win high marks for your organizational skills.

SCORPIO - October 23 - November 21

Business ideas are bright but some will be tested. Reconciliations are highlighted through the weekend. Sense of timing may be a shade off. Household pets figure in weekend's picture.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22 - December 22

Offbeat ideas are your specialty through this period. Household is a good environment for pooling ideas and brainstorming. Avoid short cuts in financial dealings especially.

CAPRICORN - December 23 - January 20

Week finds you involved in business plans and legal negotiations. It's critical that you read and comprehend all the line print. Love life perks up as partner's tensions ease.

Nickers On Post Granted Club All-Alcohol License

By JANE ARENA
The City License Board Tuesday granted a request from the Robert I. Nickerson Legion Post, Squantum, for a club all-alcoholic license.

David B. Malmgren, club manager, told the board that liquor would be served Monday through Thursday from 4 p.m. to midnight, Friday from 4 p.m. to 1 a.m., and Saturday and Sunday from noon to 1 a.m. All funds generated by the sale of liquor would benefit the many charitable organizations the post donates to, he said.

Malmgren also told the board that he understands the responsibility of an alcoholic license and feels confident that he and the 200 members of the Nickerson Post can handle the responsibility. A professional bartender will be hired.

The Nickerson Post has tried in the past to get a club all-alcoholic license but had been denied because of opposition from area churches. They were the only American Legion post in the city without an alcoholic license.

Malmgren told the board that the post had spoken with the Star of the Sea Church and the First Church of Squantum and that they were not in opposition at this time. The post had also spoken to Ward Councillor Thomas Nutley who was in favor of the application.

The club had been closed recently except for regular monthly meetings and many feel that their absence may have contributed to the recent vandalism in the area by adolescents.

Harry Shulman, president of the South Shore Rehabilitation Center, located next to the post, spoke in favor of the application, saying that if the post were open in the evening the vandalism may be discouraged.

Council President Stephen

McGrath also spoke in favor of the application. He called the Nickerson Post a "community oriented facility" and said that they are "very deserving" of the license.

Also speaking in favor of the application were Councillor Patricia Toland and State Rep. Michael Morrissey.

Speaking in opposition to the application were Squantum residents Richard and Sandra Stohberg, neighbors of the post. They told the board that they do not want the post to be open at night because they are concerned about the noise and about cars parking along their street. They are also concerned that the post grounds may not be maintained properly.

The board stipulated that the post must keep cars from parking in neighbor's spaces and that the grounds of the post be regularly cleaned and properly maintained.

Although the building is in an area zoned as Open Space, owned by the city, it had been there before the city acquired the land, which gives the post legal non-conforming rights to merit the license.

Nutley Asks For Study On Diesel RR Effects

The City Council adopted a resolve Monday night, introduced by Councillor Thomas Nutley, that the city appropriate money to study the potential effects of a diesel powered railroad running through Quincy.

In the resolve, Nutley noted the proposal by state officials that the Old Colony commuter rail line from Boston through Quincy be activated.

Nutley also stated that an Environmental Impact Report (EIR) regarding the projected impacts to people and property near the proposed rail line will be completed soon by state authorities.

"There is substantial fear and concern by Quincy's elected officials and by the city's residents regarding potential property devaluation and actual physical damage to Quincy's homes and businesses," said Nutley.

Nutley also noted "the potential health-damaging effects of this proposed diesel rail line to Quincy's children, senior citizens and others."

In the resolve, Nutley suggested that personnel be engaged to study the potential effects of a diesel powered railroad running through the length of the city, and that the city be prepared to study and evaluate the state's EIR and render an evaluation of the report relative to Quincy.

"PRAYER TO THE HOLY SPIRIT. O
Holy Spirit, You who enlightens me who illuminates all things so I may attain my goal. You who gives me the divine gift of forgiving and forgetting the evil done to me and who is ever with me at all moments of my life. I wish during this short dialogue with You to thank You for everything and to desire to be with you in eternal glory.
Thank You for Your mercy towards me and all who are dear to me. Must be said three days in succession, after the three days, favor or grace will be attained, even if it appears to be of difficult nature. Then published with instructions as soon as possible, with your initials. RMB

Most holy apostle, St. Jude, faithful servant and friend of Jesus, the Church honors and invokes you universally, as the patron of hopeless cases, of things most despised of. Pray for me, I am so helpless and alone. Make use of my prayer, to bring visible and speedy help where help is almost despised of.
Come to my assistance in this great need that I may receive the consolation and help of heaven in all my necessities, tribulations and sufferings, particularly (here make your request) and that I may praise
God with you and all the elect forever.
O blessed St. Jude, be ever mindful of this great favor: to always honor you as my special and powerful patron, and to gratefully encourage devotion to you Amen. LF

LaRaia Blocks Mayor's $140,000 Landfill Request

An appropriation order from Mayor Francis McCauley for $140,000 for landfill was temporarily blocked Monday night by Councillor Joseph LaRaia who objected to the request.

Councillors may object to a motion the first time it is considered, and discussion on the matter ends for two weeks.

LaRaia, a candidate for mayor, said he wanted an explanation of the emergency appropriation request.

"Why do we have to do all the assuming," he asked.

The dump was recently ordered closed by the Department of Environmental Quality Engineering and residential trash is being transported out of the city at $69 a ton.

Councillor Richard Koch, Jr., finance committee chairman, took exception to a remark made by LaRaia about the process being circumvented and shouted at LaRaia.

LaRaia said he was referring to the administration circumventing the process, not Koch.

McGrath Commends Cerasoli, Ambler For Rail Opposition

City Council President Stephen J. McGrath has today written to Representatives Robert Cerasoli and Robert Ambler commending their recent comments in opposition to the extension of commuter rail through Weymouth and Quincy.

McGrath noted that the representatives indicated their opposition to funding by the Legislature of a $195 million public works bond issue out of which construction of the extended line would be funded.

"I appreciate the concern expressed by Representatives Ambler and Cerasoli and agree that the advent of commuter rail will be an unmitigated disaster for Quincy," said McGrath.

"The environmental impact on Quincy with noise, smoke and vibrations is immense. In addition, MBTA representatives have not ruled out use of the commuter rail line for freight," said McGrath.

"I applaud Representative Cerasoli and Representative Ambler's efforts to stop commuter rail from going through Quincy," said McGrath.

Mayor's Commission Survey Shows:

Majority Of Women Feel Safe On Quincy Streets

A majority of women in all age groups feel safe on Quincy streets at night, and most go out to evening activities.

In addition, one fourth to one third say they have been positively affected by the recent business development in Quincy.

However, one third of women in their 20s and one fourth of women 30-59 acknowledged sexual harassment.

Those are some of the findings from a questionnaire distributed citywide by the Mayor's Commission on the Status of Women during the spring of 1986 and answered by 374 women.

The answers were tabulated during the summer. Analysis, findings and commentary were written and edited throughout the fall and winter, and recently released.

Purpose of the 38-page report, prepared by task force chairwoman Justine Jarosz and commission chairwoman Linda Perry, was to gather information to provide appropriate programs and services.

The 41-part questionnaire covered areas ranging from community life to work and personal preferences.

The majority of those who responded were in their 30s.

About half the respondents in their 20s, 40s and 50s said they felt safe on Quincy streets at night, while 64 per cent of women in their 30s reported the highest level of feelings safe.

Women over age 60 reported the lowest level of feeling safe, according to the questionnaire.

A clear majority of all ages felt safe in their homes, however as age increased women's feelings of safety decreased.

City To Seek $1.8 Million CDBG

The City Council's State and Federal Funds Committee voted Monday night to authorize the mayor to file application for $1,837,000 in Community Development Block Grant Funds to be administered by the Planning Department.

The amount represents a slight increase over last year's $1,831,433, according to Principal Planner Kevin Shea.

Shea said that no programs would be cut from the CDBG program.

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

A fund has been established at a local bank for the approximately 15 families left homeless by a four-alarm fire last week which caused an estimated $200,000 damage to a Merrymount apartment building at 151 Sea St.

Donations for the families, at least half of which have children, may be sent to the 151 Sea St. Relief Fund, Quincy Savings Bank, 1200 Hancock St., Quincy, Ma., 02169, c/o James Chicchino.

They may also be sent to Our Lady of Good Counsel Church, 227 Sea St., Quincy, Ma., 02169.

According to Chicchino, the money will go towards food and clothing and temporary shelter for the fire victims, some of whom lost everything they owned.

Temporary or permanent apartments for the people are also being sought, he said.

The idea for the relief funds originated with Our Lady of last Friday which forced the evacuation of residents, including some handicapped, by firefighters, according to Fire Chief Carl Valenti. No serious injuries were reported.

Valenti said that many of the residents of the 42-unit building ignored the sounding fire alarms because they frequently go off accidentally.

"We had to take three people off the roof with an aerial ladder," said Valenti, "and three others were removed from the third or fourth floor via ground ladders. They were carried down by firefighters.

"Quite a few others had to be led down through the interior staircase.

"It was a bad situation for a while," Valenti said. "We didn't know how many people were in the building, and we had to search each room of every unit."

Valenti said the fire, which apparently started in the cellar, was "extremely hard" to fight because inadequate ventilation drove the heat back toward firefighters.

"It was quite a tough job for the firefighters. They took quite a beating. But they did a superb job making sure everyone was evacuated."

Post Audit To Meet Thursday

The City Council Post Audit Committee will meet tonight (Thursday) at 7 p.m. in the Council Chambers at City Hall to discuss the council resolve requesting the mayor to submit the Quincy City Hospital budget for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1.

According to committee chairman Joseph LaRaia, the entire council has been invited to attend, in addition to members of the post audit committee.

LaRaia said that individuals from the hospital are expected to speak at the meeting, as well as others who are connected with the operation of the hospital.

Pay Taxes By June 30

Mayor Francis McCauley urges residents who owe real estate, personal property, or excise taxes, or water bills, to pay the bills on, or before, Tuesday, June 30.

"June 30, 1987, marks the close of the fiscal year, and all monies received on or before that day will be credited to fiscal year 1987," said McCauley.

"If these invoices are paid before the close of the fiscal year, it will help to ensure that the City of Quincy will end Fiscal Year 1987 in a strong financial position," McCauley noted.

Anti-Drug, Pro-Life Rally Planned At Pageant Field

Glad Tidings Church will hold a kids rally on the theme "Say No to Drugs, Say Yes to Life" at Pageant Field in Quincy from 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. from June 29 to July 3.

The rally will be for children ages four to 12. Steve and Annie Wamberg will perform music, puppets and drama. They will focus on teaching children to make the right choices, how to say "NO" to things that are harmful to them and to say "YES" to the right things.

The Wamberg's will use Biblical characters to show situations that came into their lives, such as peer pressure and temptations and then show the results of the choices they made, both good and bad.

There will be crafts and refreshments for children. A poster contest will be conducted and judged by Mayor Francis X. McCauley Friday, July 3 at 11:15 a.m.

For children age nine to 12, there will be a project of designing tee shirts with the "Say No to Drugs, Say Yes to Life" slogan on them.

A BRONZE PLAQUE in his honor is admired by WJDA news director Herb Fontaine and his wife, Barbara, in the Council Chambers at City Hall.

At City Hall: 'Herb Fontaine Night'

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

A newsmen made news Monday night in the Council Chambers at City Hall.

Herb Fontaine, who has been reporting the news at Radio Station WJDA in Quincy since 1955, was honored by local officials and others during a special City Council meeting.

"Thank you very, very much for this honor," said Fontaine. "It's something I'll never forget."

A standing room only crowd of relatives, friends, and South Shore officials was on hand for the ceremonies.

City Councillor John Lydon, chairman of the event, unveiled a bronze plaque with a likeness of Fontaine, WJDA news director.

The plaque is located on the left side of the council chambers, above where Fontaine sits to cover City Council meetings.

It states, "The Quincy City Council honors Herb Fontaine of WJDA who exemplifies the highest ideals of broadcast journalism, accuracy, professionalism, integrity, and with fairness to all, true to his family, his work, colleagues and community."

There are only two other such plaques in the council chambers. The last was dedicated in 1967 to the late Patriot Ledger reporter Fred Hunt.

"It's not everyone who gets on the wall of the council chambers," said Mayor Francis McCauley, who was among the speakers who praised Fontaine and also gave him some good natured ribbing.

McCauley noted Fontaine's "insatiable appetite for shrimp and for reporting the news" and said he valued his "friendship, candor and accuracy."

Council President Stephen McGrath said that Fontaine is "very fair in his presentation of the news."

He also recounted a story about being somewhat nervous at conducting council meetings when he was elected council president 18 months ago.

"City Councillor James Sheets told me, 'don't worry, Herb Fontaine will tell you how to run the meeting,'" said McGrath.

Lydon referred to the "Fontaine finger snap" which is employed when councillors running committee meetings forget to turn on the microphones so he can record their comments for WJDA. James (Jay) Asher, whose late father started WJDA, told of Fontaine's history at the station and his "love of the city and his profession."

"Herb Fontaine is a good newsmen," said Quincy Sun publisher Henry Bosworth, an organizer of the event.

"But he may be slipping," he kidded.

"We've been planning this night for four or five months right under his nose and he never got wind of it."

On a serious note, Bosworth, who has known Fontaine since he came to WJDA, said: "Herb is a good newsmen. A darn good one. One of the finest ever in the South Shore."

"He's fair. He gets both sides of an issue. He's accurate. You can take him into confidence."

"I am proud to be a part of this evening in Herb's honor. I am proud to be his friend."

Another organizer, reporter Ray McEachern of The Patriot Ledger, joked that it was a bit of a challenge to stand up and say something nice about a competitor.

But McEachern conceded that many days, Fontaine has come up with the news "scoop of the day."

State Senator Paul Harold noted Fontaine's legendary early morning phone calls to sleepy officials for news.

"He has the talent of making mayors sound like they're really in charge of something. ... and state senators statesmanlike," said Harold.

"I've known him for many years," said Rabbi Jacob Mann. "And if anyone has earned a good name for himself, Herb Fontaine has."

Rabbi David Jacobs said "the evening was a celebration of 'the gift of speech which has been used so well by Herb in his work.'"

"People have been asking me if I'm going to retire," said Fontaine, as he took a turn at striking the gavel at the podium.

"Well, I have a scoop for you people - I'm not retiring," he said, to a round of applause.

"News is fascinating from one second to the next, you have no idea what's coming next."

"I feel that WJDA is my station, and you feel like it's yours, you give a little bit extra."

"I tell young people when you do a little extra, it pays off."

Fontaine concluded his remarks, before enjoying some refreshments at a reception, by relating a dream his wife, Barbara, had had.

"She dreamed I was mayor of the city," said Fontaine.

For a little while Monday night, he was.

North Quincy Man Undergoing Observation In Stabbing Death

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

A North Quincy man is undergoing psychiatric evaluation at Bridgewater State Hospital in connection with the stabbing death of his roommate.

Peter R. Barclay, 23, of 40 French St., pleaded innocent to a murder charge June 18 in Quincy District Court. Judge Robert Stanziani ordered him to undergo 20 days observation. He is charged with stabbing to death his roommate, Mark S. Kaufman, 22, with a knife. Quincy police said inconsistencies in Barclay's story led to his arrest.

Kaufman's body was found face down in the living room floor of the two-bedroom apartment the early morning of June 18 by Officers Robert Clark and Peter Kendall, said Lt. Detective Neil F. MacDonald. Kaufman was pronounced dead shortly after at Quincy City Hospital from multiple stab wounds, MacDonald said.

An autopsy performed by Dr. Peter Lahey showed Kaufman received 17 stab wounds in his chest, shoulder and neck. One pierced his heart and another a lung, according to police.

Quincy Police recovered a kitchen knife believed used. Barclay, who lived with Kaufman for the last one and a half years, was arrested by Quincy Police after he was brought to police headquarters for questioning, MacDonald said.

According to MacDonald, when police first arrived at the scene after responding from a call from Barclay, he told them he had just returned from Cape Cod when he found the apartment door ajar.

At the station, Barclay repeated his story to Detective Russ Miller, Detective Thomas Healey and Trooper

Robert Murphy of the Norfolk County District Attorney's office. MacDonald said that inconsistent statements made by Barclay "led to a level of admission" to the crime which led to his arrest.

At Barclay's arraignment, court psychiatrist Richard Markman told the judge the suspect may have "lost control" when the stabbing occurred.

"It was not anything that he (Barclay) planned," Markman said.

Barclay has no previous criminal record. He has been employed in the stockroom at Lechemere Store in Weymouth the past 10 months.

Markman said Barclay told him he may have been arguing with Kaufman. The psychiatrist said Barclay may have been under attack when Kaufman was stabbed.

$59,000 Contribution Hospital Auxiliary Puts Capital Campaign Over $1 Million Mark

A $59,000 donation from the Quincy City Hospital Auxiliary has put the hospital's Capital Campaign Fund over the $1 million mark.

Auxiliary president Hazel Genereau presented a check in that amount to John W. Kane, general chairman of the fund raising campaign at the auxiliary's annual luncheon at the Neighborhood Club of Quincy.

Kane noted that the contribution brings the total so far to $1,037,935. Total goal is $1.6 million.

At last year's annual luncheon, Mrs. Genereau presented a check in the amount of $100,000, which "kicked off" the QCH Capital Campaign. In remarks, Kane acknowledged that he couldn't thank the auxiliary enough and that "his most favorite day he looks forward to now is the Auxiliary Luncheon... and then his birthday and Father's Day."

Other head table guests who addressed the auxiliary members were David B. MacIntosh, chairman of the QCH Board of Managers and Maureen Bisognano, chief operating officer. On behalf of the board and the hospital

Conditions Better At Parking Lots

"Conditions are generally better, but we're striving to continually improve," said Mayor Francis McCauley of the two parking lots and garage which are owned by the city and operated by Kinney Systems.

The lots and garage were the object of complaints regarding operation and maintenance.

After a meeting with Kinney Systems officials about the problems, McCauley assigned an unidentified individual to spot check the areas to see if improvements were taking place.

"The graffiti in the garage has pretty much been eliminated," said McCauley, who toured the facility

Saturday and Sunday. "And the odors in the stairwells have been eliminated."

McCauley said that a few of the booths were not manned by employees on time, but there were no reported problems with entering and leaving the lots.

"We'll continue to monitor the situation very closely," said McCauley.

'Help Wanted' Signs Amaze

"It's always good to talk to mayors to find out what is going on in their cities," said Mayor Francis McCauley after he returned from the 55th annual Conference of Mayors in Nashville, Tenn.

McCauley, who was accompanied by his wife, Sandra, said mayors continued to be concerned about the condition of cities, as well as such things as AIDS and the homeless.

He said he talked with mayors whose cities are experiencing double digit unemployment.

"Some were amazed when I told them when you walk down the street in Quincy, there are help wanted signs in almost every store window," said McCauley.

"It was a good chance to meet interesting people, one of whom may be president," said the mayor, referring to a talk by Gov. Michael Dukakis of Massachusetts, one of 10 presidential candidates at the conference.

Dukakis spoke at a breakfast sponsored by Boston Mayor Raymond Flynn, and to the convention as a whole, according to McCauley.

"He made a positive impression," said McCauley, "his theme was well received. Massachusetts has come a long way since it was called 'taxachusetts.'"

Women Outnumber Men

The number of registered voters in Quincy is declining but Democrats and women still hold the upper hand numerically.

But it's no guarantee that if you are a Democrat or a woman that you're going to be a sure winner in a Quincy municipal election.

Quincy's city elections are non-partisan although, some insist they really aren't even though there are no "D's" or "R's" after any candidate's name.

But one good argument they are non-partisan: Mayor Francis McCauley, a Republican, has been elected to three consecutive terms.

The late Amelio Della Chiesa, another Republican is the city's mayoral longevity champ with 12 years -- four under Plan F and eight under Plan A.

And, in between Della Chiesa and McCauley, was Walter Hannon, another Republican.

And, proof that women don't control the ballot box is the fact that Quincy has still to elect its first woman mayor.

And, the City Council has only had three women members in the city's history: Edna Austin, Joanne Condon and Patricia Toland.

But:

A candidate like City Councillor Joseph LaRana, a former mayor now challenging McCauley, might find a political plus in the fact that he is a Democrat.

But if he should campaign as a Democrat would it help or hurt? There are many in Quincy -- Democrats, Independents and Republicans -- who like having city elections non-partisan and want to keep them that way.

In case you're interested in figures, the last official count (October, 1986) shows 45,342 registered voters in the city compared to 52,380 in October, 1976.

Of the 45,342, 23,805 are Democrats, 10,256 Independents and 6,281 Republicans.

So, according to that figure, there are 18,549 more Democrats than Independents and 22,524 more Democrats than Republicans.

Democrats even outnumber Independents and Republicans combined by 12,268.

Women voters outnumber men by 6,454 -- 25,898 to 19,444.

Assistant City Clerk Tom Burke suggests that maybe this year's candidates should spend some time at the senior citizen facilities in the city.

"Women outlive men," he notes. "And a good many of these registered women voters are living in our senior citizen facilities."

And, he adds, they get out to vote

Readers Forum Reagan Fiscal Conservatism Looks Like Voodoo Economics

Editor, The Quincy Sun: President Reagan's constant railing against those so-called "big spending bills" is the rhetorical support system of his war against congressional spending.

The Reagan White House has been calling for a balanced budget since day one of this presidential administration but has never proposed anything except meaningless spending cuts and a call for no new tax increases.

The federal government borrowed 72 cents for every dollar spent in 1986 on programs for the areas of education, veterans, transportation, law enforcement and human services. The Reagan Administration has as many "sacred cows" in the budget as Congress and has, apparently, accepted the social necessity for policies such as Medicare, the social net programs, federal pensions and unemployment insurance and for "untouchables" like Social Security and the Defense Department.

On the last day of fiscal 1986, the president opposed an appropriation bill for the next fiscal year because it didn't provide enough for defense weapons, military bases, foreign aid, and a host of other such items.

The Reagan White House appears to have become the victim of its own anti-tax hype, but actions speak louder than words. President Reagan may have come to Washington with preconceived notions of rolling back Big Government but his proclivity for deficit spending shows that not much has really changed from the days of the Johnson White House.

The so-called Welfare State and Great Society type government programs have joined Pentagon spending programs as untouchables with the Reagan White House and you can not continue to finance all these programs without sufficient revenues to sustain them. If you don't slash spending then you have to find the taxes to prop them up.

President Reagan's fiscal conservatism is looking more and more like voodoo economics. Vice President George Bush may have been right all along but even he, apparently, has accepted these bankrupt economic policies of the Reagan Administration.

Josiah Quincy House Opened For Summer

The Josiah Quincy House, 20 Muirhead St., Wollaston has opened for the summer.

This mid-Georgian house was built by Revolutionary War leader Colonel Josiah Quincy as a country estate. Later generations of the Quincy family lived in the house until the late 19th century.

The third Josiah Quincy was a mayor of Boston, commissioner of the Quincy Market warehouses and president of Harvard University.

The rooms exhibit period wall paneling and fireplaces surrounded by fine English tiles, as well as Quincy family furniture and memorabilia.

The Josiah Quincy House is one of 24 historic house museums in five New England states owned and operated by the Boston-based Society for the Preservation of New England Antiquities.

Residents of Wollaston and members of SPNEA are admitted free to the Josiah Quincy House. Regular admission is $2 for adults and $1 for children. Special rates are available for groups of 10 or more.

The Josiah Quincy House is open until Oct. 15 on Tuesday, Thursday, Saturday and Sunday from 12 to 5 p.m.

Daniel Webster Teacher Accents The Positive Eliminates The Negative

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

To most people, the weather that day was unpleasant. But not to Daniel Webster Elementary School teacher David Ezickson.

"It's beautiful out," he said. "Why be negative?"

"Make the most out of living in New England."

"There is constant metamorphosis, and where there is change there is always hope."

That's the philosophy of the fifth grade teacher who has taught for 21 years in Quincy, the last 13 at the Daniel Webster. He also taught for five years at the Willard and two years as a special needs teacher at Point Junior.

He applies his philosophy to his students.

"A child who is a behavior problem has the capability of changing," said Ezickson. "As long as he or she is given recognition for what he or she can do."

"You have to try to eliminate the negative."

Ezickson, who emanates enthusiasm, said he tries to teach his students in a way that allows them to use their five senses.

For example, if he is teaching about a desert, he might bring in some sand, rather than just show a picture.

"I try to allow children as many different ways of looking at things as I can," he said.

"It's important to let the originality of the student come out."

"There's no singular road when you work with children."

"Your job as a teacher is to help children feel unafraid to take either route to reach a conclusion."

"You can come to an answer a different way."

Ezickson doesn't rely heavily on books.

"If a butterfly flies into the roof, and you keep your nose in a book, you'll miss the butterfly," said Ezickson, repeating a favorite quote.

He doesn't only teach subjects, but life as well.

Ezickson said he has dealt with the topic of death and bereavement of a person or a pet.

He has also taught students about love by inviting into the classroom an elderly couple who had been married for 40 years.

"They went over beautifully," said Ezickson. "Many children need models of longevity, family."

"They need models of older people who have stayed together, struggled."

"Sometimes you can learn more from people than from books," he said.

He also takes students outside the classroom to learn.

"When we deal with biology, we go to the store for fish eggs," said Ezickson.

"We live in a community, and people shouldn't be isolated."

"Businesses and schools should form a partnership, and it would be advantageous to both."

His class has also gotten to know members of the senior adult day care center at the Salvation Army and they shared Thanksgiving dinner.

ranging from the Quakers to Jewish Community Centers to the Boy Scouts.

"I love the notion of helping people help themselves," he said.

"Learning in general was always a deep part of the family I grew up in," said Ezickson, who was born and grew up in Brooklyn, N.Y.

His father, Aaron, was a writer for the Associated Press, his mother, Flora, a concert pianist, and sister, Arlene, an artist.

"We never had much in the way of material things, but man did we have other things," said Ezickson, who spoke of evenings filled with music.

"I learned the importance of words, both written and oral," he said.

He said his feelings about Judaism helped foster a reverence for life and education.

Because he didn't have grandparents to talk to, he encourages his students to seek out their older family members.

"It's important to have some understanding of what preceded you," Ezickson said. As a result of the early influences in his life, books and trees are the only two gifts he gives.

"Books can be looked at over and over again," he explained. "A tree is a symbol of longevity."

"My wife, Ruth, and I have filled our home with plants, books and music."

The Ezicksons are parents of Doron, 28, Sabrina, 25, Elan, 22, and daughter in law, Melanie.

Since 1970, Ezickson has lived in Quincy Point, the area in which he teaches. His home is known to many by its colorful garden.

"It helps you understand the fabric of the community when you live where you teach," he said.

"And students actually believe that you exist outside of school when they see you in the neighborhood," he laughed.

Prior to every school year, he gets a class list and calls parents of students during the summer.

"It opens the lines of communication," he explained. "It gets parents more involved, and allows me the freedom of exchange."

The first days of school, he brings honey to the students to teach them "learning is sweet, not bitter."

Ezickson said he loves to teach.

The best part, he said, "Is the sheer joy of hearing someone say I've got it. I didn't have it, but now I've got it."

"When that happens, there are moments of light, something bursts forth."

"I want a child who looks down to look up, whether with pride or because he or she has mastered something."

The one thing that Ezickson said he hopes to get across to students is kindness to their fellow man.

"That, in essence, will sustain you forever," he said.

(Editor's Note: David Ezickson was selected for a teacher profile by a panel from the Quincy Education Association for his work as a professional educator, and also, as an inviolate community person.

Panelists are Deanna White, Herbert, Snug Harbor School; Paul Phillips, North Quincy High School; Jack Buckley, QEA president, Central Middle School; Thomas Walsh, Quincy High School; and Mary Curtin, Atherton Hough.

Quincy's Yesterdays

22-Week Shipyard Strike Settled

Members of Shipbuilding Workers Local 5 began returning to their jobs at the Fore River Shipyard following a 22-week strike that was settled when a new three-year contract was signed covering eight East Coast yards of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Co.

June 24-30,
27 Years Ago

James McGonnigal, executive secretary of Local 5, predicted that between 1,500 and 2,000 workers would never return to the Fore River yard since they have obtained other jobs during the long walkout.

The shipbuilders received a 25 cents an hour increase in wages spread over three years and increased pension, insurance and sick pay benefits under the new contract. Strikers were given 10 days to return to their jobs.

Mayor Amelio Della Chiesa said the Strike cost the city of Quincy an estimated $255,969 in veterans and welfare benefits and police service, representing a $1.43 increase in a future tax rate.

CIVIL DEFENSE FUROR

Thirty five members of the Quincy Civil Defense Unit's Citizens Radio Patrol announced plans to resign after Director Laurence Mattie fired 12 members who were involved in the chase and capture of a stolen car.

They pursued the stolen car with three youths inside and finally caught them on independence Ave., South Quincy.

Police, who were unaware of the car theft and the chase, charged that the members of the patrol had interfered with police business. The 12 said Mattie ordered them into the chase. Mattie denied it.

Grapenut Pudding A Family Recipe

While my husband was waiting his turn at the doctor's office in Boston, I was in the waiting room reading some old and new magazines. When you spend about three hours in a small waiting room, you sort of become friends with others waiting there. This one particular day, there was another lady waiting for her husband to be examined and we began to talk and of course the subject of food and recipes came up in our conversation. I told her how I love grapenut pudding, but could never find a recipe that I liked. They always seemed to be too long and too complicated. But Frances happened to have one that had been in her family for years. I tried it and it was great. For all you grapenut custard lovers, here it is:

FRANCES'

GRAPENUT CUSTARD PUDDING

1 Tbsp butter
2 cups scalded milk

1 cup sugar
6 Tbsps grape nuts
3 eggs - slightly beaten
1 tsp vanilla

Grease a baking pan (I used a glass dish) and preheat the oven to 350 degrees.

Heat the milk and add the butter. Then add the rest of the ingredients. Bake for about 20 minutes or until a knife goes through the center of it and comes out clean. (That's what Frances told me and it worked). The pudding was delicious with cream topping and can be made ahead of time.

(Marie D'Olimpio is the author of "Simply Italian-And Then Some," a collection of her own recipes. Copies of the book are available at That's Italian, Franklin St., South Quincy; Previte's Market, Sumner St., Quincy Point and Samoset Pharmacy, Samoset Ave., Merrymount.)

$1,500 In Prizes For Miss Quincy Bay Pageant

Over $1,500 in prizes will be shared by the winners of the annual Miss Quincy Bay Beauty Pageant to be held Friday, July 17, at Quincy Center Plaza, Quincy Sq.

Prizes will include diamond earrings, restaurant gift certificates, savings bonds and other gifts, according to pageant chairman Beth Ann Strenge of the Hurley Insurance Agency, Quincy Center.

A former Miss Quincy Bay, she noted that the pageant will start at 7:30 p.m., an hour and a half earlier than in past years.

The pageant will climax the three-day sidewalk bazaar which opens Thursday, July 16.

Friday, June 26, is the deadline for entering the pageant.

Pageant entry forms are available at the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association office, 1416 Hancock St., at member stores and businesses and at South Shore yacht clubs.

Contestants will also vie for the honor of reigning over Quincy Bay Race Week July 29, to Aug. 2.

The first Miss Quincy Bay, Peggy Schaub Severson of Virginia, will receive special recognition at the pageant.

The 50th anniversary of Quincy Bay Race Week will also be celebrated.

The pageant is cosponsored by the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association and the Quincy Bay Race Week Association.

It is open to single girls ages 16 and over who are residents of the South Shore.

Contestants will be judged in evening gown and swimsuit competition.

We're Glad You Asked!

WHAT DO YOU SAY TO A GRIEVING WIDOW?

Because it is so difficult to know how the bereaved really feels, we advise that you not say, "Time has almost healed." It is not necessary to force a conversation, nor to extol the virtues of the deceased to the grieving family.

Silent expressions of emotion and compassion (use a firm gripping of the hand) and a simple, "I'm sorry," are frequently more eloquent than talkative attempts at eulogies.

Listening and just "being there" show that you care. Your presence is indication of your desire to be sympathetic and comforting.

Above all, don't try to jolt a grieving widow out of her grief. Time will do it for her gradually. She must first accept the loss, then begin to live with it and pass through several emotional stages before the natural healing effects of time take hold.

We welcome your questions and comments on this and other subjects—privately or publicly through this column.

Coletti were trapped on a third floor balcony by heavy smoke and had to be assisted down a ladder.

Dep. Jackson remained on duty for a while, and was then sent home, Valenti said. The other firefighters were treated at the scene and remained on duty, he said.

Upon arrival at the fire, firefighters had been met by heavy smoke throughout the building, according to Valenti.

The fire involved the ceiling and floor of the first floor, extended to the partitions on the first and second floor, and was stopped at the third floor, he said.

All of the city's 15 pieces of apparatus were at the scene from 1:09 a.m. until mid morning Friday, according to Valenti.

Mutual aid from Boston, Weymouth, Braintree and Milton covered the Quincy stations, he said.

HN Council Field Day Saturday

The annual spring field day of the Houghs Neck Community Council will be held Saturday, June 27 at LaBrecque Field from noon to 6 p.m.

In case of rain, all events will be held at St. Thomas Aquinas Hall on Darrow St.

At 12 noon the Houghs Neck Legion Post color guard will hold a flag raising ceremony at the Harold Shaw Memorial to open the day's events.

A doll carriage parade is scheduled for 2 p.m.; a bicycle parade at 2:30 p.m. and "horrible's" parade at 3 p.m. "Little Mr. Houghs Neck" will be selected by a panel of judges at 5 p.m., followed by judging for "Little Miss Houghs Neck" at 6 p.m.

Applications are available from Darlene Gardner, chairman, and must be filed in advance. Prizes will be awarded for all events.

There will be games of skill throughout the afternoon. Among the groups offering wares for sale are Manet Over Sixty Services, knickknacks; Mothers & Others Club of the Houghs Neck Congregational Church, miscellaneous articles; Our Lady's Sodality of Most Blessed Sacrament Church, crafts.

The Field Day is directed by officers of the Houghs Neck Community Council.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK.

Each year mandatory retirement strips this country of the product and enthusiasm of millions of persons at the very time economists are saying more productivity is needed.

Think of what the world would have missed had a retirement age even at 70... been universally enforced. Gladstone was Prime Minister of England at 83; Oliver Wendell Holmes retired from the Supreme Court bench at 91; Benjamin Franklin helped frame the Constitution of the United States at 80; Henry Ford, when past 80, took up the presidency of the Ford Motor Company for the second time, after his son's death. Dr. Lillian J. Martin learned to drive an automobile when she was 76 years old. At this same age she founded the Old Age Center in San Francisco, where she received aged people not as patients but as students. She continued to direct it until her death at 91.

Isn't it true that old age is not a matter of years, but a matter of attitude? True, some people are old at 30 while others are youthful at 90. Emerson put it very aptly when he said: "We do not count a man's years until he has nothing else to count".

Obituaries

David C. Sweeney, Jr.

A funeral Mass for David C. Sweeney Jr., 54, of Quincy, a real estate developer and an attorney in the Boston area for many years, was celebrated June 20 at St. Joseph's Church in Medford.

Mr. Sweeney died June 17. Born in Medford, he had lived in Cohasset 12 years before moving to Quincy recently.

He graduated from Malden Catholic High School in 1952, Boston College in 1958 and the New England School of Law in 1966.

He was a former member of the Scituate Harbor Yacht Club.

Mr. Sweeney is survived by a son, David C. Sweeney III of Cohasset; a daughter, Amanda Sweeney of Cohasset; and four sisters, Barbara Carey of Melrose, Helen Shaw of Chelmsford, Irene Antonucci of Lexington and Kathleen Smith of Winchester. Burial was private.

Eileen McIsaac, 69

Eileen (Slavin) McIsaac, 69, formerly of Quincy, died June 15, at Kaiser Hospital, El Cajon, Calif. after a long illness.

Born in Belfast, Ireland, Mrs. McIsaac came to the U.S. in 1923 and lived in Quincy for 50 years before moving to San Diego, Calif. She was a 1936 graduate of North Quincy High School.

Mrs. McIsaac was a long time employee at the Bargain Center in Quincy.

After moving to San Diego she became an apartment manager retiring four years ago.

Mrs. McIsaac was a regular Bingo player in her community.

She is survived by her husband, John C. McIsaac; a son, Thomas J. McIsaac; a daughter, Jacqueline C. Richards, all of San Diego, and three grandchildren.

Cremation has been planned by Neptune Society with her ashes to be buried at Mt. Wollaston Cemetery, Quincy.

Memorial donations may be made to the American Diabetes Association.

Phelan Urges 'No' Vote On Wollaston Re-zoning

Charles J. Phelan, Jr., a candidate for Ward 5 Councillor, strongly urges the City Council to vote against the proposed zoning change that would rezone Wollaston Center to Business "D."

"This proposal would allow for the construction of buildings of up to ten stories in height in Wollaston Center," Phelan said. "I am strongly opposed to the passage of such a proposal."

The purpose of zoning is to allow the city to control growth and density and to deal with changing demographics by dividing it into distinct zones, he explained.

"A zoning scheme can be broken down into three basic zones: commercial, residential, and what I refer to as residential support," Phelan said.

A residential support zone, according to Phelan, is "an area which abuts a residential zone and allows only for those small commercial activities that are vital to the everyday life of the neighborhood."

"To rezone Wollaston Center to allow for the construction of ten story buildings would not only detract from the aesthetics of the surrounding neighborhoods," Phelan said, "but would be inconsistent with the purpose of a residential support zone and the underlying function of zoning."

According to Phelan, voting down this proposal, will make it easier and less costly to provide basic city services such as police and fire apparatus suitable for the character of the Wollaston area.

Phelan also said that keeping Wollaston Center zoned as it is will preserve the safety and security of the neighborhoods, prevent excess noise levels, and safeguard against increased accidents by keeping traffic and congestion on neighborhood streets at an acceptable level.

Health Commissioner QCA Speaker July 1

The Quincy Citizen's Association will meet July 1 at 8 p.m. at the Montclair Men's Club, Holbrook Rd., Montclair.

City Health Department Administrator M. Jane Gallahue, guest speaker, will discuss current Health Department programs.

Esther Sanger Guest Speaker At Covenant Congregational

Mrs. Esther Sanger, director of the Quincy Crisis Center, will preach the sermon Sunday, June 28 at the 10 a.m. worship service of Covenant Congregational Church, Whitwell and Granite Sts.

The center's van is currently parked at the back of the church lot. Members of the congregation are asked to bring donations for a "Food Shower" on behalf of the Crisis Center.

The choir will be directed and accompanied on the organ by Richard Smith, minister of music. Smith will play "Prelude" by Pierne and "Adoration" by Borowski as offertory, as well as the postlude.

During the service, a nursery is available for children age five and younger. Next Sunday it will be attended by Mrs. Florence Anderson. Immediately following the service, a special congregational meeting will be held to approve the hiring of a contractor to paint the church and an oil burner service to install a new burner. After the meeting everyone is invited downstairs to Person Hall to share in a coffee hour.

Starting July 5, the 10 a.m. worship service will be held outdoors in the church park adjacent to the building. Those attending may bring their own lawn chairs. Following the service the coffee hour will be held in Person Hall.

Vacation Bible Day Camp will be held Wednesdays from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m., July 15 through Aug. 12. There will be a $4 registration fee and the theme will be a "Journey to Japan."

CITY HALL VISIT was enjoyed by 20 Haitian orphan boys, ages 8 to 18, who visited Mayor Francis McCauley with Sen. Paul Harold and Fr. William McCarthy, pastor of St. John's Church, Quincy Center, which hosted the boys.

'Newness Of Life'

Sermon Topic At Bethany

Sunday there will be one service of worship at 10 a.m. in the sanctuary of Bethany Congregational Church, United Church of Christ, at Coddington and Spear St., Quincy Center.

The Rev. Joel F. Huntington, associate minister, will preach the sermon entitled "Newness of Life." The sermon will focus on how Christians should live out a new kind of life on this planet. Lay scripture reader will be Robert B. MacIntosh.

Peter E. Krasinski will be at the organ console and will direct the soprano soloist, Anita Wakim, as she sings Mozart's "Laudate Dominum" and Beethoven's "Seraph's Aria."

Nursery care will be provided by church members for babies and toddlers.

The service of worship is broadcast live at 10 a.m. over WJDA, 1300 kc. A cassette tape of the service is available for $2 by contacting the church office at 479-7300.

There will be a fellowship hour following the worship service. Members of the community are always welcome to share in the worship and in the fellowship of Bethany Church.

Father's Day Service At Squantum Church

"How a Father Loves Each Child" was the topic of the sermon preached Sunday by Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, pastor, at the special Father's Day service at the First Church of Squantum.

The sermon began with a dramatization of the parable of the prodigal son and the parable of the elder brother.

The call to worship was a choral reading of Psalm 1 by Lori Ogilvie, Kim Olson, Kristen Reister, Susan Scott, Karen Reister, Mindi Hurd, Krista Olson, Marci Hurd, and Sarah Mildram. Andy Ogilvie led the opening prayer.

Hymns sung by the congregation included "God of Our Fathers, Whose Almighty Hand," "This Is My Father's World," and "Rise Up, O Men of God!" The Youth Choir and the Crusader Choir, led by Susan Scott, combined to sing "Thy Word" as popularized by Amy Grant.

Craig Zachring was organist for the service.

Loraine and Fred Joslyn were greeters for the morning. Tore Wallin and Steward Scott were the ushers, and Edna Swanson, Hazel Mayne and Grace Holmes hosted the Fellowship Hour after the service.

June 28 will be Changeover Day at the church when the congregation changes over to the summer schedule of services. The worship service will begin at 9:30 a.m.

Assault Prevention

Tips for protection while at home:

- Replace or rekey lock when you move into a house or apartment. Anyone could have keys to the old ones.
- Install a peephole so you can see who is outside your door before opening it.
- A note on your door saying you are not at home is asking for trouble. Use only your last name and initial by your door bell, mailbox or phone book.
- Elevators in apartment buildings and offices can lead to trouble. Wait for an empty car rather than get in with strangers.
- Notify the police of anonymous phone calls made repeatedly at certain hours ... someone may be checking to see if you are home; quietly hang up and notify police of obscene phone calls.
- Strangers should stay outside your home; they can go someplace else to make a phone call, or you can make it for them.
- Require all servicemen to show proper identification (uniforms alone should not be considered proper identification).
- Keep window shades down and blinds closed at night.
- Report to the police immediately if you see or hear any suspicious sounds, activities or people around your neighborhood.

During the month of June, the Quincy Police Crime Prevention Office will be offering free home security surveys. If you are interested call 479-1212 ext 368 for an appointment.

As you can see from the journal, trucks with tools are again the target of thieves. To protect your tools, engrave your drivers license number on them. They will be much harder for the thief to sell and if they are recovered they will be returned to you.

5 Residents Graduate At Wentworth

Five Quincy area graduates were among the 528 students to graduate at commencement exercises at Wentworth Institute of Technology.

They are:

Nevio Cardarelli, 98 Pleasant St., dental laboratory technology, certificate of graduation; Chris J. Costello, 50 Lincoln Ave., computer engineering technology, associate in engineering degree; Michael Kearns, 25 Wollaston Ave., architectural engineering technology, associate in engineering degree; Matthew Ursino, 30 Freeman St., electronic engineering technology, associate in engineering degree with high honors; and Mark V. Weber, 56 Bromfield St., technical management, bachelor of science degree.

Robert Levasseur On President's List

Robert Levasseur of Quincy has been named to the Plymouth State College President's list for achieving a grade point average of 3.7 or better during the spring semester of the 1986-87 academic year.

Quincy Hospital Participates In 'Smoke Free Family Week'

The Norfolk County-Newton Lung Association joined Quincy City Hospital in observing recent "Smoke Free Family Week."

During the week, each newborn delivered at Quincy City Hospital received without charge a T-shirt with the logo, "I'm A Born Non-Smoker," while all new parents were given a gift package of lung health information and literature.

"Our goal is to increase awareness of the hazards of smoking as they relate to the family," said Ron Wooten of the New England Patriots and Chairman of the Smoke-Free Family, "and what better place to focus our attention than on our born non-smokers."

Parents who smoke at home are increasing the chance that their child will have frequent respiratory problems, such as colds and flu. When these children do become sick, being regularly exposed to cigarette smoke can worsen the cold or flu and prolong the illness.

Infants breathe more rapidly than adults. Because of this higher rate, they inhale more air - and more pollution. If a woman smokes during her pregnancy, the risk of miscarriage, stillbirth and low birth weights are increased. After birth, nicotine from the cigarette can be found in the breast milk and is bad for the baby.

For more information on the health effects of smoking or for help in quitting, contact the Norfolk County Newton Lung Association at 668-6729.

Jarnis Holds 'Get Acquainted Night'

Quincy School Committee candidate Bob Jarnis launched his campaign recently at the Montclair Men's Club, Holbrook Rd. 100 people attended the "Get Acquainted Night."

According to JoAnn Bragg, campaign treasurer, there was wide-spread representation from a full cross-section of the city, due to a deep interest in the schools.

In prepared remarks, Jarnis outlined the basis of his platform. "The city is fortunate to have a strong school system that provides a solid base from which to operate," he said. "This strength is derived from both community support and the qualified professional leadership in our schools."

Jarnis then explained that he thought that there are, however, many opportunities to expand upon that solid base and to improve our schools.

He said, "To take full advantage of these opportunities, the school system will require strong leadership from the School Committee."

Two key aspects of strong School Committee leadership outlined by the candidate include, capability to identify and clearly define school issues for full and fair evaluation; and follow-through on approved School Committee policies to help obtain city government approval and implementation.

Jarnis expressed confidence that a strong School Committee leadership would

Cahill Says City Should Take Care Of Its Employees

Speaking recently before a group of 100 senior citizens at 1000 Southern Artery, Tim Cahill, a candidate for city councillor-at-large, stressed the need for the city to take care of its employees.

He said, "Be they policemen, firemen, teachers or public works employees, the need for good morale is paramount to an efficient well run city."

"As the owner of a small business in Quincy, I know the importance of reliable employees. They must be paid well, treated with respect, and motivated."

"Motivation is a by-product of financial bonuses, promotion, or simply and sometimes most importantly, public and private recognition for a job well done."

"We seem to spend a disproportionate amount of time slandering our city employees and not enough time praising those who do their job with pride."

"It is necessary to implement a system of rewards for city employees who, by their work ethic, set an example for all city employees."

"In my business, we have established a scholarship fund to help those employees who work diligently and show concern for the store."

"We have also instituted a pay raise system that rewards those employees attending high school who achieve the honor roll," said Cahill.

According to Cahill, these are but two ways an employer can encourage employees to do their best.

"Playing games with pay raises is not something that an employer or elected official should be doing, nor pitting the city against the public employee at the bargaining table," Cahill said.

At the close of the coffee hour, residents were treated to Irish stepdancers from St. John's under the direction of Joan and Ann Forbes.

Participants included: Andrea Fleming, Colleen McHugh, Erin O'Brien, Tricia Keenan, and Martina Hickey.

Morrisette Wins Pair, Bows To Mass Truck

The Morrisette Legion baseball team saw everything from a classic pitching duel to sloppy baseball enroute to a 2-1 record in last week's Zone 6 games.

Morrisette's overall record stands at 4-2.

In a classic pitching duel between Morrisette's Larry Taglieri and Braintree's Dan Mitchell, Morrisette won 1-0 on a Steve Minichiello single in the bottom of the eighth.

Both pitchers were extremely sharp. Taglieri allowed just three hits, two in the infield, and struck out nine. He pitched out of a sticky situation in the top of the eighth when lead off batter Vin Joyce blooped a single to right and moved to third on two wild pitches with no outs. Taglieri struck out the next batter, walked All-Scholastic Dan Mahoney intentionally and fanned clean-up hitter Bob Kearny for the second out.

Braintree's threat ended when Taglieri got Rick Delvecchio to ground out.

Braintree's Mitchell also coasted along, putting down the first 11 batters in order until he gave up a single to Dan Biagini. In the fifth, Morrisette threatened for the first time. Chris Ricciuti opened the inning with a double. Billy McDougal sacrificed and when Braintree failed to get Ricciuti at third, both runners were on. McDougal stole second but with runners on second and third with no outs, Mitchell got the next three batters, leaving the runners on base.

Morrisette won the game in the eighth when Wayne Chambers beat out an infield hit, stole second and went to third on a wild pitch. Steve Minichiello got the game winning hit as he drove a single to left center.

It was the first time Morrisette has shut out Braintree since 1972.

Morrisette staged a heroic comeback against Mass Truck but their valiant effort fell short, losing 10-8. Falling behind 4-0 in the first inning, Morrisette got back into it with three runs in the second.

Mass Truck upped their lead to 9-3 when they scored two in the third and three in the fifth. Morrisette again fought back, scoring three in the fifth and two in the sixth to make it 9-8.

Mass Truck scored an insurance run in the seventh while Morrisette failed to score again for a 10-8 final.

Morrisette used four pitchers. Billy McDougal started and took the loss and was followed by Dan Overby, Tim Brillo and Wayne Chambers.

Mike Marini started and picked up the win for Mass Truck.

Morrisette received hits from Chris Ricciuti (2), Larry Taglieri (2), and triples by Dan Overby (two RBIs) and Ron Fletcher. Mike Mullaney, Steve Minichiello and Wayne Chambers each had a single and Rob McDonald reached base four times with three walks and a single for three runs scored.

In a wild affair featuring bad hop errors, misplayed relays and unwise baserunning, Morrisette downed Randolph, 9-7.

Larry Taglieri went the distance for the win. Only three of Randolph's seven runs were earned as Taglieri struck out six and walked one.

Morrisette took a 2-1 lead in the bottom of the first when Steve Minichiello singled, Dan Biagini tripled and scored when the relay was booted.

Randolph tied it in the third but Morrisette countered with three runs in the third to go up 5-2. Minichiello and Biagini singled and scored on infield outs. Fletcher singled, moved to second on a wild pitch and scored when Mike Mullaney's single went through the left fielder's legs.

Randolph tied it in the fourth, coming up with four runs on a walk, error, double and single. They went ahead 6-5 in the fifth but Morrisette came back with four in the bottom of the fifth to put the game away.

Billy McDougal had the key hit, singling in the two go-ahead runs. Randolph scored one run in the seventh for the 9-7 final.

Dan Biagini was perfect at the plate with three hits and a walk. Fletcher and Minichiello had two hits each.

Morrisette will play Quincy at Adams Field Friday at 8:30 p.m., at Holbrook Monday at 8:30 p.m. and host Carter Post at Adams next Wednesday at 8:30 p.m.

BOB SEAMANS of Quincy in training run in California for the June 27 Western States 100 Mile Same Day Endurance Run over the rugged Sierra Nevada wilderness mountain trails. This trail race is the ultimate challenge for the long distance runner and must be completed within 30 hours. The race can push man's physical capabilities to the limits. Seamans is being sponsored by the South Boston Savings Bank.

Quincy Rebounds, 7-6

The Quincy Legion baseball team rebounded from a two-game losing streak by downing Mass Truck 7-6 Monday night to improve its record to 4-2 in Zone 6.

Quincy started the season winning three straight but fell to 3-2, victims of a hitting drought and inconsistent pitching. The win against Mass Truck, called because of darkness after six innings, stopped Quincy's losing skid.

Quincy defeated Mass Truck with three pitchers contributing to the win. Robbie Higgins started and fanned four in three innings work. He was relieved by Bob Laracy who picked up the win. Laracy left the mound after he developed stiffness in his arm and was replaced by Jim Dennis who pitched the final two innings to earn the save.

Quincy scored one run in the first. Dennis singled, advanced on a fielder's choice and scored on a single by Bill Mulhern. In the second, Bill Roche walked, Sean Gately doubled and both scored on Jim Kearny's long triple. Kearny opened the fourth by reaching on an error, Dennis singled and Mulhern hit one out of the park for a homer. The winning run was scored in the fifth when Roche singled, Nick Dragone reached on an error and pinch-hitter Mike Toland singled home the winning run.

Quincy's other hits were singles by Mulhern and Dragone.

In the season opener, Quincy blanked Holbrook 4-0 behind the two-hit pitching performance of Higgins. He struck out 12 and walked only one.

Quincy scored two runs in the first on walks to Steve Haggas and Peter Tufts. Jim Dennis hit a run scoring single and Kyle Robertson knocked in a run with a sacrifice fly.

In the fifth inning, Quincy added two more runs on a single by Kevin Duffy, a sacrifice bunt by Higgins, an RBI double by Bill Roche and a pass ball.

Quincy edged Carter Post 8-7 at Dorchester led by the pitching of Joe Taylor who hurled four innings to earn the win. He was relieved by Bob Laracy who tossed only five pitches to retire the side in the fifth.

In the sixth, Laracy pitched two thirds of an inning with Higgins coming in to retire the last batter with the tying run on third and the winning run on second.

Bill Mulhern had two singles and scored two runs while Dennis doubled and scored a run. Nick Dragone singled and scored on Roche's long triple who then scored on Paul McEllean's single in the fifth to put Quincy ahead for good. Taylor had a run producing single.

Quincy also downed Wollaston 3-1 in a fine pitching duel between Quincy's Higgins and Wollaston's Mark DiMattio. Higgins struck out 14 and walked one while DiMattio fanned eight and walked three.

Wollaston scored first on a triple by Dave Tocchio and Sean Thompson's ground single through the right side.

Quincy won the game in the fifth on a single by Mike Toland, a walk to Haggas and a two-out triple by Mulhern that scored Toland and Haggas. Dennis then delivered Mulhern for the third run with a single to left. Quincy's rally ended when Dennis tried to reach third on a single by Robertson but was thrown out on a controversial call.

Dragone had the other Quincy hit.

For Wollaston, Thompson had a double and Tocchio a single. Jay Ilespasio and T.J. Steen had singles in the seventh inning but Higgins shut the door to seal the win.

Quincy lost its first game to host Canton, 11-1. Phillip Halperin held Quincy to five hits, striking out six.

Canton scored three runs in the first and second inning and five in the third. Quincy's lone run was scored in the seventh when Steve Haggas (two hits) singled home Mike Conner who had reached base on an error. Kyle Robertson, Robbie Higgins, and Bill Roche had the other Quincy hits.

Quincy lost 5-1 to Randolph in a make-up game. Quincy managed only one hit off Rick Triss, that by Higgins in the fourth inning.

Quincy had the scoring opportunities but left nine men on base.

A bright spot for the Quincy squad is Higgins, one of the premier pitchers in the area. He is 2-0 and has struck out 30 while walking just two in 17 innings. Higgins will enroll at the University of Maine in the fall.

Another Quincy brightspot is their sound, fundamental defense which makes very few mistakes.

Quincy's thin pitching staff is being forced to use their relief pitchers more than desired. They may have to resort to using one of three 16-year old pitchers which they did not anticipate in the preseason. They are Mike Conner and Jim Kearns of Archbishop Williams and Joe Gately of B.C. High. Quincy may also use several hardthrowers who have not been on the hill since their Babe Ruth days.

Quincy is scheduled to play at Braintree Wednesday at 7:30 p.m., Morrisette at Adams Friday at 8:30 p.m. and at Milton Monday at 6 p.m. to complete the first half of the season.

Sun Sports

Wollaston Wins One Loses Two

The Wollaston Legion baseball team record is 3-3 after losing two games and winning one in recent Zone 6 action.

Wollaston lost to Quincy 3-1 in a game featuring Wollaston pitcher Mark DiMattio versus Quincy's Robbie Higgins. Higgins was a little bit sharper, striking out 13, walking one and yielding six hits. Higgins also worked out of two tough jams in the sixth and seventh innings when the Wollaston squad threatened a comeback.

DiMattio pitched well, fanning eight and giving up six hits.

Wollaston got on the board first with a triple by David Tocchio and a single by Sean Thompson in the opening inning. They held the lead until the fifth when Quincy scored three runs. Putting the game out of reach was a single by pinch-hitter Mike Toland, a walk to Steve Haggas, a 3-2 count triple by Bill Mulhern and a single by Jim Dennis.

In Friday's game, Wollaston soundly defeated Carter Post 6-1 behind the 13 strike out performance of T.J. Steen.

Offensive power for Wollaston was supplied by David Tocchio (two singles), Tom Logan (RBI double), Joel Rogers (RBI triple) and Rick Nabstedt (two-run double).

On Monday, Wollaston was blanked by Braintree 8-0 in its first poorly played game of the year.

Chris Lane of Braintree hurled a five hitter and Wollaston's Chris Higgins (1-1) took the loss.

Getting hits for Wollaston were Rick Nabstedt (2), and one each by Tom Logan, David Tocchio and Sean Thompson.

Braintree's Ted Novio singled, doubled and hit a towering home run to lead the offense. Mike Delvecchio connected for a two-run double.

Wollaston's next scheduled games are Wednesday at Milton at 6 p.m. and Friday at Mass Truck at 6 p.m.

Hershey Track Meets To Start July 1

The Quincy Recreation Department will sponsor the Hershey National Track and Field Youth Program by hosting a community meet, open to all boys and girls ages 9-14, announces Recreation Director Barry Welch.

This local meet will be the first step in a competition which could result in a local athlete advancing to the National Championship in Hershey Park, Pa. New England Champions are awarded an all expense paid trip by Hershey Chocolate, the national sponsor.

The program is open to all youngsters ages 9-14, and participants do not have to have previous track experience, or be a member of a community track program. There are no entry fees and spikes and starting blocks are not allowed.

The Quincy meet for boys will be Tuesday, June 30 at 6 p.m. The Quincy Meet for Girls will be on Wednesday, July 1 at 6 p.m. Both meets will be at Veterans Memorial Stadium, Hancock St.

Registration will be on the day of the meet. The age of the participant shall be his/her age as of December 31, 1987.

Both boys and girls will compete in three age categories; 9-10, 11-12, and 13-14. Those youngsters currently 8 years in age, but who will turn 9 years before Dec. 31, 1987, may compete in the 9-10 group. Youngsters currently 14 years in age, but who will turn 15 years before Dec. 31, 1987, are not eligible.

The events are as follows: Age 9-10 - Boys and Girls - 50 yd. dash, 100 yd. dash, 200 yd. dash, 400 yd. dash, 4 x 100 yd. relay, standing long jump, softball throw.

Age 11-12 boys and girls - 100 yd. dash, 200 yd. dash, 400 yd. dash, 800 yd. run, 4 x 100 yd. relay, standing long jump, softball throw.

Age 13-14 boys and girls - 100 yd. dash, 200 yd. dash, 400 yd. dash, 800 yd. run, 4 x 100 yd. relay, standing long jump, softball throw.

Each participant may compete in up to three events, and if three are chosen, one must be a field event.

Welch noted, "The philosophy of this program is to stimulate participation of all eligible children, it is in no way to be contained as an All-Star program. This event is run in cooperation with the National Recreation and Park Association, and the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sport. I encourage our young residents to take advantage of this excellent program."

Members of the Quincy Track Club will assist in conducting the local meets. For additional information contact the Quincy Recreation Department at 773-1380, ext. 204.

Swim Programs

The Quincy Recreation Department announces that all recreational swim programs at the Lincoln Hancock Community School Pool will be cancelled from Friday, June 26 until Monday completion of the program. North Quincy is the oldest of the four youth programs in the city with Broadmeadows, Montclair and West Quincy the remaining units.

Five hundred boys and girls participated in the 1987 spring activities sponsored by the Koch Club.

Off Until July 6

July 6 when swim lessons and the new summer schedule will begin.

Routine maintenance and cleaning will be conducted at the pool during this time.

• Babe Ruth O'Malley, McDonough Star For Bryan Post

Bryan Post defeated Local 1139 12-7 as Pat McDonough won his fourth consecutive complete game.

McDonough fanned eight and walked three in a fine performance.

Brian O'Malley led the Bryan offensive unit with two hits, including a bases-loaded triple in the last inning. O'Malley also stole three bases and scored three runs.

Sean Mulken hit three hits, including two doubles, Jamie Greene hit a three-run homer and Donnie Anderson tripled and singled.

McDonough, Joe Marnikovic, Steven Waas and Chris Stenmon had the remaining hits.

Steve Loud sparked the Bryan defense with an outstanding catch in left field. Kevin Mullay, Paul Murphy, Mark Kelleher and Aaron Silverman also played well.

Steve Kohler starred for Local with three extra-base hits. Fred Regan tripled and Steve Sumpter, John Shea and Paul Harrington each singled.

In other action, Bank of New England defeated

Bryan Post behind the steady six-hit pitching of Chris Abbate.

Tom Balzano had four hits and four RBIs and Tom Norton had three hits to lead New England offensively. Marty McGowan chipped in a key two-run single with the score 1-0 in Bryan Post's favor.

Chris Olsen played well defensively for the winners.

Bryan Post centerfielder Jamie Greene played a strong game, hitting a double and making three spectacular putouts.

Granite City Defeats Houghs Neck, Golden

Granite City Electric won two games in recent Babe Ruth League action, defeating Houghs Neck Legion and Golden Press Print.

Against a fine Houghs Neck Squad, Granite's Erik DeBoer hurled a no-hitter with 13 strikeouts to lead Granite to a 6-1 win. DeBoer has 13 strikeouts in each of his three wins.

Houghs Neck's Peter McLoughlin walked, stole second and moved to third and home on past balls to take a 1-0 lead. DeBoer tightened up to strikeout the next seven batters.

Bobby Austin of Houghs Neck pitched very well, fanning five in the first two innings.

In the third, Vin Anderionis walked, David Gamsby singled and Jim Monroe laid down a fine sacrifice bunt to move the runners. After Tony Anderionis walked to load the bases, DeBoer tripled to left center, knocking in three runs. DeBoer scored on Angelo Kyranis's hard ground ball that was mishandled to give Granite a 4-1 advantage.

Granite's Corey Haddad, Dave Jolly and Vin Anderionis all had singles. DeBoer stoked three hits from the clean-up spot.

Also playing key roles in Granite's win were Steve Wysocki, Mike Picariello, Wayne Sit and Andy Veneziano.

For Houghs Neck, Sal Manganaro, Peter Lepasio, Rob Kissel, Chad McMahon and Joe McInnis played well defensively. Jonathan Rourke, Dave Edwards, Jim Gately and Garrett Butkus also had strong games for Houghs Neck.

Also playing key roles in Granite's win were Steve Wysocki, Mike Picariello, Wayne Sit and Andy Veneziano.

In a game against Golden Press Print, Granite City Electric broke open a close game in the fifth to win 7-2. Golden Print, a fine hitting team, entered the game with a six game win streak. That streak was snapped as Print could only manage four hits off Granite City's Dave Gamsby (5-0).

Joe Crespi, Bob Crespi, Pat O'Donoghue and Ritchie Burns all had hits for Golden Print.

Gamsby gave a Luis Tiant type performance, mixing his speeds and keeping Golden Print off-balance. He retired the first 10 batters.

Print's Bob Crespi turned in a fine pitching performance, giving up three hits in six innings.

In the seventh, Gamsby, Tony Anderionis, DeBoer, Sit and Jolly all hit singles and with walks to Picariello and Angelo Kyranis, Granite broke loose to a 7-2 lead.

Defensively, Ed Costello, Jim Munroe and Andy Veneziano played well.

Shortstop Tony Anderionis was all over the field and single handedly kept Granite City in the game.

Barry Glynn was a rock behind the plate for Golden Print. Gary Glynn, Mike Murray and Brian Zimmerman also played soundly.

Boating Registration July 1-2

Recreation Director Barry J. Welch announces that the Quincy Recreation Department William F. Ryan Boating and Sailing Facility will conduct registration for its summer program of rowing, sailing, windsurfing, and canoeing instruction July 1-2 at 9 a.m. at the facility, adjacent to Black's Creek in Merrymount Park. Registration will continue weekdays throughout the summer.

Welch said the program will be open to all Quincy residents on a fee basis. The program will be divided into age and skill classes. Children age 8-16 who have passed a qualifying swim test will be offered classes from beginner to advanced levels. This program will be offered daily from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Interested applicants may take the swim test at any swim station or at the Lincoln Hancock Pool.

Adults may participate in all programs daily from 4 p.m. to 8 p.m. Adult and family sailing instruction will be conducted on Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and on Sundays from noon to 6 p.m.

On a limited basis, special adult instruction may be arranged during the day for adults who work evenings.

• Junior League

Gear Blasts Cable, 13-1

Boston Gear soundly defeated Quincy Cable 13-1 behind the strong pitching of Mike Patch.

Patch scattered six hits and helped his own cause with a single and a homerun.

Gear's offense was led by Matt Riley's three singles and a double and Danny Duncan's single, double and three-run homer. Eric Krvez, Mike Desroache, and George Wirtz had two hits each, with one of Desroache's a long homerun. Jeff Burrell also had a key hit for Gear.

Gear's offensive attack featured a double steal and a suicide squeeze in the first inning.

Pat Layden, Mike Duffy, Kenny Ledwak and Mark Connelly played super defense for Gear.

Mike Kavanaugh and Mark Snable pitched well for Cable but were victimized by a fired up Gear team.

Leading the offense for Cable was Adrian O'Donohue with two hits and one run scored. O'Donohue also played spectacular defense, making several rally ending plays.

Also contributing to the Cable offense was Jamie Shatzel, Jason Ackerman, Dan Sheehan and Snable.

• Triple A

Indians, Braves, Mets Set Pace

The Indians of the American League and the Braves and Mets of the National League are in first place at the halfway mark of the Quincy Youth Baseball Triple A Division.

Openings Remain In QJC Summer Institute

The Quincy Recreation Department is seeking teenage volunteers to assist its regular staff at the Happy Acres Day Camp for children with special needs Barry J. Welch, Director of Recreation announced recently.

The camp is located at 100 Southern Artery and offers a variety of recreational programs for handicapped Quincy residents.

Persons who are accepted may volunteer one day or longer each week and gain valuable experience while providing an opportunity for handicapped children to fulfill their potential in a variety of recreational activities.

Boys and girls interested in volunteering should be entering the seventh grade or above, and report to an organization meeting at the camp on Thursday July 2, at 10 a.m.

Additional information can be obtained by calling the Quincy Recreation Department at 773-1380, ext. 204.

Elks Rainbow Road Race July 11

The Quincy Lodge of Elks Rainbow Foundation is planning a celebrity road race to benefit children with chronic and terminal illnesses to be held in conjunction with their annual Community Fair Saturday, July 11.

The major sponsor of the race is O'Connell Bros. Co., Inc. of Quincy. Tee shirts will be given to the first 400 registered runners.

Pre-registration fee is $5 and $7 on the day of the race. Medals will be awarded to the first three finishers in each division and all registered runners will be eligible for a merchandise raffle.

Divisions will be 19 and under, 20-29, 30-39, 40-49, 50-59 and 60 and over male and female.

Former New England Patriots' player Jim Nance is working with the Elks Committee to contact former players of the Boston Red Sox, Celtics, Bruins and Patriots for their commitment to participate in the race.

There will be refreshments donated by a number of merchants and a special Mike Barry Award to the first Squantum resident to finish.

Barry, a Quincy Police sergeant, died last August at the age of 53. He was a resident of Squantum and a 33-year veteran of the department.

The Elks welcome monetary contributions from Quincy organizations and businesses to ensure the financial success of the event. Donations of merchandise are also appreciated to be used for participants in the race.

Anyone wishing to contribute should contact the Quincy Elks Rainbow Foundation, P.O. Box 101, North Quincy, MA 02171.

Quincy Camp Fire Holds Grand Council Fire

Quincy Camp Fire held its Grand Council Fire recently at Rock Island Rd., Houghs Neck with "peace" as the theme.

Town Coordinator Paula Gordon led the young members in the "wholed" call. Then a representative from each club came forward to say a few words about peace and place a decorated log on the council fire.

Three-year youth tenure awards were presented to Kristy Cheney, Leah Schofield, Sara Gordon, Kelly Howard, Sara Keefe, Amy Wysocki, Valerie Chin, Jessica Duffy, Lisa Ferrara, and Jaclyn Shaw.

Five-year adult tenure was awarded to Mary Fasoli. Program coordinator Fran Meade received a national award, the Shawnsquas pin, for her many years of leadership.

Sparks, Camp Fire kindergarten members, graduated to Blue Bird level as their leader, Debbi DiBona, presented each with the Blue Bird emblem and parents came forward to put the red Blue Bird vests on their children.

Graduating to Blue Birds were Sarah Finian, Sarah DiBona, Mark Doyle, David Ross, Kerry Thomas, and Kelley Johnston.

Two Blue Bird clubs flew up to Adventure level, receiving their Fly Up certificates from leaders Paula Gordon and Brenda Chin. Camp Fire members sang the "Fly Up Song" as parents came forward to present the blue Adventure vests.

Those flying up to become Adventurers were Valerie Chin, Lisa Ferrara, Rebecca Billikas, Jessica Duffy, Jaclyn Shaw, Kristy Cheney, Leah Schofield, Sara Gordon, Kelly Howard, Sara Keefe, and Amy Wysocki.

Leader Anne Marks' Adventure Club graduated to Discovery Club, Camp Fire's Junior High program Kelly

Meade, Olivia Mannion, Maureen Flavin, Jennifer Marks, Karen Leary, Erin Sullivan, and Rachel O'Malley, many of them six-year members, received the rainbow Discovery emblem symbolizing the many new paths and activities open to them in the Discovery program.

Sue Walsh described Camp Fire's national Peace Project and presented the Gift of Peace emblem to the 57 youth members who completed the project this year. The young people then led the audience in singing "Let There Be Peace on Earth."

The Grand Council Fire concludes Quincy Camp Fire's citywide activities for this school year. South Shore Council Camp Fire offers day camp during the summer. Quincy Camp Fire will resume activities in September with Recruitment Night. Fliers will be distributed at the beginning of the school year with the date and location

Perry noted that the survey was taken before the stabbing incidents in Quincy and Milton earlier this year. However, since the culprit was apprehended some months ago, she feels the questionnaire probably represents the feelings of women today.

About a third of women in their 30s and 50s, and a fourth of women in their 20s, 40s and 60s noted that they were affected positively by the recent business development in Quincy.

Women aged 40 to 60 expressed more negative effects than their younger counterparts.

A married woman in her 30s with one child who had lived in Quincy for eight years says the development keeps her "busier at work" and provides "new job opportunities."

Affected negatively by development is a widowed woman in her 30s who says "housing costs are going up because Quincy is a desirable place to live and work. I may have to move."

Overt words, subtle works and action were the types of harassment experienced by the respondents but no obvious physical action was noted.

Sexual harassment appeared mostly on the job. Removing oneself from situation or verbal responses were solutions to the situations, according to the questionnaire.

A woman in her 30s said, "Subtle harassment is difficult to confront without seeming like a hysterical female."

Another woman in her 20s used avoidance. She said, "I was merely a secretary and he was the vice-president. I just stayed clear away."

Some other responses from the women who completed the survey:

- Half of the women in their 40s and one third of the remaining respondents reported being the main support of their families.

- Women aged 20-39 (25 per cent) and in their 40s (11 per cent) were currently in need of child care.

- Those women aged 20 to 39 received their primary health care outside Quincy, while women age 40 and over received their care in Quincy.

- A majority of women were active registered voters.

- Women reported that they were sustained by their faith.

- The diversity of employment indicates that Quincy women are moving away from traditional clerical positions, according to the commission.

- The order of communities in which women worked were Quincy, Boston, South Shore.

- Respondents' annual salary increases across all ages with the exception of women in their 40s and 60s who experience a decrease in salary, possibly due to retirement.

Copies of the report are available at the main branch of the Thomas Crane Public Library, 40 Washington St., and at the North Quincy Branch Library, 381 Hancock St.

Previous reports on housing and the homeless and on child care are also available.

8 Firefighters, 3 Police Sergeants To Be Sworn In Eight new firefighters and three new police sergeants will be sworn in next week, according to Mayor Francis McCauley.

In addition, two police positions will be filled on an acting basis, he said.

The firefighters will be sworn in Wednesday, July 1, at 10 a.m. in the Council Chambers.

Swearing in ceremony for police promotions will take place Tuesday, June 30, at 10:30 a.m. in the mayor's office, third floor, new City Hall.

New firefighters are Daniel DeCoste, 215 Winthrop St., Edward Fenby, 51 Utica St.,

Paul Griffith, 14 Franklin Ave., Paul Leonard, 35 Spear St., Peter Lindblom, 514 Willard St., Gary Smyth, 92 Nightingale Ave., and Stephen Walsh, 1055 Southern Artery, all of Quincy; and Robert Servaes, 17 Boscobel St., Braintree.

According to McCauley, the new fire fighters have gone through extensive background checks, both physical and psychological testing and have passed the strength and agility test administered by Civil Service.

Effective date of their appointment will be Saturday, July 11.

Three new police sergeant positions will be filled by Robert F. Crowley, 53 Butler Rd., John F. Kelley, 60 Keating St., and William O. Stenmon, 85 Webster St., all in Quincy.

The appointments will be effective July 1.

Due to the leave of absence of Lt. Dennis Mannix, to fill the position of Bourne police chief, temporary vacancies exist in the ranks of lieutenant and sergeant.

These positions will be filled on an acting basis by Normand J. Goyette, 63 Garfield St., Quincy, as lieutenant and Thomas C. Malvesti, 26 Hynes St., Quincy, as sergeant.

Restaurant Gets Go-Ahead For Temporary Expansion

By JANE ARENA

The City License Board Tuesday granted a request from Jon A. Perette of J. Perette, Inc., doing business as Ole Salt Seafoods, 584-598 Washington St., for a license to add a temporary addition to the restaurant premises for a period of 90 days.

Perette told the board he plans to add a structure of concrete, wood and a canvas tent top to the area at the right of the restaurant to accommodate the overflow of evening patrons at the establishment.

Perette said that he has plans to add a permanent atrium-type structure if the temporary structure proves successful. He will have to go before the board at a later date for the permit for that structure.

Robert Talbot, owner of the property at 15 Hershey Place which is next to the restaurant, told the board he is concerned about noise coming from the tent.

Perette said that there will be no entertainment in the tent, but that it will be used only as additional seating for dining. Perette also stressed that the tent will be closed, along with the restaurant, at 9 p.m. Monday through Wednesday and at 10 p.m. on Thursday through Saturday.

Talbot told the board that he also has complaints about odors from the restaurant's dumpster which is located near his property. He said that the dumpster is left open and that it is not emptied during the weekends. Ward 2 Councillor Ted DeCristofaro said he has received complaints that the dumpsters are opened, but none about the odors.

Perette told the board that he is willing to acquire an additional dumpster and to enclose both of them to alleviate the problem.

The board granted the temporary license with the stipulations that Perette provide them with the fire rating of the tent's materials, that the tent section be a no smoking section of the restaurant, and that he get an additional dumpster with an enclosure and that he keep both dumpsters closed.

984 New Quincy Telephone Code

As the population has grown in Quincy, New England Telephone has grown with it by providing the community with a ninth central office code.

Central office codes are the first three numbers of a seven-digit telephone number. In Quincy, according to NEI Public Relations Manager Carolyn McKeon, a new Quincy code - 984 - became effective June 1.

"Quincy has been growing and we must grow with it," said McKeon. "There are only 9,999 possible number combinations in one code. So, when the number of customers here started growing, it was time to expand so that we could continue to offer the best possible service to both our present and future customers."

"We will now begin assigning new telephone numbers with the 984 central office code," McKeon said. "It's just a matter of time before everyone recognizes 984 as a Quincy code in the same way they recognize the more familiar codes."

Existing Central office codes in Quincy are 328, 421, 472, 479, 770, 773, 786 and 847.

HN Legion Presents Student Awards

Houghs Neck American Legion Post student awards were presented during the last school week.

Flag Essay award winners were Amanda Corbin at Atherton Hough School; Jaime Lynn Steinberg at Snug Harbor School; and Adrienne Mackey at Merrymount School.

Twenty-five dollar bonds were presented by Alice Scribner, Post Chairman, to each student, while Merrymount School will retain the trophy for the coming year.

At Broad Meadows Middle School, Commander Carl Barnhill presented medals and citations to William Griffiths and Vera Pepdjonic, outstanding students selected by the student body.

Summerfest '87 Starts July 1

The schedule for Summerfest '87, the summer concert series held Wednesday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Ruth Gordon Amphitheatre in Merrymount Park, is announced by Russell Johnson, vice president of the Quincy South Shore Cultural Commission.

The Boys Choir from Douai, France will open the fifth year of the series on July 1. Since their founding in 1981, the Douai Boys Choir has performed in Europe, North America and North Africa under the direction of P. Cocquell and C. Vasseur.

The choir consists of 60 boys and young adults who tour abroad five times a year and sing 70 concerts each year during school vacations.

Their current tour begins in Quincy and continues to Louisiana with stops at New York, Washington, D.C. and Disneyworld.

In the event of rain, the concert will be held at North Quincy High School.

The concert series is sponsored by the City of Quincy and supported in part by the Massachusetts Arts Lottery as administered by the Quincy Arts Council.

The Quincy Arts Council of Quincy is sponsoring the opening concert.

The commission welcomes donations to fund these programs.

POET N.J. KENNEDY recently spoke to students at a "Meet the Author" workshop at the Thomas Crane Public Library.

'Meet The Author' Workshop At Crane Library

Agnes Snaggletooth and Lucy Wankett were introduced to sixth, seventh and eighth grade students by poet N.J. Kennedy at a "Meet the Author" workshop at the Thomas Crane Public Library recently.

The workshop was funded by the Quincy Arts Council and was designed to provide participants with a first hand experience with a published author.

Kennedy's publications include several volumes of poetry for young people who enjoy his wit and use of language.

During the workshop, Kennedy discussed how he became a poet and how he develops his poetry.

He also guided participants in a creative writing exercise which resulted in imaginative poems about monsters.

A highlight of the workshop was the poet's recitation of his poetry and that of the students.

Fifty-one students from the following schools took part in the workshop: St. Ann, St. Mary and Sacred Heart schools, Atlantic, Broad Meadows, Central, Quincy Point and Sterling middle schools.

Shipbuilding, Tennis Exhibits At Historical Society

Two new exhibits have opened at the Quincy Historical Society.

"Three Centuries of Shipbuilding" traces the development of the shipbuilding industry along the Fore River, where there has been significant shipbuilding activity within a one-mile radius since the 1600's.

Like the granite industry, Quincy shipbuilding was a mainstay of the city's economy and made the city famous worldwide. And like the granite industry, shipbuilding now seems a thing of the past.

The exhibit contains builders' models, photographs, equipment, paintings, and memorabilia to illustrate significant aspects of Quincy shipbuilding.

Beginning with the brigantine William and Mary in 1690 and ending with the Sgt. William R. Button in 1986, Quincy builders constructed hundreds of vessels large and small.

Early in the century local companies built yachts and boats as pleasure craft, but the Bethlehem Steel Company also launched the battleship USS Massachusetts, the aircraft carriers Lexington and Wasp and scores of other fighting ships for the U.S. Navy. The General Dynamics Company continued to build ships for the Navy until last year.

Quincy attracted a number of builders in the 19th century who are still remembered today. Peleg Jones (1802-1879) became renowned for his design of granite sloops that carried the products of Quincy's most famous industry to construction sites along the coast.

John Souther (1781-1878) operated a yard on the Town River after 1815. His son John I. Souther carried on the tradition and also ran a grist mill at the same location.

Thomas A. Watson founded the Fore River Engine Company in 1883 and went on to become president of the Fore River Ship and Engine Company after 1900. It was this company that later was owned by Bethlehem Steel and General Dynamics.

The second exhibit is the "Quincy Tennis Club: 1887-1987" and concerns the oldest tennis club on the South Shore and is believed to be one of the oldest clubs in the nation solely devoted to tennis. On display are trophies, medals, photos and records of the tennis club and most of the items on exhibit have been loaned from the club. Two of Quincy's most famous tennis players are honored, Willard F. Crocker, who was club champion in 1921 and who later moved to Canada and became a Davis Cup player, and John S. Plaffmann, a member of Harvard's championship team in 1915 and who died while in the Army as a result of an aircraft accident in 1918.

Both exhibits will be on display until the end of September.

Atlantic Assn. Plans July 4th Celebration

The Atlantic Neighborhood

Association will hold a July Fourth celebration at the Welcome Young Playground, North Quincy Friday July 3, starting at 10 a.m. with a flag-raising ceremony by Troop 9, Boy Scouts and will continue until 1 p.m.

Contributions to the ANA for the celebration sought.

Quincy Point Jazz Cantata On Sun Ch. 8

The recent children's day service at Quincy Point Congregational Church featuring the performance of "100% Chance of Rain," a jazz cantata for young singers by Walter S. Horsley can be seen Sunday at 5 and 7 p.m. on Sun Channel 8.

Members of the Quincy

Point Congregational Church Sunday School, teachers and music committee assisted. Songs include: "How the Lord Was Unhappy," "The Admirable Admiral," "Follow the Instructions," "At the Sign of the Rainbow" and "Love the Lord."

"100% Chance of Rain" is a jazz cantata with words by Walter Horsley who dedicated it to his daughter who he described as "author of God's rainbows."

The cantata was more than a performance. It provided children, young people and adults the opportunity to work together in Christian fellowship and purpose.

Flag Day Parade Second Showing Thursday

Sun Channel 8 will rebroadcast the Koch Flag Day parade and ceremonies at Veterans Memorial Stadium tonight (Thursday) at 7 p.m. The program is being sponsored by the Granite Cooperative Bank.

WEEK OF: June 25

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

You're renowned for your enormous enthusiasm, your creativity, and the extent of your good intentions. Limiting yourself to just a dozen projects at a time may result in seeing one or two of them through to completion by late 1987. Family relationships, already close, become closer still.

AQUARIUS - January 21 - February 19

Mechanical projects require the hands of a pro - avoid tinkering unless you're on really steady turf. You play an important role in boosting the confidence of a loved one.

PISCES - February 20 - March 20

Personality conflict on the job can be resolved through some ingenuity on your part. More attention to detail is important in financial realm. Travel finds you meeting intriguing individuals.

ARIES - March 21 - April 20

Taurus or Capricorn may be stepping into the friendship picture. Hobbies may prove profitable - but caution remains important. Athletic events are positively spotlighted through the weekend.

TAURUS - April 21 - May 22

Love life accents the intellectual side of the relationship. Up in the air project receives the green light. Travel to new destinations is highlighted during the period.

GEMINI - May 23 - June 21

A mobile week as you find yourself venturing to interesting locales. Hesitant relative becomes more decisive on a family matter. Dealings with teachers / supervisors improve after the weekend.

CANCER - June 22 - July 22

By speaking out on behalf of others, you earn applause from someone you hold in high esteem. Partner is more reliable. Ideas of a Capricorn may influence you.

LEO - July 23 - August 22

If considering a major purchase, it's important to consult with experts. Self-confidence is soaring, you're able to tackle a pet project that you recently put on the back burner.

VIRGO - August 23 - September 22

Simplicity is the key of the week, this is a good time for organizing your desktop, your closets, and your ideas. Prospects for travel are brightening now.

LIBRA - September 23 - October 22

Family is supportive of your plans. Friends seek you out for romance-related advice. Spend time as necessary outlining your week's activities, don't hesitate to delegate tasks.

SCORPIO - October 23 - November 21

Try to dissuade colleague from revealing secrets - it's a responsibility you can do without. Self-discipline is strong, this is a good week to launch a sensible health program.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22 - December 22

Week is crammed with activities that include decorating, designing, and updating your wardrobe. Possible conflict with colleague, in romance, you and partner see eye to eye.

CAPRICORN - December 23 - January 20

Capricorn is providing moral support to family and friends. With one important exception, yours is a supporting role, in financial matters, make sure that you're an active participant.

Keenan Urges Recreation Program At Wollaston School

John F. Keenan, Ward 5 City Council candidate has urged Recreation Director Barry Welch to establish a fall and winter after-school, evening, and Saturday recreation program at the Wollaston School.

Keenan, in a letter to Welch, cited the opening this fall of the school and said that everything possible should be done to re-establish the school as a community focal point. The implementation of the recreation programs would be an important step in accomplishing this, he said.

Keenan, one of seven children, all of whom attended the Wollaston School and participated in the recreation programs, said that the programs in the past served to bring the children of the neighborhoods together and foster a unique sense of community.

"With children from all over the Ward 5 area scheduled to begin classes at the Wollaston School," Keenan wrote, "it is important to bring them together in a social and recreational atmosphere as well as in their academics."

"The opening of Wollaston School is an exciting event and we should be working to guarantee that same excitement each time a student walks through those doors."

After School Care For Montclair School Children

A new program at the Montclair School next September will provide after school Child Care to first through fifth grade students enrolled in the Montclair School.

Any interested parents should call 471-5712 immediately to register.

This pilot program is the result of the efforts of the Task Force which developed from the Mayor's Commission on the Status of Women. Last Fall a Needs Assessment was circulated and an overwhelming need for after school child care was expressed. This Montclair program is the first of the elementary school programs and additional sites are planned for subsequent years.

Quincy After School Day Care, soon to be incorporated, has contracted with the Beechwood Community Life Center to develop this first pilot program. Beechwood has provided quality after school care at Beechwood for three years. Beechwood will handle all registrations, staffing and programming for the Montclair program.

Registration is first come, first serve. Parents should call immediately for information and registration 471-5712.

Quincy Ave. Project Before Planning Board

The Falls project on Quincy Ave. was scheduled to be among the agenda items at a meeting of the Quincy Planning Board last night (Wednesday) at 7 p.m. at City Hall.

Proposed zoning amendments regarding such things as reducing to five stories the height of buildings in Industrial A and B areas were also scheduled to be discussed.
